ROOSEVELT PLAN ENVISIONS ARMY OF MILLION MEN

25% Navy Expansion Also Proposed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—A fully equipped initial protective force of one million men for the army and a 25 per cent increase in the navy is envisioned under the 1 billion 182 million dollar defense expansion program which President Roosevelt presented to a joint session of both houses of congress today.

[The text of the President's defense message and other details of congressional action and reaction on his proposals will be found on pages 6, 7, and 8.]

The largest single item in the program is one of 262 million dollars to provide critical materials for the initial protective force of 750,000 men and 250,000 replacements the army high command desires to have ready for service 90 days after the outbreak of war.

Varied Equipment Included.

This sum would go to provide hundreds of thousands of semi-automatic rifles, machine guns, and artillery. The army would get enough 8 inch railway guns, 240 mm. howitzers, 155 mm. and 105 mm. guns to equip adequately an army of such size. At present the army does not have sufficient modern weapons to arm one of its streamline divisions.

Another 4 million dollars would go for seacoast defenses other than antiaircraft guns. The army's 16 and 14 inch coast defense guns are virtually obsolete and need to be replaced with weapons of the same or slightly smaller caliber.

A large share of a requested appropriation of 100 millions and an authorization for another 100 millions would go for airplanes, antiaircraft guns, and pilot training, as part of the program to build an air defense of 50,000 planes.

President's Motive Sensed.

This 200 million dollars would be expended under direction of the President. It is believed he proposed to have control of the sum in his own hands so that he would be able to see that army acquisition of planes does not interfere with aircraft procurement by the allies.

In this connection the army proposes to step up its pilot training from 2,400 to 7,000 army pilots a year. This includes regular pilots and reserve pilots who would be placed on active duty in the air corps.

It is expected that the air corps will seek to increase as soon as possible the number of its basic, primary and advanced training planes in order to permit the increased pilot training. Other early orders will go for long range bombers, pursuit, and interceptor-pursuit ships.

Millions for Antiaircraft.

The air corps hopes to purchase 200 heavy bombers and spare engines at a cost of between 50 and 80 millions. About 60 million dollars will go to perfect antiaircraft defenses and storing ammunition for these defenses.

The army would spend 44 million dollars on building new government plants to provide equipment. Another 65 million would be spent on purchase of such essential items as trucks, clothes, blankets, and other supplies from private industries.

Approximately $8,700,000 would go for the establishment of an air base in Alaska. At least 10 million dollars would go for educational orders to develop commercial production of essential equipment.

Big Sums for Ammunition.

Large sums would go toward stores of ammunition and dies and jigs for the manufacture of critical equipment.

The only immediate increase contemplated in the army is one of 15,000 men. The present strength of the army is 227,000 men.

The 250 million dollars the President proposed for the navy would permit the navy to proceed with its plan to increase its authorized strength by 25 per cent, or 372,000 tons. The navy presented this plan to congress, but it was cut down to 11 per cent, or 167,000 additional tons, by the house.

Under the 11 per cent increase the

HINT BLITZ ARMY PLANS TO SEIZE RUMANIAN OIL

BULLETIN.

New York, May 17, Friday (AP).—A British news broadcast saying Rumania has decided to cancel all army leaves was heard early today by the National Broadcasting company.

(Map on page 2.)

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 17, Friday (AP).—Germany is pouring thousands of mechanized and motorized "blitz" divisions into the region near the Slovak-Hungarian frontier, with temporary headquarters 140 miles from Rumania, reports from Bratislava said early today.

A stream of troop trains and swift columns was reported moving into eastern Slovakia. Hundreds of war planes were said to be poised at Vienna and Slovak airports.

The troop movements were reported to have begun Monday thru Dresden to the Zistersdorf basin north of Vienna and on to Poprad in eastern Slovakia. It was said the force was so large and so complete that it required three days to pass thru Dresden.

Going to Hungary, Say Officers.

German army officers quartered in Vienna were reported here as saying they had orders to march thru Hungary, but had no idea when they would start.

Military observers linked the concentrations with the reich's need of oil to press her western offensive.

These observers said these troops could rapidly knife thru Hungary to Rumania oil fields if an offensive were determined upon.

Rumanian oil deliveries to the reich, it was pointed out, now are well over 1,000,000 tons in arrears of the quota agreed on by the two countries.

With the consumption of high grade gasoline on the west front averaging 15 gallons an hour for each of the 24 hours by the average German war plane, military sources said, 1,000 planes would use 360,000 gallons daily.

This does not mean, of course, that any war plane could stay in the air for an hour on 15 gallons, but that the spread of consumption thru 24 hours by both bombers, using perhaps 150 gallons, and fighting planes using 60 gallons in each of the few hours a day they are in the air, would work out to 15 gallons an hour.

To get 360,000 gallons daily Germany must transport 8,600 tons of crude daily, or about twice her present quota from Rumania.

Gasoline Needs Cited.

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Indications that Germany's blitz machine may be slowed down or stalled by lack of fuel in event of a prolonged war were found today in gasoline estimates available here.

On any basis of consumption disclosed here, Germany's army is consuming gasoline at a far greater daily rate than it is receiving new supplies.

The most favorable estimate of a government expert was that Germany could produce only 2,980,000 tons of gasoline a year from all sources—controlled territories, Rumania, Russia, and synthetic production. That would amount to 945,000,000 gallons or an average daily inflow of 2,589,000 gallons.

Polish Campaign Recalled.

In the three weeks of the Polish campaign, Germany's land forces alone are estimated reliably to have used 4,675,000 gallons of gasoline a day.

It is estimated that the 100 divisions reported in action on the western front would require 6,670,000 gallons a day, or more than twice Germany's estimated average daily inflow.

None of these figures takes into account the Nazi air force. If 3,000 planes are operating over the western front on an average of six hours each day, it is estimated they burn 1,920,000 gallons of gas a day.

Thus, for both land and air forces, Germany might need 8,590,000 gallons daily—nearly four times as much gasoline as some experts believe she can get over a long period.

Fire Throwing Tanks Destroy French Forts

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16.—Flame throwing tanks that can reduce and disintegrate concrete fortifications with streams of fire 70 yards long apparently are being used by the Germans in their smash at France.

These huge blazing "blitz" machines, it also appears, have been able to smash across the Meuse river and attain [here one word was censored] depths inside French territory. Then the followup elements of the Germans quickly organize these gains into pockets or tiny salients, military observers said today.

Artillery Plays Small Rôle.

French military circles this afternoon would not estimate the depth of the German drive, but today's high command announcement said the German aviation and motorized elements are the chief forces against which the allies have to contend, with the artillery playing only a small part.

The war of movement referred to in the communique presumably means operations are elastic with swift maneuvering, advancing and falling back going on over an extensive area on the left bank of the Meuse between Namur and Sedan.

Germans Dig in at Rear.

Paris military authorities tonight said it was impossible to have any precise idea about the position of the two forces because of these fluctuations, but all admitted the German armored units, especially tanks, have been able to infiltrate between various echelons of allied troops [here three words were censored] and dig themselves into positions in the rear.

The fighting today presumably is to check the advance of the fearful flame throwing tanks [here 12 words were censored]. North of Namur the fighting seems to have been on a minor scale, altho some heavy tank combats are reported raging in the immediate region of Namur.

More Australian Troops Disembark in Near East

LONDON, May 17, Friday (AP).—The war office announced today that "the second contingent of the second Australian imperial force has begun to disembark in Egypt and is proceeding to its specified areas in Palestine."

Experts Analyze Nazi Tactics

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The German general staff apparently has streamlined and modernized an old principle of war—that of turning the flank of an enemy force—in the western front blitzkrieg that has rolled over Holland, enveloped most of Belgium, and pierced deeply into France. Faced with a front without flanks the Germans "turned the flank" by using parachute and air transported troops to jump directly over fortified lines into the rear zones.

This was the conclusion reached yesterday by military experts here who have been studying reports on the German tactics since the Polish onslaught. The tactics were tried out in Poland, polished up in Norway, and now have become the major strategy on the western front.

Favored as Maneuver.

Warfare of maneuver is the German strong point and thruout German history the flanking or encircling attack has been one of the favorite German maneuvers.

The air forces and mechanized ground forces play the major rôles in this new type of war. The air squadrons take the lead both as striking and holding forces. And the dent now made in the Maginot line at Sedan and near Longwy was achieved by using these methods streamlined to 1940 conditions. Dive bombing and heavy horizontal bombing squadrons of the luftwaffe or Nazi air force engaged the main forts, strongholds, and redoubts. And while the front lines flamed with this bombardment the real assault troops slipped past high overhead.

3,000 Flown Behind Lines.

A force ranging in strength between 3,000 and 4,000 men was flown some 10 miles behind the main French lines in several hundred obsolete Junkers transport planes. These planes were Junkers Ju52 trimotored ships, each carrying from 18 to 25 infantrymen of the parachute corps.

At Sedan it is understood that the parachute forces did not jump from the transports until radio reports from the front indicated that German heavy tanks were breaking thru the lines. The parachute force then jumped to the ground, quickly cast aside the parachute harness and formed itself into a compact, highly trained surprise unit that disrupted communications, destroyed supplies, distracted commanders whose attention was at the front, and lowered the morale of troops.

The tanks, moving ahead rapidly without attempting to consolidate the ground they covered, gained contact with the parachute platoons. And while the combined infantry and mechanized forces fought a wild mêlée against astonished, disheartened, and uncomprehending French the transports returned with more troops. This time the infantrymen were landed from the planes in meadows and small fields that were picked out by the parachute forces.

The first purpose of these "flank turners" was to break up all telephonic or telegraphic communication channels, capture divisional headquarters and staffs, destroy supply depots, ambush reënforcements bound for the front, and generally create chaos and confusion. This apparently was precisely what the parachuters achieved behind Sedan, when amazed and disorganized French gave way for 10 miles.

Surprise Element Important.

The German tactics are based on a modern technique that enables them to break down the morale of the enemy by appearing suddenly in his supposedly safe, rear areas. This takes advantage of his unpreparedness, and full advantage of surprise—one of the first military principles. It injects trickery and variation into what had appeared to be a stagnant and inconclusive front of position.

According to dispatches reaching here, the parachute troops have been highly trained. Their parachutes are a special quick opening type which enable the men to make safe drops from planes only 300 feet off the ground.

Lock Cars to 'Chutists

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 16.—Because of the risk that enemy parachutists may attempt to land in this country, the ministry of home security tonight ordered owners to lock up their autos nightly and to remove the ignition keys and plugs to prevent possible use by German raiders.

More government staffs have been warned to prepare for a quick evacuation. So far about 25,000 of the 80,000 civil servants in London have been evacuated.

Schools in all evacuation areas will stay open Saturday so that steps can be taken for the rapid flight of children if it is necessary. The advisability of opening schools also on Sunday is being considered.

ALLIES BOMB MOTOR TROOPS; OUST INVADERS AT LOUVAIN

Hand to Hand Fight Won by British at Brussels' Gate.

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN BELGIUM, May 16 (AP).—Picked British troops assaulted German positions in the eastern edge of Louvain three times today and, by furious hand-to-hand fighting and rifle fire, threw the Germans from the town.

A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch said the British troops were likely to abandon their unprepared positions near Louvain for stronger lines.

It was a fierce day of fighting in the streets of this Belgian town, 16 miles east of Brussels, which was ruined during the last war and whose magnificent library was restored by penny contributions from American school children.

Late in the day the British dug in after hours of combat in which an early German advantage had been overcome by the three British infantry attacks in the city which is called the "gate" to Brussels.

Shells Rip at Both Sides.

Tonight German shells were ripping into British positions at the edge of the town, and British metal was shrieking over its towers at the German artillery.

The action started last night when, after an artillery duel, the Germans attacked behind a skirmish line of armored cars. The first thrust was directed at companies of an Irish regiment holding the strategically situated railroad station.

The Irish infantrymen met the German assault with furious rifle, antitank and machine gun fire, but the Germans carried the important position which commands the city. The Germans immediately began to consolidate their positions.

Counter-Attack at Early Dawn.

The first British counter-attack struck them at early dawn. It was followed by another attack and still another, the last forcing the Germans to retire from a position dearly-won and retreat across the railroad beyond the town.

Officers reported the British troops smashed the German positions as much by superior rifle fire as anything else, altho the Germans evidently had some difficulty in bringing up ammunition.

Their communication lines ran along roads leading to Louvain from the east which were heavily mined and on which the British then laid down a curtain of shells and bombs.

This action, officers said, contributed to the German failure to hold the depot and command the city.

Library Still Standing.

Among the last to leave Louvain were the sisters of the Convent of Pauvre Claire Colletine, who said the library was intact. The sound of battle and the cries of men were "terrible," one of the sisters said.

Despite the heavy shelling and bombing, the center of the city appeared to be almost intact, altho entire blocks in the outskirts were laid waste.

Elsewhere in this sector where the Germans are driving toward Brussels, the British appeared to be holding their positions well. Altho the German air activity was considerable, it was mild compared with other days, probably due to a concentration of German planes around the French Sedan front.

Chinese Claim Japs Suffer 50,000 Casualties in 3 Weeks

CHUNGKING, May 16 (AP).—A Chinese army spokesman estimated today the Japanese had lost 50,000 men killed or wounded in a three week drive in north central China which he said had been broken up completely. Foreign observers here considered this casualty estimate "too optimistic." The spokesman said rainfall bogged down Japanese motorized and mechanized units and enabled the Chinese to utilize their overwhelming man power superiority.

PARIS, May 16 (AP).—Paris tonight was placed under military control as the French war ministry said that allied bombing attacks had pinned down a German onslaught which the French admitted had penetrated deep into France in the Sedan sector.

Reports that the Germans had driven as far as Rheims or Laon, however, were branded as "fantastic." Rheims is 50 miles and Laon 60 miles southwest of Sedan. There was no suggestion of how far the Germans actually had penetrated.

The decree extending the army zone to Paris meant that control of the French capital had been transferred from civilian to military authorities. There was no explanation of the sudden decree.

Attack Armored Columns.

The French communique said:

"The battle continues with the same importance. Very spirited engagements have taken place at certain points.

"Our bombardment aviation, protected by pursuit planes, effected with success attacks executed vigorously against enemy armored columns detected by our scouting aviation."

[The lack of detail in the French communique and the absence of bold German claims was typical of the reticence which both sides were practicing in describing the war on the western front. The French were wielding a vigorous censorship over all dispatches. Both sides seemed intent upon shrouding the progress of the battle in mystery, a condition that inspired countless and wild rumors, particularly in France, as to what really was happening in the struggle.]

Big Air Attacks.

The principal battlefield was reported by the war ministry to be the west bank of the Meuse river northwest of Sedan, where German tanks yesterday penetrated the French pillbox line.

Allied warplanes fought terrific battles to stop the lightning German thrust, and according to the war ministry spokesman, had pinned it down. The German offensive was not definitely checked, but the French were confident that, with the aid of air power, they quickly could repair their lines.

The general in immediate command of the sector north of Sedan where the Germans broke thru reported to general headquarters the French were "masters of the situation" and would regain complete control of their front within a week.

Ground Fighting Abates.

Ground fighting was reported dwindling in violence tonight after two days of severe shocks. The Germans appeared to be holding back their spearheads to wait for antiaircraft batteries and supporting forces to come up before resuming the daring dashes which proved so successful in their invasion of Poland, Norway, and the Netherlands.

German aviation intervened to protect the motorized land columns and was reported suffering heavy losses. One French pilot was reported to have brought down seven German planes alone in two days.

Germans Repulsed in North.

On the northern extension of the Meuse line from Namur, Belgium, thru Gembloux, just east of Louvain and thence northwest to Antwerp—a line shielding both Brussels and the channel ports of Belgium—fighting also was general. North of Namur German attacks were reported repulsed.

On the line to the southeast of Sedan, thru Montmedy, Longwy and along the Franco-German frontier to the Vosges mountains, the principal action was described as artillery duels between opposing fortifications.

The French said the Germans south of Sedan had failed to deepen the pocket they drove into the French lines two days ago. The fortifications around Sedan are not those of the Maginot line, but a series of lesser defense works which extend the Maginot line from the Moselle district northwest to the North sea.

Air raid sirens and the thud of bombs were heard over France. One of several enemy scouting planes was shot down in the Paris area. Several buildings in Arras, 100 miles north of Paris, were destroyed by bombs.

Nancy, south of Sedan, was raided, with an undetermined number of dead and wounded.

Rumors Flood Paris.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16.—This capital city lived thru anxious and anguished moments today as everyone seemed to feel that the great battle along the Meuse river was surging to its zenith. People snatched up every edition of the newspapers and remained by their radios in an effort to obtain news.

But real news was lacking, and as a result, the populace was a prey to all sorts of rumors. The wildest kinds of stories were spread about the advance of the Germans [here three words were censored] and about evacuation plans.

Anxiety prevailed [eight words censored] on whether America would [four words censored] find some way to rush warplanes and pilots to France. Fear that the Germans might invade Switzerland to turn the eastern end of the Maginot line was noticeable.

HITLER STATIONS HONOR GUARD AT KAISER'S REFUGE

BERLIN, May 16.—A guard of honor has been stationed on the premises of the former kaiser at Doorn on Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's order. The guard will remain at the ex-kaiser's refuge until normal relations between Germany and the Netherlands are restored.

Several days ago, when a company of German infantry arrived at the former kaiser's residence, it lined up at attention while the lieutenant reported the purpose of its presence. The ex-kaiser, evidently gratified, reviewed the honor guard and chatted informally with the men. The company then marched off, leaving behind two troopers as a guard of honor.

The installation of such a guard, it was said, does not conflict with the former emperor's status as a guest of the Netherlands.

100,000 TON LOSS CAUSED TO FOE'S SHIPS, NAZI CLAIM

BERLIN, May 16 (AP).—Authorized German quarters tonight estimated enemy sea losses yesterday at between 90,000 and 100,000 tons of warships, transports, and auxiliary vessels.

Of this amount, they said, 55,000 tons were ships sunk and the remainder badly damaged or set afire. In addition to two destroyers and three others mentioned in a communique as sunk, DNB, the official news agency, reported one submarine sunk in the North Sea, and a 32,000 ton transport and another of 15,000 tons sunk off the Dutch coast.

One destroyer and one 5,400 ton supply ship were said to have been damaged off Narvik and one 18,000 ton transport and one 1,500 ton auxiliary set afire.

BRITISH FLYING ACE IS BELIEVED NAZI PRISONER

LONDON, May 17, Friday (AP).—Britain's air ace, Squadron Leader K. C. Doran, who led the raid on the Kiel canal the second day of the war, was believed today to be a prisoner of the Germans.

The German radio, broadcasting a list of British airmen shot down in raids over Norway and Aalborg in Denmark, mentioned "Squadron Leader Dovan." It was believed the announcer meant Doran as there is no royal air force officer named Dovan.

Doran, 26 years old, first officer to win the distinguished flying cross and bar in this war, was posted as missing April 30 following raids on German air bases in Norway and Denmark.

Baptists Join Protest Against Vatican Envoy

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 16 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Baptist association, claiming to represent 20,000 Baptists, protested in a resolution today the appointment of Myron C. Taylor as President Roosevelt's special representative to the Vatican. The resolution declared the appointment was "repugnant to the principles upon which our nation is founded and upon which its preservation depends." Taylor, former chairman of the United States Steel corporation, was named to the post last December.

FRANCE IN PERIL, REYNAUD WARNS; ASKS NEW SPIRIT

Hints at Changes of Men and Methods.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16.—Premier Paul Reynaud told the chamber of deputies in a 10 minute session today of France's peril as German armies hammered at its northern defenses and said it might be necessary to change men and methods to achieve victory.

Premier Reynaud.

Reynaud said that death would be the punishment for any one found derelict in his duty.

"Our lives count for nothing," he said. "One thing alone counts, preserve France."

He called on the country to "forge a new spirit" and warned of "revolutionary" changes to come.

Deputies Cheer.

"When all can seem lost," he said, "the world will see of what France is capable."

His assertions brought loud applause from the deputies. It was presumed that the reference to changes in men referred to military leaders and the application of the death penalty to any fifth column elements.

"We must no longer be satisfied with words and vague hopes," he told the deputies. "Our soldiers are battling and French blood is flowing. The days which we are going to live thru in the future will perhaps have nothing in common with those thru which we have been living.

"Against us Germany has unleashed all its forces of destruction. All the tanks and warplanes accumulated methodically over so many years, thanks to privations of the German people and with the fixed idea of the German leader, we now have before us engaged in a war to destroy France and dominate the world.

Meet Peril United.

"Hitler wants to win the war in two months. If he fails, he is condemned, and he knows it. That's why, after having for so long hesitated and after having said he would let the war come to a head, he now takes risks. We know perfectly our peril. We know that the weeks and months to come will forge centuries of the future. We meet the peril united."

After the chamber adjourned, a meeting of the war committee of the cabinet was held at Elysee palace with President Albert Lebrun. Earlier in the day, Reynaud had convened an important emergency conference in his office. Edouard Daladier, minister of national defense and war; Henri Roy, minister of the interior; Anatole de Monzie, minister of public works, and Vice Premier Camille Chautemps attended. Other officials were called in later.

German Threat Against Rumania

German troops were reported from Bratislava to be concentrated near the Hungarian border. The arrows indicate drives Germany might make to get to Rumania, where rich oil fields give promise of needed supplies for the Nazi army.

ITALY WILL JOIN AT ANY MOMENT, GERMANS ASSERT

Call Hitler 'Napoleon of This Century.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 16.—The "Napoleon of this century is the director of the Germany army," was the boast one could hear frequently in Berlin today.

Germans asserted that on top of Germany's huge air force—trained in battle by the campaigns in Spain, Poland, and Norway—and her war machine—directed by a general staff superior to any Germany ever had — Germany finds her position strengthened by her ally, Italy.

"Italy may strike at a moment's notice. This is bound to increase the nervousness in the English and French high command, and help undermine the morale in those democratic countries," Germans and Italians both declared.

Statements Seen as Lure.

The insistence of official Nazi spokesmen that "a decisive battle will be fought on the Dyle river line running approximately from Antwerp to Namur is taken by many here as an effort to detract attention from other points where the Germans hope to advance after luring British and French forces into the battlegrounds of Flanders around Waterloo.

They state this battle around the Dyle line could "become a new battle of annihilation" such as they fought in Poland.

It is asserted that German lines of communication thru southern Belgium are in excellent condition. This is important for the German forces massed opposite the Dyle line. Germans declare it will be only a short time until the numerous divisions which swept over Holland will be surrounding Antwerp and rushing to the help of the German troops on the Dyle and Meuse river lines.

Hitler Looks for Weak Spots.

Thruout his career, Fuehrer Adolf Hitler has watched closely for weak spots in his enemies' armor and made use of them. In wartime his tactics do not change. His troops, fighting in Belgium, in the Sedan sector of France, and in the Saar, are trying to find the weak link in the French fortifications thru which they can break.

The advance thru Sedan is of paramount importance to the Germans. If they can continue to forge ahead they feel certain that their ally, Premier Benito Mussolini, will throw whatever weight he has into the balance. If the push thru the Sedan sector succeeds, the Germans can start a pincer movement in the rear of the Maginot line.

Prominent Italians in Berlin, when talking of their parts in the coming campaign, assert that they "won't be satisfied with merely carrying on a defensive war on France's southern border," but that they will "carry on an energetic offensive in an unexpected direction."

The German radio and press again warned the German public to observe the blackout most rigorously because "light is the best target for bombers."

FIGHTING AT LOUVAIN RECALLS 1914 DEEDS OF BELGIAN CARDINAL

Fighting once again at Louvain revived memories today of one of the Belgian heroes of the German occupation in 1914—Cardinal Desideratus Mercier.

It was in connection with the burning of Louvain that the cardinal issued his famous pastoral letter, "Patriotism and Endurance," in which he protested vehemently, and declared the Belgians owed neither "respect nor allegiance" to German authority. Thruout the German occupation he remained a thorn in the side of the German governor general, criticizing his decrees and declaring confidence in ultimate Belgian freedom.

FRANCE TO GIVE MOSLEM TROOPS OWN CHAPLAINS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16. — Mohammedan chaplains for French troops of the Moslem faith are provided for in a decree to be published in the Journal Officiel, government organ, tomorrow. At present France has Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish chaplains in her army, but this is the first time that Mohammedan soldiers on French soil will have their own chaplains.

Fifteen Imans recruited in Algeria, Tunisia, and Morocco have been chosen by the ministry of national defense for service with Mohammedan troops in France. They will wear no uniform, and no rank will be assigned them.

Among their tasks will be visiting with Moslem soldiers, bringing them moral and religious comfort, also helping medical officers.

King George Sets May 26 as Day of National Prayer

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—King George VI. asked Britain today to make May 26 a day of "national prayer on behalf of the nation and empire, their allies, and of the cause in which they are united."

AMERICANS MAKE HASTY PLANS TO FLEE FROM ITALY

Consuls Told to Prepare to Destroy Codes.

ROME, May 17 (AP).—A reliable source today disclosed that American consular officers in Italy have been ordered to prepare to destroy their codes at a moment's notice in case of emergency.

This information came only a few hours after Americans in Italy had been told by United States consulates to return home "at the earliest possible moment." Early today Americans in Rome made hasty preparations to leave as American diplomatic officials themselves prepared to send their families home, but only as a precautionary measure, it was explained.

Other Foreigners Ready.

Many foreigners of other nationalities also packed their belongings to join the exodus. A long line of applicants for visas stood before the French consulate and the British consulate also was the scene of great activity yesterday.

Italian and American authorities maintained stony silence on the personal message from President Roosevelt to Premier Mussolini in an apparent new effort to keep Italy out of the war.

Foreign circles assumed that since the message was described in Washington as "in the interests of peace" Mr. Roosevelt told Il Duce again of the United States' desire that the conflict not be spread to other parts of Europe.

Fears Grow in the Balkans.

With reports of growing fears in the Balkans, particularly in Greece and Jugo-Slavia, and rumors of possible action there, concrete signs still were lacking of any Italian intention to profit from the fierce warfare in the west and undertake any military adventure at this time.

Mussolini, receiving Fascist leaders from along the German frontier, told them of the duties of the people "in this particular moment."

Among many rumors, mostly discredited, was one that Il Duce and Adolf Hitler would meet again soon in the Brenner pass, scene of the conference between the axis partners March 18.

Rumanian's Hitler 'Is a Pig' Sales Talk Lands Him in Jail

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 16.—Alcalay's, one of Bucharest's largest bookshops, was closed by police today because a sheet of paper placed in a typewriter displayed in the window carried the sentence, "I can't bear Hitler. He is a pig." It had been written by a salesman during a demonstration to a prospective buyer. The salesman was arrested. The owner of the shop was taken to the police station.

SWISS AIRMEN DOWN GERMAN BOMBING PLANE

Frontier Along Rhine Closed to Traffic.

ZURICH, Switzerland, May 16 (AP).—Emphasizing with machine gun fire the Swiss determination to keep their territory inviolate, a Swiss fighting plane this afternoon shot down a German bomber which strayed across the line. One member of the German crew was wounded.

The incident highlighted steadily growing tension which today caused Swiss and Germans to close their frontier along the Rhine.

The Swiss plane machine gunned the bomber and forced it to land in a field northeast of Zurich. The two uninjured members of the crew burned their plane and surrendered.

Freight Traffic Halted.

Even rail freight traffic was halted by closing the border from Basel to Lake Constance. The Rome-Berlin express was rerouted thru the old Austrian frontier at Saint Margrethen.

In recent days German divisions concentrated south of the frontier have increased. Heavy artillery has rolled up behind them, and German engineers have been practicing building pontoon bridges across the Rhine.

In Geneva the league of nations began closing its offices as the decision was announced for removal to Vichy, France, in event of invasion of Switzerland. Only 69 of the league's 329 employés were sure they would go to the new headquarters should Switzerland be drawn into the war.

Choice for Employés.

Secretary General Joseph A. C. Avenol at a meeting of the staff this afternoon gave 205 officials and employés the choice of handing in their resignations tomorrow or agreeing to suspension of their contracts at any time when he should declare a state of emergency.

The American built Rockefeller library, a wing of the league palace, already is closed and valuable books and records are being packed and sent to France.

John G. Winant director of the international labor office, offered a novel plan for removal of personnel. He said that in the event of invasion his staff would all pack knapsacks and start hiking to the French frontier.

REFUGEES ON BRITISH SHIP BOMBED BY NAZIS AT BELGIAN HARBOR

LONDON, May 17, Friday (AP).—Refugees arriving in a British port early today from Belgium related that German warplanes bombed and machine gunned their ship in a Belgian port.

The refugees — nearly all British subjects who had been living in Belgium — said there were no casualties altho at least two heavy bombs fell on the quay alongside their vessel.

"We all remained below decks during the attack, made on our ship at nightfall Wednesday," one refugee said. "It was a terrifying ordeal, but there was no panic. We were transferred to another ship Thursday before leaving for England."

U. OF C. FACULTY DIVIDES IN POLL ON JOINING WAR

Faculty members at the University of Chicago who responded in a poll conducted by the Daily Maroon, campus newspaper, were nearly equally divided on the question of whether the United States should enter the European war if the allies are in danger of defeat. The results of the poll, made public last night, showed 98 faculty members favoring such intervention while 105 were against it. On the question of whether this country should join the war actively at once, 39 said yes and 169 said no. The vote on increasing this country's armament was 198 for and 11 against. If the United States is attacked, 207 of the faculty members said they would fight while 5 said they would not.

BATTLES RAGING ON 3 FRONTS IN 7TH DAY OF DRIVE

Long Range Guns Fire Shells Across Rhine.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 16.—Three great battles were raging tonight, a week after Adolph Hitler's "blitzkrieg" on the western front began.

1. On the plains of Brabant [at Louvain, east of Brussels, and along the Dyle river line] strong French, British, and Belgian forces are trying to halt the German assault divisions which are aiming directly for the coast of Flanders, opposite England.

2. Farther south, the "battle of the Meuse" is raging along a front 50 miles long from Namur, the Belgian fortress city, to Sedan, northern France.

3. In the Saar region of the Rhine-Moselle front, German forces were claimed to have penetrated the forward works of the Maginot line. The high command said "we advanced our positions west of Saarlautern and also near Lauterburg."

Shell Town of Rastatt.

The Germans admitted that French heavy artillery has been shelling the town of Rastatt, west of Stuttgart and near the Rhine. German official maps show that Rastatt is in the middle of the wide belt of the Siegfried line, but Nazis asserted that it is an "open town" and not a military objective.

As a reprisal, Germany's heavy anti-aircraft guns have been shelling the French city of Hagenau, 16 miles north of Strasbourg and near the Rhine. In the campaigns in Spain and Poland, German gunners developed the technique of using heavy anti-aircraft guns to shell ground objectives.

[For various periods over centuries Rastatt has been a fortified and garrison town. During the world war it was a strategic army center with an entire division stationed there. Demilitarized under the Versailles treaty, the Germans were said to have refortified it in 1936 after the remilitarization of the Rhineland. Hagenau is within the deep belt of the Maginot line fortifications.]

Rastatt has 14,000 inhabitants and Hagenau 13.500. No information was given on the casualties or material damage suffered in Rastatt.

Claim Longwy Occupied.

The German press reported that the German flag waved from the citadel of Longwy, France, and that the city had been occupied—but there was no confirmation from German headquarters.

[The French denied that Longwy had been taken.]

Longwy is in the northeastern corner of France, near the junction of the French, Belgian, and Luxemburg frontiers, and about 40 miles southeast of Sedan. It is on the northern end of the Maginot line, where it gives way to the "little Maginot line" facing Belgium.

Belgians Still Hold Namur.

Namur, however, has been flanked by German troops both on the north and south. The fact that Brussels is practically included in the allied defense lines, is regarded here as weakening their positions.

In the battle of the Meuse the Germans reported further advances of German divisions on the western side of the river. It was claimed that French tank units again were defeated in this sector.

South of Sedan, where the Germans claim to have pierced the French lines of fortifications, French tanks of the heaviest type were reported to have made counterattacks. These, the Germans claimed, were repelled and a number of the tanks destroyed. The bulky land battleships were said to be ideal targets for the German Stukas [dive bombers].

In the Saar sector it was believed that the gains claimed in the Saarlautern and Lauterburg sectors "will not be without significance in the future."

German reports leave no doubt that in general the morale of the French troops is good. But, subjected to repeated attacks of the German dive bombers in other campaigns, the morale of even the best troops has been undermined. Experience has shown, the Germans declare, that troops hammered in such a manner never get accustomed to the strafing, and finally their morale breaks down.

The German high command said the air force destroyed another 98 allied planes yesterday—46 in air combat, 2 by antiaircraft guns, and the rest on the ground by bombing attacks.

Say Foe's Air Fleet Weakens.

The fact that only two allied planes were reported shot down by antiaircraft guns was seen here as an indication that the allied air fleets have been reduced to such an extent that no planes are available for attacks behind the German lines.

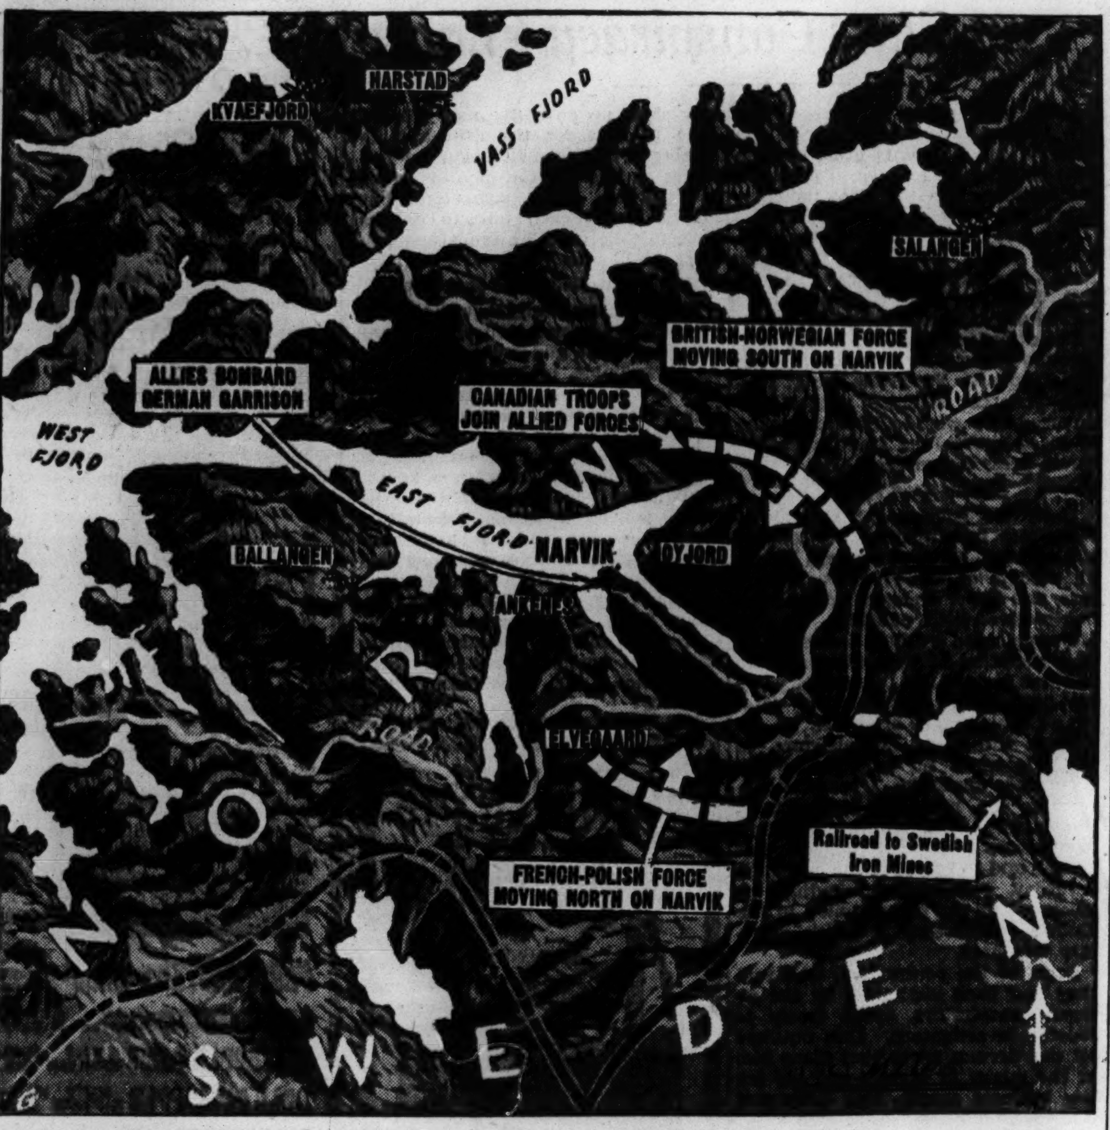
The official communique said:

"Last night again enemy airplanes made flights over western Germany. They dropped aimlessly a number of bombs, causing immaterial damage but killing and injuring a number of civilians. Military objectives neither were raided nor hit."

Planes Bomb German Town.

STOCKHOLM, May 16 (AP).—A German radio report picked up here quoted the Westdeutsche Beobachter as saying "enemy planes" appeared over Cologne last night and dropped bombs. The paper was quoted as saying the majority of bombs fell outside the urban area in an open field, but that one man was killed and another wounded.

Allied Drives on Important Norwegian Ore Port



Topographical map of Narvik, Norwegian iron ore port held by the Germans, and surrounding country. The allies claim gains by forces moving on city from north and south, but the Germans claim to have repulsed attacks.

Tanks in Action

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 16 (AP).—The struggle for possession of Narvik, Norway's Arctic iron ore port, appeared tonight to be intensifying with the allies reported to be getting light tanks into action and gradually winning the upper hand.

Some Swedish press reports said an allied occupation of German held Narvik itself might be expected soon. They said the German garrison had been subjected to a prolonged, heavy bombardment.

Newly arrived Canadian troops were said to have joined the allied forces. Heavy German convoy movements south from Norway toward Denmark were reported from the west coast Swedish port of Goteborg. Whether they were transports or supply ships was not known.

Berlin Says Attacks Repulsed.

BERLIN, May 16 (AP).—The German contingent holding Narvik "again repulsed attacks with heavy losses" for the allies, the German high command reported today. The German contingent, it was said, "strengthened far advanced outposts in the region north of Narvik."

Churchill Hails Fleet as He Gives Up Its Direct Control

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, relinquishing direct control of naval affairs, today thanked all officers and men of the British fleet for their accomplishments in the first eight months of war. Of the new first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, Churchill said, "I leave you in good hands both afloat and ashore."

EXPLAIN MOVE WHICH PUT PARIS IN ARMY ZONE

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The French decree extending the army zone to include Paris was viewed by military authorities here tonight as an administrative move to give army needs a clear right of way over civilian requirements during the crucial western front struggle.

It was not viewed as necessarily an indication that the French government considered the capital to be imperiled by the German drive. Describing the action as "natural and expected," allied official sources explained that hitherto Paris had been left out of the army zone because of its importance as a metropolitan area and manufacturing center. For administrative purposes it was a corps area in itself.

IDLE WOMEN ARE TRAITORS; THAT'S VIEW IN GERMANY

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 16.—Any idle woman who fails to go to work for the sake of the fatherland "commits high treason against her husband fighting at the front," Joseph Buerckel, governor of the district of Vienna, declared today in a proclamation calling on all women "to collaborate on the inner front."

A similar appeal was issued by the women's organization in the magazine, Women at Work.

Women who have not held jobs—wives or daughters of party leaders, officials and officers—are being requested by the Nazi party to take jobs "unless they can prove that the work they are doing fills their day completely with important tasks."

Need More Workers.

The magazine declares that Germany, needing additional workers, now is turning to the women "whose activities heretofore were merely concerned with their personal well being and not that of the community. Necessities of war have taken precedence over the needs of personal comfort."

The magazine says "the present campaign for more workers is part of the general struggle for German freedom and living space. No woman has the right to object for the sake of her own well being while soldiers are dying for her."

Trained Stenographers.

The labor ministry has instructed labor officers to try to increase the number of trained stenographers. Sales girls who lose their jobs because stores are closing for want of material to sell are being employed partly as workers in factories and partly as stenographers.

BOMBS HIT NAZI CAMP IN BIGGEST BRITISH AIR RAID

Two Mile Column Struck; Over 150 Planes Used.

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—The air ministry today said British flyers had waged "the heaviest attack yet made by the Royal Air Force during the war" east of the Rhine river thruout last night.

The air offensive apparently was a follow-up of an attack yesterday by 150 Allied planes which helped stem the German drive in the Meuse-Sedan sector.

The second wave of bombardments, the minister said, was against "the enemy's road and rail communications which are supporting his forces in their invasion of the Low Countries and Luxemburg. . . . Many tons of bombs were released. . . . Fires broke out and heavy explosions were caused."

Among the targets hit, it said, were German highways, railroads, a military encampment and a two mile long motorized column.

Claim 3 to 1 Edge in Air.

It said 50 German planes were destroyed today and that in two mass flights the British had lost only three, one during the night attack and two in the day.

The air ministry claimed the "toll inflicted on enemy aircraft is working out at more than three to one in our favor" on the western front.

Allied military sources said the heaviest fighting in the momentous battle of the Meuse was between Dinant, Belgium, and the French city of Sedan, where the situation admittedly was serious "but not critical."

They said the Germans had failed to enlarge their "dent" in the French fortifications at Sedan and were held by the allies east of that point.

Claim Liege, Namur Holding Out.

Liege and Namur, Belgian anchors of the allied Meuse line, admittedly were isolated but a British military commentator said they still were holding out. Sporadic fighting was reported along the U-shaped front east of the Belgian port of Antwerp thru Charleroi and Louvain, south to the French town of Mezieres and from Sedan to Longwy.

The meager reports also said fighting in the vicinity of Walcheren and Beverland, in the unsurrendered northern Dutch province of Zeeland, was "heavy."

Brussels radio broadcasts reflected optimism. King Leopold III. of Belgium called by radio to his men in "the forts of Liege" to "resist to the utmost for the Fatherland."

A broadcaster admitted German mechanized columns had broken thru "to a considerable depth" at several Belgian points, but declared German infantry, "closely held" by the allies, had not supported the mechanized columns.

Wounded, both German and British, began reaching England.

Between 30 and 40 wounded German prisoners were brought to London today and 200 to 300 British casualties reached Liverpool from France and Norway.

U. S. FAMILIES FLEEING EUROPE HALTED IN GENEVA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 16.—Wives and children of a number of Americans who left Germany within the last 24 hours are stranded in Geneva and other Swiss cities and are meeting with visa difficulties in their attempt to reach Genoa, Italy, or Bordeaux, France, to sail for home.

The anxiety of the group in Geneva was increased because American consuls there shipped out their families within the last 48 hours and did not warn other Geneva residents.

ISSUE WARNING TO AMERICANS TO QUIT ENGLAND

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Americans in the British Isles, which are facing the threat of wholesale German aerial bombings, have been warned to go to Ireland. The state department, announcing this today, added that government officials here "will consider the possibility of sending to the west coast of Ireland a vessel for use of those desiring to return to the United States."

There are more than 7,000 Americans in Great Britain and northern Ireland, according to state department figures. The state department's decision represented a change in the arrangements announced yesterday for the concentration of Americans for embarkation at Bordeaux, France, or in Spain or Portugal, because of insufficient passenger service from England to France.

Ireland is in the ocean danger zone closed to American ships, but the state department can permit a ship to proceed thru the area to remove refugee citizens.

PAINTERS CHANGE LINER NORMANDIE INTO GRAY GHOST

New York, May 16 (AP).—Painters today were making another gray ghost of the once colorful French liner Normandie, one of the largest ships afloat. They were daubing the camouflage over the superstructure of the 83,422 ton liner, which French Line officials previously have said would be tied up in the safety of New York harbor "for the duration of the war."

The French Line said it was not the intention to paint the entire vessel gray, and that the painters were merely doing "protective" painting against the weather.

Other giant liners, including the British Queen Mary and the French Ile de France, were painted gray just before they left for transport service. The Normandie, one of the fastest ships afloat, entered the trans-Atlantic passenger service in 1935.

Steel Workers Oppose U. S. Meddling in War

A resolution opposing America's intervention in any foreign war was adopted yesterday at the international convention of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, in the Morrison hotel. The delegates also went on record to defend the United States against foreign invasion and to support the government in any emergency.

NAZI BOMBS HALT ANNE MORGAN'S RESCUE SERVICE

One Car Captured; Driver Is Missing.

PARIS, May 16 (AP).—Miss Anne Morgan, 66 years old, sister of J. P. Morgan, unscathed by heavy German air attacks which forced her and her co-workers in the Friends of France committee to suspend their aid to war stricken civilians, was reported tonight on her way back to Paris.

Miss Morgan reported to Paris by telephone that neither she nor any of her unit was hurt, but that one ambulance of the American volunteer organization coöperating with her service had been captured by the Germans with its wounded occupants.

American Driver Missing.

Another American ambulance driver, Lawrence A. Jump of [Seameadows] Nantucket, Mass., who was attached to the French army, was reported missing after his vehicle had been shelled by German artillery.

It was not known whether Jump had been killed, wounded, or taken prisoner. His ambulance, reported heavily shelled in the Sarreguemines sector of the western front several days ago, was in flames when last seen by a French officer.

Charles Willen of New York City, another driver, said he counted more than 50 shrapnel holes in his wrecked ambulance. Three other ambulances hit by shells were driven by Paul Willis of Albuquerque, N. M.; Thomas Esten of Stoughton, Mass., and Jack Calhoun, an American resident of Paris.

Repeatedly Attacked.

Miss Morgan's committee advised its Paris headquarters that the unit had been bombed repeatedly while removing civilians from the northern French Ardennes department. Its 10 ambulances and 20 automobiles were forced to take cover in woods to escape Nazi air attacks, she said.

Eight new drivers arrived in Paris from the United States today preparatory to going on active duty.

Miss Morgan helped the needy during the world war with her American Committee for Devastated France and, shortly after the outbreak of the current conflict, she announced the creation of the American Friends of France for the same work.

U. S. Cemetery Bombed.

The battle monuments commission supervising American world war cemeteries in France, meanwhile, ordered its civilian personnel to leave areas threatened by German bombings. French officials said the American Meuse-Argonne cemetery at Romagne was bombed yesterday. American authorities said they had no information about it.

The cemetery, the largest American world war cemetery in Europe, covers 126 acres and has nearly 15,000 graves.

U. S. Corps Wrecked.

New York, May 16 (AP).—An American volunteer ambulance corps in France was claimed by its sponsors today to have been partially destroyed by a "deliberate" German air attack.

James Wood Johnson, head of the corps, said he was so informed by the corps leader in Paris, Dr. James V. Sparks.

According to the report four ambulances were damaged by gunfire from a German airplane, but all drivers were uninjured. They were attached to the Gen. Pershing unit, operating near Luxemburg.

U. S. Will Seek Early Hearing on Glass Conspiracy Charge

Early arraignment of George Meyers, business agent and boss of the Glaziers' union, and 14 other defendants indicted for an alleged price fixing conspiracy in the glass industry, is planned by federal prosecutors.

The indictment, which charged collection of at least $100,000 tribute from glass contractors, was returned last Friday. The six individuals named are at liberty on bonds. Seven corporations, the union, and a contractors' association complete the list of defendants. Yesterday Leo F. Tierney, assistant attorney general, announced they would all be summoned to plead about June 1 and added he would press for an early trial.

Affairs Kept Quiet.

Until the government started its conspiracy investigation, the conduct of the union, listed as Glaziers No. 27, an affiliate of the Painters, Decorators, and Paper Hangers of America, had received little publicity. In 1928 Meyers pleaded guilty in federal court to a violation of the antitrust laws and was fined $5,000. In recent years the organization has operated without attracting much attention.

From the union headquarters, so far this week, no information has been made available. Questions concerning the numbers of members, wages, dues, and working arrangements were referred to Meyers. But he was said to be out of the city until Saturday. Neither could anything be given out by the parent union in the absence of Clarence E. Swick, secretary treasurer.

Some of the contractors, who said they had been victimized by the alleged conspirators, spoke freely to federal investigators. One outlined all the circumstances that place him at the mercy of Meyers and his fellow business agents, Max Glass and Charles Pfeiffer.

Tells Fears of Small Firms.

"About 30 glass contractors are doing business in Chicago," he told the government. "Five are big enough to get fair working arrangements from the union. The rest are small and have to take what they can get.

"The union has about 500 members, and the initiation fee is anything from $500 to $1,500. Dues are $25 every three months, pretty big when you consider that the men work only two days a week at $13.60 a day. When a member dies, each man in the union is assessed $5 for a death benefit.

"In order to get men for our jobs we have to pay the union business agents $1.50 a day per man. That's on top of the regular union scale and is a deal the contractor must make to get men. I don't know what the business agents do with it, but they keep strict account and demand the payment every three weeks.

"Each day, in the afternoon, we let the union know how many men we need the next day. We never know what kind of men we'll get. If four show up on a five man job we have to wait for the fifth and do nothing in the meanwhile, but pay full wages to five for the day. Most of the workers aren't competent, but Meyers won't even talk to us—we have to take what he sends and pay what he dictates."

Bids Controled, Says Employer.

The informant said that the union boss also told small contractors what jobs they could and could not bid on. As an example, he said, he was unable to get any work on schools; his bids would be thrown out or labor refused him if he did bid.

In the indictment it was alleged that the defendant contractors kept a fixed price schedule and that the union policed their agreements, enriching Meyers and his associates. The defendant corporations are Hooker Glass and Paint Manufacturing company; Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, Tyler & Hippach, Inc., Hamilton Glass company, Industrial Glass and Paint company, National Glass corporation, and Torstenson Glass company.

GRAND JURY SEES SCALISE'S $17.20 BREAKFAST CHECK

Finds Union Cash Bought His Napoleon Brandy.

Nothing was too good for George Scalise, the ex-convict pander, when business brought him from New York City to the Chicago headquarters of the Building Service Employés' International union, before his dethronement as international president.

The swarthy associate of Capone gangsters lived at the best hotels, occupying their choicest suites. Nothing but the most expensive food and liquor passed his lips. He topped off breakfast with a bottle of Napoleon brandy and scattered tips with bandon.

Workers Paid the Bill.

And the bill for these gilded junkets was met with tribute from the 70,000 scrubwomen, window washers, porters, elevator operators, and janitors who make up the membership of the Building Service Employés' union.

These facts, it was learned yesterday, have been disclosed to the Cook county grand jury which is investigating financial records of the union. The jury, while seeking to discover if Scalise made illegal use of the union's funds, found that during the last three years he withdrew more than $1,500,000 from the treasury on his own order.

Hotel Bills Bare High Life.

Disclosure of the Scalise mode of high living was made in an examination of bills from the Drake, Blackstone, Congress, and Bismarck hotels where Scalise stayed during the last three years. The bills were obtained by grand jury subpena and were turned over to Assistant State's Attorneys William Crawford and Francis McCurrie.

On March 1, 1938, while a guest at the Bismarck hotel, Scalise ran up a bill of $69.98 for food and liquor alone. The total, it was learned, included tips of $5 each to the waiter captain and the wine steward and $10 to the waiter. On the check were several single items of $5 and $6 for liquor and wine.

During that same visit, the bills disclosed, Scalise sat down to a 10 o'clock breakfast of grape fruit, poached eggs, and a cup of tea. The cost was 90 cents, but the total bill amounted to $17.20. Scalise, to start off his day right, had imbibed from a $15.80 bottle of Napoleon brandy, and had tipped the waiter 50 cents.

Bill Totals $1,052.

From August, 1937, to August, 1938, Scalise's total bill at the Bismarck amounted to $1,052. It was paid for with funds from the union treasury.

At the Blackstone hotel Scalise found it easy to run up a bill of $238.94 while occupying an $18 a day room for three days in September, 1939. In the same month another four day jaunt there cost his union $239.49. For the full 21 days that Scalise stopped off and on at the Blackstone, from Sept. 9, 1939 to last April 6, the union workers paid out $1,029.

Scalise's bill at the Drake hotel, according to the subpenaed records, came to $752.90. This was for the period from March 9 to April 11 of this year. His bill at the Congress hotel added up to $2,265. The records show that Scalise made numerous short stops there from Aug. 13, 1938, until June 22, 1939.

The grand jury is expected to spend several weeks in examining the union records and in questioning union associates of the former convict.

Farmer, 81, Disappears; Leaves 1917 Auto Behind

Kankakee, Ill., May 16 [Special].—A sheriff's posse today searched for John Majorowicz, 81 years old, farmer who resides alone near Momence, who was last seen Friday. A nephew, John Reill of Momence, asked for the search. Majorowicz's tools were left in the garden, his 1917 auto in a shed.

Dinner Honors Union Chieftain

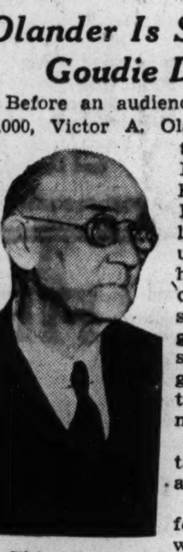
PREDICTS LABOR WILL RID ITSELF OF GANG CANCER

Olander Is Speaker at Goudie Dinner.

Before an audience of more than 1,000, Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, declared last night that union labor knew how to take care of its "cancer spots" and would get rid of the small fringe of gangster chieftains in the movement.



Victor Olander.

"It will just take time, that's all," he said.

The occasion for the speech was a testimonial dinner given for Leslie G. Goudie, president of the Teamsters' Joint Council, in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Representatives of the Chicago Federation of Labor and 46 subordinate unions that make up Goudie's council—total membership, 60,000—were present with their wives.

Gangsters to Be Eliminated.

"Leslie Goudie," Olander asserted, "was chosen for his post 12 years ago because the unions wanted some one to unify their efforts and keep their organization clean. With such a man at the helm there was never any danger of unscrupulous men who didn't belong slipping into these unions' leadership. The time is coming when gangsters who are a blemish to union labor all will be eliminated."

State's Attorney Courtney also spoke. "I wish some of the unscrupulous men who have undermined real unionism could be here," he said, "to witness the spirit displayed here in the backing of a man who was always straight. Mr. Goudie has been devoted to the progress of labor; he has always kept the interest of the people he represents in mind; not his own advantage."

Others at Speakers' Table.

Ray Schoessling of the Keg and Bottled Beer Chauffeurs' union was chairman of the meeting and Frank Gillespie, secretary-treasurer of the Inside Dairy Workers' union, was toastmaster. Among those at the speakers' table were the Rev. James R. Keane, Joseph D. Keenan, vice president of the Chicago federation; William McFetridge, who recently succeeded the gangster, George Scalise, as head of the Building Service Employés union, and John R. Bray, secretary of Teamsters' union, No. 704.

25 MORE WOMEN QUIZZED IN BABY FARM INQUIRY

Samuel Papanek, assistant state's attorney, questioned 25 more women yesterday in connection with an alleged baby farm at 2415 Winnemac avenue. Mrs. Mae Smith, 68 years old, and her daughter, Mary, are being held in the county jail as operators of the place.

Earlier this week the grand jury heard testimony from 49 women, 30 of whom were reported to have testified that they submitted to illegal operations after making arrangements with the Smiths. The inquiry was shifted back to the state's attorney's office until 400 women whose names were found among records of the Smiths can be questioned.

TRAINMEN CALL BUS STRIKE, BUT CARMEN CONTINUE TO DRIVE

San Francisco, Cal., May 16 (AP).—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen called a strike of bus drivers against Pacific Greyhound Lines in seven states today in a dispute involving union jurisdiction, and company officials promptly said schedules would be maintained without interruption.

F. W. Coyle, special representative of an independent union, said the walkout resulted from Greyhound's refusal to recognize a National Labor Relations board ruling designating the trainmen as bargaining agent for the drivers.

Company spokesmen said the board's order is up for court review and that in the meantime they would abide by their contract with the A. F. of L. Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés union.

Their position was backed up by A. L. Rowan, spokesman for the Amalgamated union, who said "We have the contract and a majority of the drivers, and we intend to stay on the job."

REDS SAY U. S., JAPAN WILL BE DRAWN INTO WAR

MOSCOW, May 16,—(AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia today asserted the European war is turning into a world conflict which will soon envelop the Mediterranean area and the Balkans and involve the United States and Japan in the Pacific.

"The imperialistic war begins to demand millions of victims," the paper said today. "One billion, two hundred and fifty million men, or over one half of mankind, already are drawn into the orbit of war in Europe and the far east."

Izvestia asserted that differences between the British-French bloc and Italy in the Mediterranean and the near east have reached a state of "extreme acuteness." "Contradictions between the United States and Japan have been sharply aggravated," it said, "in connection with the beginning of the struggle for the 'Dutch inheritance' in Asia."

WM. H. KING JR. NOMINATED FOR BAR PRESIDENT

CITY'S REBELLION MAKES CARROZZO URGE HITLERISM

Pay Hike Denied; Ban on Mixed Concrete Lifted.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Mike Carrozzo, Il Duce of the street laborers' union and self-proclaimed boss over Chicago street construction, was licked again yesterday. The situation was such that the former gangland bodyguard in exasperation told city hall reporters:

"What this country needs is a Hitler or a Mussolini."

This is what happened to Carrozzo, who maintains a villa at Long Beach, Ind., and a 900 acre farm near Hobart, Ind.:

1. The city turned down a personal demand that thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money be used to give Carrozzo's street workers a pay boost for which there are no funds available. Carrozzo had an interview with Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt and Hewitt won.

2. The city moved to unclamp Carrozzo's strangle hold on the concrete industry here. As a result, the first bids in the city's history on premixed concrete for street work will be opened at 11 a. m. today. Carrozzo some years ago issued an edict against this product on the theory it put union men out of work.

3. New evidence of Mike's tieup with paving contractors was brought to light thru the disclosure that one Chicago company had a $2,600 tractor delivered to Carrozzo's farm two years ago.

4. It was reported in Washington that the federal government, after months of investigation, has completed preparations to move against Carrozzo for income tax evasion. A recently completed report, according to one official, is on its way from federal agents in Chicago to the treasury department.

Refused for Third Time.

When Carrozzo stormed into the city hall yesterday to repeat his demands for the pay increases he was making his third attempt to force the city to pay out money not provided in the budget.

"What about more money for my men?" he said brusquely, confronting Hewitt.

"The city hasn't any money for those raises," replied the commissioner. "Go back to the city council. Ask the aldermen."

"What this country needs is a Hitler."

In the silence that followed this announcement some one asked in disbelief:

"Or a Mussolini?"

"Yes, a Hitler or a Mussolini," said Carrozzo furiously.

Income Put at $250,000 a Year.

Carrozzo, who has been a citizen only three years, arrived in this country in 1906, a penniless immigrant. He now has an income from his unions and business connections estimated at $250,000 per year.

More than a month ago he called a strike of city asphalt workers. At his leisure several days later he explained that he wanted their pay raised from $7.20 per day to $8.20. Since then he has been turned down twice by a subcommittee of the council finance committee.

The strike came soon after Commissioner Hewitt had rejected bids on 100,000 tons of asphalt and secured new bids which saved the city $10,000. The Illinois Asphalt company, which was low in the first bidding, was not asked to bid a second time and lost a $600,000 contract.

Inquiry disclosed that this company was incorporated by Samuel Kart, Carrozzo's lawyer, who is titular head of the Street Cleaners' union.

Denies Strike Was Reprisal.

Carrozzo denied that these circumstances had any bearing on the strike. He finally ordered the men to return to work when he found he couldn't budge councilmen from their stand against the pay increases.

The request for bids on ready mixed concrete was hailed as another blow at Carrozzo. This is the first time the city has considered the use of the ready mixed product. The bids sought were on 3,990 cubic yards of concrete to be laid on North and South Laramie avenue from Harrison to Lake streets; Division street from Grand avenue to Homan avenue, and on Indianapolis boulevard from Ewing avenue to the state line.

In Anti-Trust Spotlight.

Carrozzo's connection with the concrete industry has been under investigation here for several months by Leo F. Tierney, hard hitting special assistant to the United States attorney general. It is part of the government's inquiry into anti-trust violations in the Chicago building industry and city hall officials gave Tierney credit for opening the way for the city's actions.

The tractor used on Carrozzo's farm, records show, was purchased Sept. 13, 1938, from the Patten Tractor and Equipment company, 1056 North Kolmar avenue, by the Standard Paving company, 30 North La Salle street. It was delivered to the farm by the Patten company, whose driver reported that a corps of tough looking guards at the gates refused to let him pass until he had given a complete account of himself and his business.

It has been known that paving companies have been putting improvements on Carrozzo's farm. Paving officials have denied that they have done the work gratis.

Seeks Aid in Washington.

Knowledge that the government was investigating his income tax returns sent Carrozzo on a hurried trip to Washington two weeks ago. It is reported that he called at several offices in the treasury and justice departments trying vainly to get an interview with various officials. After several hours of scurrying about, he was told to file an application for a hearing in the usual fashion and return with his lawyer.

Shortly afterward he left the capital and has not been heard from since. Federal officials in Chicago were mystified by his Washington trip, it is reported. They had tried to question him here but met with little success. It is understood their report shows that Carrozzo had an income during the last few years of many thousands of dollars but that he paid a tax on a much smaller sum.

Federal Alcohol Agents Raid a 700 Gallon Still

Agents under E. C. Yellowley, head of the Chicago federal alcohol tax unit, yesterday raided a 700 gallon still at 864 North Christiana avenue, and seized 7,200 gallons of mash, 94 five gallon cans of alcohol and 28 bags of sugar. Frank Urgo, alias Frank Motto, who was arrested in an earlier raid, was seized on the premises.

ROOSEVELT PLAN ENVISIONS ARMY OF MILLION MEN

25 Per Cent Increase for Navy Also Proposed.

navy proposed to provide four cruisers, 13 destroyers, and eight submarines. The 25 per cent program, to which the navy is expected to return under the presidential message, would double this output and permit the construction of a 52,000 ton battleship.

Navy Holds Up Details.

The navy is holding back details of its program because it must consider the changes in design necessitated by the development of the superiority of the airplane and the other lessons being learned in Europe. The navy high command is particularly interested in the apparent discovery that the airplane carrier is practically useless, particularly in supporting troop landing operations.

The navy had planned to build 79,500 tons of new carriers. These plans are being revised in view of the latest European developments.

The anticipated increase in the number of warships will bring corresponding increases in the personnel of the navy and marine corps.

The navy also wants to obtain at least 200 long range bombing planes and otherwise develop its air arm.

Reception Is Nonpartisan.

The reception of the President's defense expansion message by members of congress was nonpartisan. Republicans joined Democrats in declaring for immediate measures to make America impregnable to attack. Congressional leaders announced that committee consideration of the necessary defense legislation would begin at once.

The indications are that the chief differences of opinion in congress will arise over the proposed presidential blank check and the size of the army required to defend the United States from invasion.

Many senators and representatives contend that, with a strong navy, an army of 500,000 men would be sufficient to repel any enemy force that could be landed on American shores. Those who hold this view are inclined to suspect the army of 1 million men of the administration plan is intended for service in Europe to help the allies.

Financing to Be Issue.

There also will be differences in congress over the financing of the big defense program, a question on which the President was completely silent in his message.

Some legislators favor the immediate levying of new taxes to foot the bill, while others would borrow the money and raise the present 45 billion dollar national debt limit, which will soon be exceeded at the current rate of deficit spending. The chances are, however, that the whole question of financing will go over until after the November election.

Congress United in Support of Increased U. S. Defenses

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Members of both houses of congress were almost unanimous in support of the President's plea today for a magnified defense program. There was considerable criticism of the administration's defense record in the past and also demands that it be kept a defense program and not a preparation for entering Europe's war.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], one of the senate's foremost noninterventionists, said he was "very much gratified that the President stopped short of asking for a declaration of war."

Senator Clark said he did not know a member of the senate or the house who opposed the expenditure of any amount of money that might be necessary to give the United States a completely adequate national defense.

Before congress votes the sums requested by Mr. Roosevelt, he said, there should be an investigation to ascertain what has been done with the 7 billion dollars appropriated for the army and navy under the New Deal and whether the proposed appropriation will be wasted in the same way.

"Should Acquire Islands."

Senator Clark referred to the President's statements regarding the flying time from various Atlantic outposts to the United States or the Panama canal as "conclusive support for those of us who have contended that we should open negotiations with our debtor nations for the acquisition of their island possessions in settlement of their war debts."

"Everybody agrees," Senator Clark added, "that we would have to defend those islands in order to prevent a foreign power from gaining possession of them."

If the government is going to subsidize any aircraft factories, or any other munitions factories, Senator Clark said, "they should be located in the invulnerable, middle western part of the United States."

Other congressional comment on the President's message follows:

Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.]—"President Roosevelt's speech will be applauded by every one who believes in the American way of life."

Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.]—"I agree 100 per cent with the imperative need of adequate national defense, and to that end we should proceed at once to eliminate every nonessential and wasteful governmental expenditure. At the same time we must look forward to the imposition of new taxes to finance the national defense program."

"Should Be Studied."

Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader—"Interesting. Should receive study by congress."

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.]—"I'm for all he wants to strengthen our army and our air force, but I'm not for any program for us to arm Europe."

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.]—"It expressed the American sentiment. The suggestions will be followed."

Representative Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], house minority leader—"We [the Republicans] are for the program. It might as well be speedily enacted. But we might want to look into the blank check features."

Representative Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.], ranking minority member of the house naval affairs committee: "The message shows clearly that the President considers this country no longer a neutral but a nonbelligerent ally."

LONDON'S PRESS FORECASTS U. S. ENTRY INTO WAR

Sees Roosevelt Getting Ready for Conflict.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 17, Friday.—President Roosevelt's message to congress competes with the war news for front page space in London newspapers this morning.

The reaction here is that the President has overthrown the policy of isolation and is preparing America for war. It is forecast that the United States soon will be drawn into the European struggle on the side of Britain and France.

C. V. R. Thompson, the London Daily Express correspondent in New York, asserts in a dispatch that "there is no doubt America is 100 per cent on our side. . . . We have all of America's sympathy now. Some day we will be getting her help. I doubt if there is more than one out of ten in New York or Washington who believes now that the United States will be able to stay out more than a couple of months."

Calls It "Grave" Message.

S. Ward Price, a Daily Mail writer, in an article headed "Will America Enter the War?" and spread over four columns, says, "We may be sure America won't stand idly by and see us defeated and destroyed."

The conservative Daily Telegraph describes President Roosevelt's message as "the gravest since Wilson asked for a declaration of war against Germany."

Urges U. S. Ultimatum to Italy.

The liberal News Chronicle, however, urges that America send what would amount to an ultimatum to Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy.

"Planes which America can send during the next few weeks will be only a small factor in the battle," it says. "The prospect is that the pressure on the allies will become much greater in the near future thru the entry of Italy into the war and the only way America could give the allies effective help at this moment would be to warn Italy such a move would find the United States on the allies' side."

Paris Sees U. S. in War.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16.—Every bit of information from Washington, D. C., on the probable moves of President Roosevelt were being carefully examined in Paris tonight.

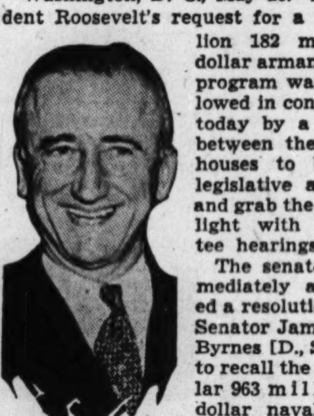
In some circles the belief is growing that Mr. Roosevelt will find some way to get the forces of the United States lined up for war. These circles report that American sentiment is changing.

CONGRESS RACES FOR BANDWAGON OF U. S. DEFENSE

Houses Vie to Be First to Back Roosevelt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—President Roosevelt's request for a 1 billion 182 million dollar armaments program was followed in congress today by a race between the two houses to begin legislative action and grab the spotlight with comtee hearings.



Sen. James F. Byrnes.

The senate immediately adopted a resolution by Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] to recall the regular 963 million dollar naval appropriation bill from a conference committee of the two houses. The purpose of this move, in which the house must concur, is to add 250 million dollars requested by the President for the navy and marine corps.

The senate military appropriations subcommittee, which has under consideration the 831 million dollar regular war department appropriation bill, will meet tomorrow to consider incorporating the President's additional requests for the army and the air corps.

Kentuckian Seeks Spotlight.

Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, refused to permit the senate to grab all the limelight. He introduced a bill authorizing but not appropriating, the money for items aggregating 726 million dollars for the army.

Parliamentary experts held that all army appropriations requested by the President are authorized by existing law and that they can be added to the regular war department appropriation bill, already passed by the house and pending in the senate committee. May's bill will give him an excuse to conduct hearings.

Senator Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.], chairman of the senate military appropriations subcommittee, announced that Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of the staff, would appear tomorrow and explain the army expansion program.

"We'll probably report the bill in time for senate approval next week," Thomas said. "We'll show the world that a democracy can act and act quickly."

Program Gets United Support.

The reaction in congress was overwhelmingly favorable to the broad objectives of the President's program, but many members cautiously reserved commitments until the details and the full implications are made known in committee hearings.

There is unanimous agreement in congress that the national defenses must be strengthened immediately, at whatever cost may be necessary. The noninterventionists, however, said they could not see any consistency between the President's contention on the one hand that the United States should adopt a program that would "provide us with 50,000 military and naval planes" and his opposition on the other hand to "any action which would hamper or delay the delivery of American-made planes" to the allied powers of Europe.

Demands that the requirements of the American army and navy air forces be met first were widespread and there were reservations as to the President's request for a 200 million dollar lump sum authorization, half in cash and half in contractual authority.

Some members demanded that congress specify that any part of this fund used to subsidize aircraft plant expansion be restricted to production for the American army and navy, and not for foreign belligerents.

Can't Read Roosevelt Mind.

Just how much of a blank check the 200 million draft is intended to be was indicated by the comment of Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.]. Asked what this money would be used for, Barkley replied:

"Oh, I can't tell you anything about that. I wouldn't want to try to read the President's mind."

SENATE PASSES BILL TO HASTEN ARMY PROMOTION

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Legislation designed to speed the army's promotion system and provide younger officers in higher grades was approved by the senate today and sent back to the house for concurrence in amendments.

The new promotion schodule would be as follows: Promotion to first lieutenant after 3 years' service [same as present law]; to captain after 10 [same as present]; to major after 17; to lieutenant colonel after 23; to colonel after 28 [with a limit of 705 colonels under ordinary circumstances].

Lewis Compton, assistant secretary of the navy, urged the senate naval affairs committee to approve a house bill providing for reorganization of the navy department to speed warship construction. The measure would set up a bureau of ships in charge of a rear admiral responsible for final decisions on architectural and engineering problems of ship construction.

PRESIDENT ASKS 50,000 PLANES AS U. S. DEFENSE

Wants Billion Dollars Now and More Later.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Having heard President Roosevelt describe the dangers of an air attack upon the United States by the European and Asiatic dictators, congress today prepared to vote the greatest peacetime military preparedness program in the country's history.

President Roosevelt addressing congress. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The prospect is that the program for strengthening the army and navy and providing an invulnerable air force will entail expenditures of 1 billion dollars or more. The President submitted a program calling for immediate appropriations aggregating 896 millions and for the authorization of future appropriations totaling 286 millions, a grand total of 1 billion 182 millions. He proposed an air strength of 50,000 planes compared with the present combined army and navy air force of 4,489 planes.

200 Million Blank Check.

Most arresting feature of the President's program upon which the attention of congress fastened at once was a mysterious proposal to give the executive a blank check for 200 million dollars.

Of this amount 100 millions would be appropriated at once "to the President to provide for emergencies affecting the national security and defense," as Mr. Roosevelt stated it. Then congress would be asked to authorize the President to "make contract obligations" for an additional 100 millions to be actually appropriated at a later date.

The purpose of the "blank check" is to enable the President to finance a vast expansion of factory facilities for turning out airplanes in enormous quantities for Great Britain and France immediately and eventually for the United States. The aircraft manufacturing companies are unable and unwilling to bear the expense of a vast expansion of their facilities in view of the losses they would suffer from a sudden curtailment of business upon the conclusion of peace.

Partly to Aid Allies.

The President proposes that the United States shall foot this bill partly as a contribution to the cause of aiding the allies to defeat Germany and partly as a measure for speedily providing our own country with 50,000 up to date military planes.

The plan involves a rotation of orders for planes for the United States which will be released for purchase by the allies as rapidly as they are completed so long as the present allied shortage of aircraft exists. The needs of the United States would not be supplied until after allied needs are met, but the United States would get the latest improved models.

It transpires that there was a heated discussion in the last cabinet meeting over this mysterious item of the defense program. Some members of the cabinet argued that the President should explain in his message the purpose of aiding the allies. Mr. Roosevelt, however, did not take the advice.

Opposes Blank Check.

While generally commending the President's message, Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., Republican leader of the house, said he would "look into the blank check features because I don't believe we should have a blank check lying around."

Denying the charges that our army and navy are inefficient and that the billions expended thereon under the Roosevelt administration have been wasted, the President, appearing at a joint session of the two houses at 1 p. m., presented the inadequacy of our armed forces for defense of the western hemisphere in a dispassionate and nonpartisan argument.

"First, to procure the essential equipment of all kinds for a larger and thoroly rounded-out army.

"Second, to replace or modernize all old army and navy equipment with the latest type of equipment.

Seeks Speedy Production.

"Third, to increase production facilities for everything needed for the army and navy for national defense. We require the ability to turn out quickly infinitely greater supplies.

"Fourth, to speed up to a 24 hour basis all existing army and navy contracts, and all new contracts to be awarded."

The immediate appropriations asked by the President were 546 millions for the army, 250 millions for the navy and 100 millions for the blank check. The additional authorizations he asked were 186 millions to make contract obligations for the army, navy, and marine corps and 100 millions for the blank check.

The President read his message in a low, solemn voice, mustering all his powers of impressiveness, particularly for those passages stating the nearness of bases from which enemies could launch air attacks on the United States. A storm of applause greeted Mr. Roosevelt when he said that he would like to see a production capacity of 50,000 planes a year in this country and an army and navy air strength of 50,000 planes. His assurance of team work with congress on national defense also evoked vociferous applause.

FIRE ROUTS TWO FAMILIES.

Two families were forced to leave their apartments at 917 South Springfield avenue when fire attacked the two story building yesterday. Damage was $500.

Text of President Roosevelt's Message on National Defense Expansion

"To the congress of the United States:

"These are ominous days—days whose swift and shocking developments force every neutral nation to look to its defenses in the light of new factors. The brutal force of modern offensive war has been loosed in all its horror.

"New powers of destruction, incredibly swift and deadly, have been developed; and those who wield them are ruthless and daring.

"No old defense is so strong that it requires no further strengthening and no attack is so unlikely or impossible that it may be ignored.

Points to Dangers.

"Let us examine, without self-deception, the dangers which confront us. Let us measure our strength and our defense without self-delusion.

"The clear fact is that the American people must recast their thinking about national protection.

"Parachute troops are dropped from airplanes in large numbers behind enemy lines. Troops are landed from planes in open fields, on wide highways, and at local civil airports.

"We have seen the treacherous use of the 'fifth column' by which persons supposed to be peaceful visitors were actually a part of an enemy unit of occupation. Lightning attacks, capable of destroying airplane factories and munition works hundreds of miles behind the lines, are part of the new technique of modern war.

Cites Amazing Speed.

"The element of surprise which has ever been an important tactic in warfare has become the more dangerous because of the amazing speed with which modern equipment can reach and attack the enemy's country.

"Our own vital interests are widespread. More than ever the protection of the whole American hemisphere against invasion or control or domination by non-American nations has the united support of the 21 American republics, including the United States. More than ever this protection calls for ready at hand weapons capable of great mobility because of the potential speed of modern attack.

"The Atlantic and Pacific oceans were reasonably adequate defensive barriers when fleets under sail could move at an average speed of five miles an hour. Even then by a sudden foray it was possible for an opponent actually to burn our national capitol. Later, the oceans still gave strength to our defense when fleets and convoys propelled by steam could sail the oceans at 15 or 20 miles an hour.

Attacks At New Speed.

"But the new element—air navigation—steps up the speed of possible attack to 200, to 300 miles an hour.

"Furthermore, it brings the new possibilities of the use of nearer bases from which an attack or attacks on the American continents could be made. From the fiords of Greenland it is four hours by air to Newfoundland; five hours to Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec, and only six hours to New England.

"The Azores are only 2,000 miles from parts of our eastern seaboard and if Bermuda fell into hostile hands it is a matter of less than three hours for modern bombers to reach our shores.

"From a base in the outer West Indies, the coast of Florida could be reached in 200 minutes.

"The islands off the west coast of Africa are only 1,500 miles from Brazil. Modern planes starting from the Cape Verde Islands can be over Brazil in seven hours.

Planes Cut Distances.

"And Para, Brazil, is but 4 flying hours to Caracas, Venezuela; and Venezuela but 2½ hours to Cuba and the Canal Zone; and Cuba and the Canal Zone are 2¼ hours to Tampico, Mexico; and Tampico is 2¼ hours to St. Louis, Kansas City, and Omaha.

"On the other side of the continent, Alaska, with a white population of ony 30,000 people, is within 4 or 5 hours of flying distance to Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, and Portland. The islands of the southern Pacific are not too far removed from the west coast of South America to prevent them from becoming bases of enormous strategic advantage to attacking forces.

"Surely, the developments of the past few weeks have made it clear to all of our citizens that the possibility of attack on vital American zones ought to make it essential that we have the physical, the ready ability to meet those attacks and to prevent them from reaching their objectives.

Would Speed Production.

"This means military implements—not on paper—which are ready and available to meet any lightning offensive against our American interest. It means also that facilities for production must be ready to turn out munitions and equipment at top speed.

"We have had the lesson before us over and over again—nations that were not ready and were unable to get ready found themselves overrun by the enemy. So-called impregnable fortifications no longer exist. A defense which allows an enemy to consolidate his approach without hindrance will lose. A defense which makes no effective effort to destroy the lines of supplies and communications of the enemy will lose.

"An effective defense by its very nature requires the equipment to attack an aggressor on his route before he can establish strong bases within the territory of American vital interests.

Defends Army and Navy.

"Loose talking and thinking on the part of some may give the false impression that our own army and navy are not first-rate, or that money has been wasted on them.

"Nothing could be further from the truth.

"In recent years the defensive power of our army, navy, and marine corps has been very greatly improved.

"The navy is stronger today than at any time in the nation's history. Today also a large program of new construction is well under way. Ship for ship, ours are equal to, or better than, the vessels of any foreign power.

"The army likewise is at its greatest peacetime strength. Its equipment in quality and quantity has been greatly increased and improved.

"The National Guard and the reserve strength of the two services are better equipped and better prepared than during any other peacetime period.

Learn Lessons from War.

"On the other side of the picture we must visualize the outstanding fact that since the first day of September, 1939, every week that has passed has brought new lessons learned from actual combat on land and sea.

"I cite examples. Where naval ships have operated without adequate protection by defending aircraft, their vulnerability to air attack has increased. All nations are hard at work studying the need of additional antiaircraft protection.

"Several months ago the use of a new type of magnetic mine made many unthinking people believe that all surface ships were doomed. Within a few weeks a successful defensive device against these mines was placed in operation; and it is a fact that the sinkings of merchant ships by torpedo, by mine or by airplane are definitely much lower than during the similar period in 1915.

Air Warfare Changes.

"Combat conditions have changed even more rapidly in the air. With the amazing progress in the design of planes and engines the airplane of a year ago is out of date now. It is too slow, it is improperly protected, it is too weak in gun power.

"In types of planes we are not behind the other nations of the world. Many of the planes of the belligerent powers are at this moment not of the latest models. But one belligerent power not only has many more planes than all their opponents combined, but also appears to have a weekly production capacity at the moment that is far greater than that of their opponents.

"From the point of view of our own defense, therefore, great additional production capacity is our principal air requisite.

"For the permanent record I ask the congress not to take any action which would in any way hamper or delay the delivery of American made planes to foreign nations which have ordered them or seek to purchase more planes. That, from the point of view of our own national defense, would be extremely shortsighted.

Plane Production Grows.

"During the last year American production capacity for war planes, including engines, has risen from approximately 6,000 planes a year to more than double that number, due in greater part to the placing of foreign orders.

"Our immediate problem is to superimpose on this production capacity a greatly increased additional production capacity. I should like to see this nation geared up to the ability to turn out at least 50,000 planes a year. Furthermore, I believe that this nation should plan at this time a program that would provide us with 50,000 military and naval planes.

"The ground forces of the army require the immediate speeding up of last winter's program to procure equipment of all kinds, including motor transport and artillery, including antiaircraft guns and full ammunition supplies. It had been planned to spread these requirements over the next three or four years. We should fill them at once.

Funds for Four Purposes.

"At this time I am asking the immediate appropriation by the congress of a large sum of money for four primary purposes:

"First, to procure the essential equipment of all kinds for a larger and thoroly rounded out army.

"Second, to replace or modernize all old army and navy equipment with the latest type of equipment.

"Third, to increase production facilities for everything needed for the army and navy for additional defense. We require the ability to turn out quickly infinitely greater supplies.

"Fourth, to speed up to a twenty-four hour basis all existing army and navy contracts, and all new contracts to be awarded.

Wants 896 Million Now.

"I ask for an immediate appropriation of $896,000,000, divided approximately as folows:

"1. For the army $546,000,000

"2. For the navy and marine corps $250,000,000

"3. To the President to provide for emergencies affecting the national security and defense $100,000,000

"In addition to the above sum, I ask for authorizations for the army, navy, and marine corps to make contract obligations in the further sum of $186,000,000.

"And to the President an additional authorization to make contract obligations for $100,000,000.

"The total of authorizations is, therefore, $286,000,000.

200 Million for President.

"It is my belief that a large part of the requested appropriation of 100 million dollars and the requested authorization of 100 million dollars to the President will be used principally for the increase of production of airplanes, antiaircraft guns, and the training of additional personnel for these weapons. This would be in addition to the direct estimates for these purposes in the other items requested.

"The proposed details of the appropriations and authorizations asked for will be given to the committees of the congress.

"These estimates do not, of course, duplicate any item now in the pending war and navy appropriation bills for the year 1941. Nor do they include supplemental or deficiency estimates which may become necessary by reason of pending legislation or shortage of funds under existing programs.

Tells Confidence in Officers.

"There are some who say that democracy cannot cope with the new techniques of government developed in recent years by a few countries—by a few countries which deny the freedoms which we maintain are essential to our democratic way of life. This I reject.

"I know that our trained officers and men know more about fighting and the weapons and equipment needed for fighting than any of us laymen; and I have confidence in them.

"I know that to cope with the present dangers we must be strong in heart and hand; strong in our faith—strong in faith in our way of living.

"I, too, pray for peace—that the ways of aggression and force may be banished from the earth—but I am determined to face the fact realistically that this nation requires a toughness of moral and physical fiber. Those qualities, I am convinced, the American people hold to a high degree.

For Absolute Security.

"Our task is plain. The road we must take is clearly indicated. Our defenses must be invulnerable, our security absolute. But our defense as it was yesterday, or even as it is today, does not provide security against potential developments and dangers of the future.

"Defense cannot be static. Defense must grow and change from day to day. Defense must be dynamic and flexible, an expression of the vital forces of the nation and of its resolute will to meet whatever challenge the future may hold.

"For these reasons, I need hardly assure you that after the adjournment of this session of the congress I will not hesitate to call the congress into special session if at any time the situation of the national defense requires it. The congress and the chief executive constitute a team where the defense of the land is concerned.

Objective Still Peace.

"Our ideal, our objective is still peace—peace at home and peace abroad. Nevertheless, we stand ready not only to spend millions for defense but to give our service and even our lives for the maintenance of our American liberties.

"Our security is not a matter of weapons alone. The arm that wields them must be strong, the eye that guides them clear, the will that directs them indomitable.

"These are the characteristics of a free people, a people devoted to the institutions they themselves have built, a people willing to defend a way of life that is precious to them all, a people who put their faith in God."

ARMS NEED MAY LIFT SHACKLES FROM INDUSTRY

Production Hamstrung by New Deal Laws.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—President Roosevelt's request that the nation's armament industries be placed on a 24 hour schedule to speed national defense may necessitate the scrapping of social legislation which has been hamstringing American production.

Capt. C. W. Fisher.

This was the consensus of business organizations and industrial leaders in reacting to the chief executive's plea for immediate appropriation of 896 million dollars and authorizations of 286 million dollars to bolster the nation's defenses.

After the President finished his message to congress Capt. C. W. Fisher, director of naval shore establishments, proposed to the house naval affairs committee that restrictive statutes be relaxed or repealed to speed the warship building program.

Urges Change in Laws.

Capt. Fisher said the minimum wage and maximum hours provisions of the Walsh-Healy law and other acts should be repealed and the wage-hour law be extended to apply to government contracts.

Industrialists said there can be no unified national defense effort unless the New Deal punitive measures against industry are junked. The eradication of the class conflict legislation, it was said, will enable industry and labor to put their shoulders jointly to the wheel of production and create national security.

Modification and suspension of the wage and hour act, the Walsh-Healy act, and similar legislation is considered essential to speeding production. End of quibbling regulation and government of industry by orders on the part of the National Labor Relations board and the labor department also must cease, it was said.

France Drops 40 Hour Law.

It was recalled that social legislation in France, under the premiership of Leon Blum, held back her rearmament and brought that country to her present predicament. France abandoned the 40 hour week because it was found to be one of the main reasons for delay in getting armament.

England also has to abandon the shorter hour week.

The President's suggestion for a 24 hour day for arms production was believed to have sealed the doom of amendments to the Walsh-Healy act, passed by the senate and now in the house judiciary committee. The amendments would tighten the operation of the act which holds firms working on government contracts to provisions of the outlawed NRA.

Conflict in Statutes.

The organizations hold that the nation's wage and hour picture must be clarified because the nation has four different major laws regulating wages and hours of employment.

One requires an inflexible eight hour day and permits 56 hours a week; another requires an eight hour day and a 40 hour week and permits longer hours if overtime is paid; a third places no limitation on daily work, permits 42 hours a week, and sanctions longer hours if compensated at time and a half, and the fourth requires payment of the prevailing wage of the area in which work is performed.

The wage and hour provisions will work a hardship on industry and increase the cost of national defense because of the overtime payment requirement.

6. During Nero's reign an early Christian was bound hand and foot; then tossed into the Roman arena to be tortured. For the latter purpose a large ball, six feet in diameter and studded with sharp spikes, was to be rolled over the helpless victim. But as a mocking gesture of sportsmanship the Christian was permitted to assume any position he preferred within the wall-enclosed arena. For example, he could lie face downward, or flat on his back, or on his side, etc. The Christian chose his position, but tho 25 powerful slaves and an elephant rolled the ball toward him, they could not force it across his body. In fact, he didn't receive a scratch. What position did the Christian take?

39 TRANSFUSIONS BACK OF HIM, VICTIM PUTS A DREAD DISEASE ON RUN

In the Roseland Community hospital lies a young man who has had 39 blood transfusions within the last 44 days in his fight against streptococcus pneumonia. Hospital attendants reported last night that he apparently is winning his battle against the dread disease.

Robert Vnuk.

The young man is Robert Vnuk, 21 years old, 9834 Vincennes avenue, an employé of a rug manufacturing company. He was taken to the hospital on April 2 suffering from the disease in which, physicians say, the streptococcus germs destroy the red corpuscles of the blood. Since then he has received transfusions of 300 cubic centimeters of blood, about three-fifths of a pint, almost daily.

Hospital officials said that friends of Vnuk's have acted as donors to supply the blood needed for the transfusions.

RESIDENTS FLEE BRUSSELS; JAM WAY TO FRANCE

Capital Had Dead Look, Says Eyewitness.

BY ROBERT OKIN.

PARIS, May 16 (AP).—I arrived in Paris tonight from Brussels after 30 hours on the road with Belgian refugees, who later were joined on the highways by Frenchmen cleared out of the menaced areas of northern France.

When I left Brussels at 1 p. m. yesterday [6 a. m. Chicago time] the government still was in the capital [here nine words were censored], but the city had a dead and deserted look. Only the refugees and the people waiting near the banks for money gave life to what normally is a bustling business center.

City Bombed on Outskirts.

Several times yesterday morning Brussels was bombed on the outskirts, putting out of commission the National Radio system, which had been broadcasting continuously since the German invasion. Telegraph facilities also were suspended during Tuesday night. Railroad stations were packed with anxious refugees hoping for trains to take them out. [Here 19 words were censored.]

Discussing the Netherlands' capitulation that day a government official declared:

"We are going to fight on any line and every line, no matter if the government is destroyed."

Premier Hubert Pierlot, Foreign Minister Henri Spaak, and Defense Minister Gen. Henri Denis held an early morning meeting when the news of the Dutch surrender reached Brussels. The city was on constant edge, and any unusual movement brought a nervous crowd and swarms of police who were watching for "fifth column" troops and parachutists.

Autos and Hearse Aid.

Behind the front in Belgium was a mass of automobiles, bicycles, peasant cars, trucks, and pedestrians struggling toward the French frontier. But it was obvious that many had been prepared for a long time to move out. In many ways this was a "de luxe" migration.

Many refugees were well dressed for the trip. Since the war was only five days old, there was plenty of food. British soldiers directed traffic. One crowd left Brussels in a hearse.

With them went tens of thousands of boys and men, between the ages of 16 and 35, who were ordered by the government to leave. [Here eight words were censored.] [During the world war able bodied Belgians were enrolled by the Germans into labor battalions.]

Other Cities Bombed.

Despite the first bombing of Brussels which announced the coming of the war to Belgium early Friday morning, the center of the capital was comparatively free of bombs thruout the time I was there. In the first four days of the invasion, Antwerp, Namur, Louvain, Alost, Tirlemont, and other cities were reported bombed heavily. The government collected no figures, but estimated there were thousands of casualties from these attacks.

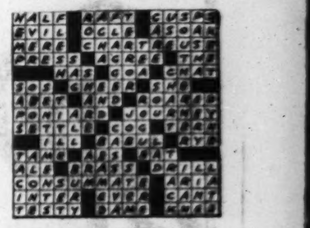
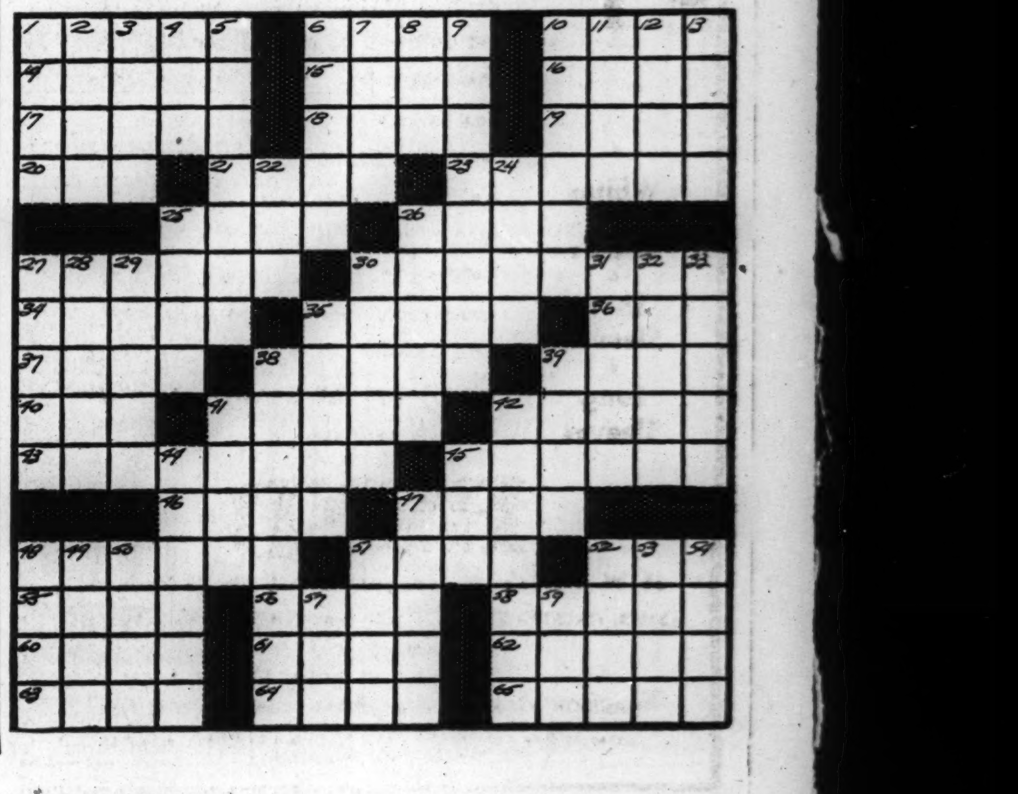
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, MAY 16, SOLVED





HUNDREDS SEIZED IN RAIDS ON FIFTH COLUMN IN PARIS

Roads Leading from City Under Police Watch.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 16.—Police conducted scores of raids today to rid Paris of undesirable foreigners and to neutralize the activities of the fifth column. Hundreds of persons were arrested. The raids took place in all districts, but chiefly near the grand boulevards, the Champs Elysees, Montparnasse, and Montmarte.

On all roads leading out of Paris, policemen have been stationed since midnight and no persons are permitted to leave until their identity papers have been examined. Many suspects were taken into custody while attempting to flee from the capital.

Unify Police Activity.

These precautions are part of a nation-wide project to wage war upon the interior enemy. At the ministry of the interior a plan was being drawn up today which will coördinate all French police activities with the intention of repressing all anti-French endeavor regardless of its nature.

Policemen, customs agents and the Republican guard, while retaining their distinctive identities, will be fused into a wartime organization equipped with modern weapons, means of transport and radio material. To it will be added the new civic guard, composed of volunteer civilians who will be uniformed and armed.

Sentence Women Communists.

Two women communists were sentenced to five years in prison with a fine of 5,000 francs [about $92] on a charge of operating "a clandestine and anti-French propaganda center." Evidence showed that each of the women had served as treasurer of a communist cell before that party was outlawed.

Six men also were sentenced by the second military tribunal; the longest sentence was five years in prison, the shortest one year. In two cases, sentence was suspended as regards the prison term. One defendant was acquitted.

Britain Seizes 3,000 Aliens.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 16.—Another 3,000 Germans and Austrians living in Britain were interned today. Those seized were men and boys between the ages of 16 and 60 years previously classified by alien tribunals under category "B." Tho exempted from internment until today, they were subject to rigorous restrictions.

Today's swoop, covering the whole country, was a sequel to the week-end roundup of enemy aliens in the south and east coast districts. One thousand policemen and detectives and the whole of Scotland Yards' fleet of 400 autos and commercial trucks took part in the London roundup, which netted about 1,600 aliens.

Among those seized in London was Jack Bilbo, described as a onetime gunman and bodyguard of Al Capone. He was arrested in bed at his home in Kensington. Bilbo's real name was given as Hugh Baruch. He is German on his father's side.

Cancel Passenger Train Service in East France

PARIS, May 16 (AP).—Cancelation of more passenger trains, in eastern France, was announced today. An official notice said merely that "in view of the circumstances a certain number" of trains in the eastern section would cease running, effective tomorrow. Other train suspensions —in southeastern France—were announced last night.

Britain Regrets Plane Flight Over Swedish Area

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—The British government has expressed regrets to Sweden for the flight of British planes over Swedish territory near Narvik, Norway, May 15, British dispatches from Stockholm said tonight. Sweden protested the flight, alleging bombs were dropped.

COMMITTEE SEES TEST OF OXYGEN BOMB EVAPORATE

Inventor Is Angered by Mixup in Orders.

Aberdeen, Md., May 16 (AP).—A test of the death-dealing powers of Inventor Lester P. Barlow's liquid-oxygen-carbon bomb today was postponed until next week and lives of a herd of goats were spared temporarily.

Lester P. Barlow.

The inventor declined to go thru with the test today because, he said, he was ordered to bring out a 1,000 pound sack of his "glmite" 20 minutes before the scheduled time and much of the oxygen evaporated.

Barlow, obviously upset, left the scene before some of the congressional committeemen and military authorities for whom the demonstration was arranged had arrived. He returned later and said there had been some mistake.

May Set Own Date.

Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee, told Barlow he could arrange a demonstration for next week with the inventor to set the day.

Barlow said officials of the proving ground directed him to set up his bomb at about 8:40 a. m.

While it hung on a pole, drenched by a pouring rain, the oxygen gave off white vapors plainly visible to the spectators 2,500 feet away.

Inventor Leaves Scene.

At 8:55, when only a few members of the congressional party, flying from Washington in three planes had arrived, Barlow left the scene in an automobile saying he was being made a sucker before the whole nation.

About a mile away, he met a car containing Senator Sheppard and other committee members. They went into a huddle in which Barlow was appeased and next week's demonstration agreed upon.

Barlow said there would have been no evaporation had the explosive been encased in metal. A sack was used instead, he explained, to avoid the danger of flying fragments.

A JESSE JAMES RIDES AGAIN—ON A BICYCLE!

A youthful robber on a bicycle, operating on the south side, has developed a technique as effective as that of Jesse James with a horse. His method is to pedal along silently on the sidewalks until he sees a woman carrying a purse. Then he puts on speed, snatches the purse, and whizzes away. The latest victim is Mrs. C. A. Lindquist, 7651 South Carpenter street. She lost $38 to the cyclist last night in 77th street near Morgan street. The police have received several other complaints.

Court Blocks Klansman's Attempt to Seize Fugitive

Municipal Judge William V. Daly decided yesterday that Romeo Blake, colored, 4519 Champlain avenue, need not return to Atlanta, Ga., to face a reckless driving charge. The judge dismissed an application for a fugitive warrant when John W. Maxwell, who had come from Georgia to get Blake, was unable to produce any papers of authority. Maxwell previously had shown Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham, a Catholic, and Walter McCoy, colored, a membership card in the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, as his authority.

Singer Quizzed

AVIS C. KENT.

Miss Avis C. Kent, unemployed singer, dancer, and model, was questioned yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Austin, who is investigating charges that night club entertainers have defrauded the state of nearly $3,000 in unemployment compensation.

Austin said that Miss Kent, who lives at 426 St. James place, received $73, the maximum amount due her, in five checks at one time, instead of separate checks over a period of several weeks. The prosecutor said that Miss Kent was entitled to the money, but was unable to account for the manner of payment. She said she did not know Robert Myers, senior clerk in the compensation office at 175 North Ada street, who is accused of arranging the $3,000 fraud.

Austin said more witnesses will be questioned later. Among them will be Hazel Smith, secretary of Dennis [The Duke] Cooney, in whose notorious resort, the Royale Frolics café, many of the entertainers and orchestra leaders worked. Miss Smith has accepted service of a subpena, Austin said.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR 11 NEW FEDERAL JUDGES

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Senate approval sent legislation to the White house today providing three new circuit court of appeals judges and eight new district judges. Final congressional action came upon acceptance of a compromise between house and senate versions.

In its final form the measure would provide one additional judge in the 6th circuit, embracing Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, and Tennessee, and two in the 8th circuit, embracing Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

District judges would be provided for New Jersey, the western district of Oklahoma, the eastern district of Pennsylvania, the southern district of New York, the northern district of Illinois, the northern district of Georgia, the southern districts of Florida.

The measure provided that the first vacancy to occur in the New Jersey, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, and Georgia districts should not be filled.

Oak Park Squirrels Dying of Rabies; Warn Residents

Dr. Gilbert P. Pond, Oak Park's health commissioner, yesterday warned the town's residents north of Chicago avenue and east of Harlem avenue that a dozen squirrels that died recently in the area had been found to be victims of rabies. Others, he said, might be afflicted with the disease. Parents, he added, should warn children about picking up any of the sick animals. Dog owners also were told to keep their pets away from the rodents.

CANADA PLEDGES WAR EFFORT OF UTMOST POWER

Parliament Meets to Consider Plans.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16 (AP).—Canada's parliament assembled today to examine the dominion's part in the conduct of the war and consider legislation proposed by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King to stabilize industry.

The keynote was in the address from the throne, read by Lyman P. Duff, administrator of the government since the death of the viceroy, Lord Tweedsmuir.

Recent events, it declared, had served to "intensify our determination to share in the war effort of the allied powers to the utmost of our strength."

Called Greatest Conflict.

The address said that the new parliament had been summoned "at a time of the greatest conflict in the history of mankind. Upon the outcome of the struggle will depend the maintenance of civilized society and the inheritance of human freedom for our own and future generations."

The only specific legislation forecast by the royal address was "the establishment of unemployment insurance on a national scale."

Tomorrow spokesmen of the government [Liberal] will move and second the address, and on Monday Prime Minister Mackenzie King will open the general debate with an eagerly awaited report on Canada's conduct of the war.

Report by Commission.

In an historic report, the royal Commission of Dominion-Provincial Relations proposed a broad plan for a revamped confederation setup and simplified financial system designed to remove causes of friction and financial difficulties.

The commission's long range plan in general would shuffle the financial powers and responsibilities of Canada's various governments for the attainment of "real autonomy" for the provinces in local matters and give effective federal control in fields where national interest is paramount.

The financial plan, crux of the report, would cost the dominion government an estimated $40,000,000 a year under present conditions.

Relief Responsibility.

It calls for dominion assumption of entire responsibility for relief of unemployed employables, and also provides for the federal government taking over all existing provincial debt, involving service charges about $60,000,000 a year.

To compensate the dominion, the provincial governments would be asked to withdraw from the income, corporation, and inheritance tax fields, which could be expected to yield around $65,000,000 a year.

Chicago Youths Called Best Defense Against Fifth Column

Chicago youths can become one of the most potent forces to combat "Fifth column" activities in this district, Chicago Boys' club officials asserted yesterday as they appealed for help in a drive to build better citizens.

Irving Rudolph.

Letters were sent to 3,000 persons requesting funds for the program against subversive movements. The club's annual budget is about $200,000. Boys from 6 to 16 years of age may join the club, paying dues of 25 cents to $1 a year, or performing small chores to earn member ship.

"We are eager to spread the patriotic influence of our Chicago Boys clubs into the very center of Fifth column activities," said Irving Rudolph, executive vice president. "We are very much indebted to volunteer leaders, but the time has come when we must employ specially trained directors in this nationalistic program.

Dies Revelations Cited.

"Revelations of the Dies committee show that foreign powers are seeking to undermine and overthrow our country by war and revolution. When a dictator country goes to war against a neutral nation it picks out the most accomplished liars, thieves, and characterless individuals and organizes what is called a Fifth column.

"This Fifth column worms its way into the hospitality of the intended victim, poisons its weaklings into treachery, places dupe organization racketeers in key positions, and signals for the guns."

David B. Gann, an attorney, who is chairman of the finance committee, wrote:

"There was a time when saner Germany had Hitler and some of his barroom followers in jail. Being civilized and imbued with the same spirit of liberty we enjoy, they let him go instead of shooting him—and he shot them.

Lenin Fooled Russians.

"Cultured Russia did not take very seriously the following of Lenin. What could such an uncouth, illiterate, petty minority do to mighty Russia? Cultured Russia suffered and died except for a few poverty stricken refugees who fled to other lands.

"In the blighted and congested areas of the city where the soap box orators and the secret foreign language bunds flourish, are thousands of boys and girls exposed to the lure of mystery and power. We must save them from folly."

Other club officials include Charles Edward Brown, president; W. O. Batchelder, vice president; Donald C. Miller, secretary; Stanley G. Harris, treasurer; and B. E. Sunny, chairman of the Investment Foundation.

JARECKI RULES OUT TAX LEVIES OF 16 SUBURBS

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday ruled out as illegal the 1938 corporate tax levies of 16 suburban villages. The total held illegal was about $166,000, but resulting refunds to taxpayers would be only about one-tenth of this sum, because only a small proportion of taxpayers filed objections, attorneys said. Judge Jarecki set May 28 for village attorneys to object to the rulings.

The levies were voided on the ground that the villages levied from 2 to 15 times in excess of the maximum legal rate of 66 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

The table below shows the villages involved, their original 1938 levies, and the rate produced per $100 valuation:

Village—	Total levy.	Rate.
Broad View	$ 17,136	$1.72
Calumet City	61,660	1.35
Calumet Park	10,185	1.72
Chicago Ridge	5,827	1.19
Dolton	38,295	2.00
Forest View	2,711	2.38
Franklin Park	33,678	1.70
Lyons	34,747	2.18
Melrose Park	106,970	2.37
Morton Grove	45,500	2.76
Oak Lawn	16,161	1.31
Phoenix	38,050	9.32
River Grove	25,465	1.77
South Holland	17,325	2.02
Stickney	40,650	3.66
Summit	73,974	3.40

REFUGEES' AGENT SLAIN; HIS BODY IS DISMEMBERED

Live Stock Buyer's Link to Immigrants Bared.

Sterling, Ill., May 16 [Special].—Police of Sterling and Aurora tonight were investigating the mystery of Albert Rosenbusch, 55 years old, parts of whose dismembered body were found in the Rock river near here last Friday and Sunday.

Albert Rosenbusch.

Rosenbusch disappeared late on the night of April 6. Two arms and a leg, which lodged against a hydro-electric dam south of here last week-end were identified thru scars and a signet ring by Otis Esterbrook and Joseph Eisele, his former employés.

A Double Character.

The victim, who lived in a cottage east of town, was known to Sterling people as a meat peddler in poor circumstances. But to Jewish refugees of the Chicago area and beyond he was known as the influential agent who had gotten many of them out of Germany; a man who had given much time and money to this work.

To Sterling people he was a man who lived in a rented house and drove a mortgaged truck. He bought animals from farmers, butchered them himself, and sold the meat to small retailers. It was with dressed meat in the truck that he left his home late on the night of April 6. The abandoned machine was found in Aurora two days later.

The meat was gone, as well a set of butchering knives which Rosenbusch usually carried. In the truck cab, however, was found a handbag containing personal effects and a Berlin cablegram, in German, to which little note was given at the time.

Cablegram Translated.

Translated yesterday, the cablegram read:

"Ellen Wolff, Milwaukee, friend of Renate Byk, Berlin, also informed of possibility of emigration. Our cable March 12 unanswered. Paid in $400 to $600 for Shanghai to Hias, New York. Zedakah."

[Hias, mentioned in the cablegram, stands for Hebrew International Aid society. Shanghai is a possible reference to the fact that some refugees have been sent there temporarily because quotas for immigrants here were filled. The signature, Zedakah, is a Hebrew immigrant word corresponding to the English word charity.]

In Milwaukee, Ellen Wolff, 19 years old,, and her mother, Rita—both refugees from Germany—were terrified at the news of Rosenbusch's death. They said they have been living in terror of molestation by Nazi agents.

Tho Rosenbusch did not arrange for the escape of the Wolffs from Germany, his name is widely known among refugees in Milwaukee and Chicago, Ellen declared. She added:

"He has brought many of us over. I met him in Green Bay, Wis,, where we first lived in America, and I asked him to help rescue my friend, Renate Byk. He was doing so."

Thru friends of the slain man at Peoria it was learned that among others he had brought over Dr. Alice D. Hummell, now an interne in the Peoria State hospital, Dr. Hummell said:

"I understand he has brought scores of our people to this country."

Police Chief's Theory.

Police Chief Curtis Bucher of Sterling declared that if Rosenbusch had been killed in the vicinity of that town the parts of his body must have been dropped into Rock river off one of the two bridges at Dixon. If dropped above Dixon they would have lodged on another hydro-electric dam there. If dropped nearer Sterling they would have been found sooner, he reasoned.

The slain man's wife was understood tonight to be on her way here from Chicago, where she lived for a time with a brother, Dr. Lester D. Kaplan, and his wife.

Mystery Points

Investigation of the death of a wealthy farmer was begun after parts of his dismembered body were found in Rock river at Sterling (1). The victim's truck was found abandoned in Aurora (2).

2 YOUNG HOLDUP SLAYERS GO TO DEATH IN CHAIR

Pal Is Granted Reprieve by Gov. Horner.

Two young holdup men who committed murder went to their death in the electric chair in the county jail early today, one penitently expressing sorrow for his crime, the other protesting his innocence.

The killers executed were Victor Nukowski, 24 years old, and Frank Michalowski, 25. They died for the fatal shooting of Viggo Peterson, 64, in a robbery in his tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue last October.

Horner Grants Stay to One.

A third man temporarily escaped their fate by a last hour reprieve. He is Henry Drewek 22, convicted in the same crime. He was granted a stay to June 21 by Gov. Horner.

Nukowski and Michalowski accepted their doom stoically. Nukowski was led to the chair first, strapped in in 30 seconds at 1:06½ a. m., and pronounced dead at 1:13 a. m. Three minutes later Michalowski was strapped in the chair. He was pronounced dead at 1:23 a. m.

As Nukowski marched to the execution room he told Warden Frank Sain that he was innocent. Michalowski on his last march said, "I am sorry. Please be sure and tell Mrs. Peterson."

Victim's Sons Look On.

Peterson's three sons—Viggo Jr., George, and Albert—were among the 75 spectators and jail attachés who witnessed the execution. They had no comment to make. The double electrocution was superintended by Warden Sain and Assistant Deptuy Sheriff Edwin Olson. Nukowski and Michalowski were the 42d and 43d killers to die in the chair since hanging was abolished in 1929.

Nukowski, Michalowski, and Drewek were convicted last Dec. 9 by a jury of men and women—the first death penalty meted out by a mixed jury in the Criminal court. Insanity appeals—continued up to as late as yesterday—failed. Final hope was placed with Gov. Horner. He gave his answer yesterday, turning down the pleas for communitation for Nukowski and Michalowski, but granting the June stay to Drewek on recommendation of the pardon board to allow a further investigation of his case.

Two Go to Death

2 CLEARED AFTER LIE TESTS IN POLICE BOMBING

Louis Spinnelli, 34 years old, 1144 Randolph street, Oak Park, and Edward Johnson, 605 Clinton avenue, River Forest, yesterday were cleared of suspicion in the attempted assassination April 3 of Policeman Walter Gray of River Forest by a dynamite bomb. Police released them after both had taken lie detector tests.

Louis Spinnelli.

Spinnelli was taken into custody after 350 sticks of dynamite were found in a private garage in Oak Park owned by Johnson, a landscape gardener and his former employer. Spinnelli had been arrested for reckless driving by Policeman Gray a few weeks before the bombing.

SPURNED SUITOR IS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT TO KILL

Francis McCurrie, assistant state's attorney, late yesterday ordered that Frank D. Huser, 46 years old, be booked on a charge of assault with intent to kill Miss Shirley Melgard, 24. This was done after an application for Huser's release was filed.

Miss Melgard, daughter of Al Melgard, organist for the Chicago Stadium, was shot in the nose by a man who entered her bedroom in her home at 2318 West 36th street early Wednesday. She identified Huser, who was arrested in his home at 6613 Normal boulevard.

Huser denied the attack, but admitted Miss Melgard had returned an engagement ring he had given to her.

Bandit Fires When Woman Tries to Foil Auto Holdup

One of two Negro bandits fired a warning shot last night at Mrs. Mabel Mudge, 5704 North Campbell avenue, and Mrs. Helen Sorenson, 4549 North Monticello avenue, as they sat in their car in front of 3140 Indiana avenue. The bandit fired when Mrs. Sorenson tried to shut a car window. She was robbed of $15 and a ring valued at $150. Mrs. Mudge was robbed of $5.

BANDIT SUSPECT FLEES, BUT POLICE BLOCK HIM BY SETTING UP A TRAP

Steve Hirth, accused as a bandit and automobile thief, yesterday broke away from a detective to whom he was handcuffed and escaped from a squad car at Roosevelt road and Blue Island avenue. A radio alarm brought enough squads to blockade the neighborhood. Hirth, who is 21 years old, soon was recaptured in a basement two blocks away at 1018 Blue Island avenue.

Steve Hirth.

Hirth, who escaped a month ago in a police chase that brought the capture of two gunman comrades, was seized by Sergt. Timothy O'Connor and his squad last Monday. Yesterday the squad started to the Criminal Courts building with him from the detective bureau. Hirth was handcuffed to Detective Joseph Logsden, but when the prisoner made his break the handcuff on the detective's wrist slipped off.

Adamowski Gets Back Old Job with Election Board

State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski was renamed attorney for the board of election commissioners yesterday. He resigned the post last February to run unsuccessfully for the Democratic senatorial nomination. The job pays $7,500 a year.

YOUNG MOTHER TELLS SLAYING STORY TO JURY

Mind Blank on Shooting, She Testifies.

Mrs. Aino Orgo Tossavainen yesterday told the story, in the court of Judge Joseph Graber, of how she killed Mrs. Mabel Buchanan in the Juvenile court building on March 13. A thin wisp of a woman, only 25 years old, she is on trial for murder before a jury of seven men and five women.

On the details of the actual shooting Mrs. Tossavainen was more than vague. She said she didn't remember firing the pistol she had concealed in a muff, altho the events preceding the act were quite clear in her mind.

Tells Poverty Stricken Life.

Her testimony included the record of a poverty stricken life, her two marriages, and the birth and babyhood of her daughter, Taimi, now 4 years old. It was after a quarrel with Mrs. Buchanan, court-appointed custodian of the child, that the killing occurred.

The defendant said that on March 12, without funds, she was compelled to give up her room. Thru the night, she said, she walked the streets, carrying her pistol "for protection." Then, she said, she went to the Juvenile court building, where a hearing on Taimi's custody was to be held.

She continued: "Mrs. Buchanan came in. I said to her, 'Please tell the judge today you are willing to give up my baby. You can get another one to board and I haven't had Taimi for 10 months.' She pushed my child further away from me and said she hadn't anything to do with it. I knew I had lost Taimi forever."

Insanity Plea Prepared.

Mrs. Tossavainen, whose attorneys have indicated they will ask her acquittal on the ground of temporary insanity, then denied knowing anything about the shooting. The state contends the killing was premeditated.

On cross examination Assistant State's Attorney Irwin Clorfene asked if she hadn't signed a statement giving the full story of the gunplay. She replied that she signed what she was led into saying.

Attorney Robert Romano for the defense put two expert witnesses on the stand. One, Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the county behavior clinic, testified that Mrs. Tossavainen is now sane. The other, Dr. Yetta Scheftel, a psychiatrist, expressed the opinion the defendant did not know right from wrong at the time of the shooting. Closing arguments will be hear today, and it is expected the case will go to the jury in the afternoon.

SKIDMORE AND 12 OTHERS ABANDON NOT GUILTY PLEAS

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday allowed William R. Skidmore and William R. Johnson, reputed gambling czars, and eleven henchmen, to withdraw pleas of not guilty to indictments charging violation of the income tax laws. This was done to permit attorneys for the defendants to file various preliminary motions, seeking dismissal of the indictments, which will be argued on May 27. The trial date previously had been set for Aug. 27. None of the defendants was in court.

PROTEST DELAYS IN HOTEL OWNER FIRE DEATH TRIAL

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, said yesterday his office would object to any further continuances in the case of Reuben Fischer, owner of the Hotel Center, 1422 Madison street, in which eight persons were killed in a fire two years ago. Fischer is charged with violating fire safety ordinances.

On Wednesday Judge Erwin Hasten in municipal court granted Fischer his 18th continuance in the case. The delay was allowed when Fischer reported he was installing safety equipment in the hotel. Last Oct. 11, Fischer was fined $200 but was granted a new trial by Judge Victor A. Kula.

Hodes yesterday directed Michael Rosinia, head of the city ordinance enforcing division, to demand trial when the case is called on May 22.

3 OTHER VICTIMS ACCUSE $20,000 ROBBERY SUSPECT

Three robbery complaints were brought yesterday against Joseph Weisbrod, 26 years old, one of four men held by Albany Park police for the $20,000 robbery of a gambling place at Toledo, O. The others held are Robert Goldberg, 21; Sol Spilky, 20, and Morris Henkin, 23. The Chicago complainants are Clarence Lipmann, 4507 North Long avenue, who identified Weisbrod as the man who robbed him of $2,000; Elmer Iverson, 4701 North Kedzie avenue, who lost $408, and Joe Viga, 4629½ Broadway, who said Weisbrod and Goldberg robbed him of $1,000. Police said Weisbrod and Goldberg admitted the robberies.

Negro Doctor Found Slain in Office; Patient Sought

Dr. Robert A. Ware, colored, an inspector for the board of health since 1917, was found slain yesterday in his office at 4358 South State street. He had been shot twice. The police are seeking James Robert Lee, a former patient who was seen leaving the doctor's office. Lee later told a nearby storekeeper he shot a man, police said.

TRIAL OF GROCER IN WINE SALE TO MINOR NEAR JURY

Testimony was completed yesterday in the trial of Mike Feldman, owner of a grocery at 324 East Pershing road, on a charge of selling liquor to a 17 year old pupil at the Wendell Phillips High school, less than a block away. Judge Frank E. Donoghue will give the case to the jury of eight men and four women in Municipal court today. The pupil, Margaret Johnson, colored, said she bought a pint of wine from Feldman on April 4 for 25 cents. Feldman denied the charge. If found guilty, he faces a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine or six months in jail. His store license has been revoked, but he has an appeal pending.

Drop 2 Year Old Robbery Case Against Store Owner

A two year old charge of robbery against Robert T. Kiley, 41 years old, 3806 Armitage avenue, was nolle prossed yesterday before Judge John V. McCorlmick in the Felony court. Witnesses to the $700 robbery of the Heileman Brewing company, 1561 South Union avenue on Oct. 29, 1937, were unable to identify Kiley, police said. Kiley, who has served two prison terms, operates a delicatessen.

Jury Expected to Get Marks Bomb Case Today

Plymouth, Ind., May 16.—Both state and defense rested today in the trial of John A. Marks, of Michigan City, charged with conspiracy to commit a felony in bombing of Indiana and Michigan Electric company power lines. Judge John W. Kitch gave each side three hours for closing arguments tomorrow. The jury is expected to get the case late in the afternoon. A half hour cross examination of Marks this morning failed to change his testimony in which he denied any part in the bombing.

THE NEW ARMS PROGRAM.

Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress on the armament of the country may be taken as a welcome indication that at last he is awakening to the situation and its dangers. Tho in the last decade our government has spent 8½ billion dollars on the army and navy, there is little today to show for all this outlay.

The message stressed the shortage of airplanes. Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for an air fleet of 50,000 ships and a productive capacity of 50,000 ships a year will meet with very general approval even tho his argument in justification of this program may be regarded as somewhat strained. The high speed of modern airplanes, as he said, has narrowed the oceans, but it does not follow from the fact that Kansas City is only a few hours from Tampico that Kansas City is likely to be threatened in the near future by bombers based on Tampico.

The German army today is making a gigantic effort and is accepting stupendous losses in order to win air bases which are only a hundred miles or so nearer to England's vital centers than the bases the Germans have always possessed. The farther a bomber has to fly to reach its objective the less its destructive power becomes, and a hundred miles is still a long distance in this sense. Carrying capacity which would otherwise be devoted to bombs must be used for gasoline. A few hundred extra miles of travel can draw much of the sting from the air raider.

The air program laid down by the President is nevertheless welcome, if late. If this country intends to guard its own security and the security of the rest of the western hemisphere we must have the means to make our will effective. Our position on our side of the oceans must be so strong that it cannot be challenged by any nation or any conceivable combination of nations.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke of training large numbers of flyers and a far larger personnel for ground crews; these proposals also will command general approval. He passed rather rapidly over the lack of artillery, ammunition, small arms, tanks, antiaircraft weapons, and other items, tho the need for these tools of war is quite as great as the need for planes. It is to be hoped and expected that the program will be a balanced one and that the other items, which are perhaps less spectacular than airplanes, but no less vital to the defense of the country, will not be overlooked or neglected.

There was nothing in the message to suggest a speeding up of factory and ship building operations, but this point, it was subsequently explained, was omitted by oversight from the spoken version of the message and is contained in the written document. Certainly no measures which would serve to hasten our preparation should be overlooked.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say where the money for the armament program may be found. The omission is to be regretted. The problem must be faced sooner or later and the sooner the better. An obvious solution would be the elimination of the wasteful and less essential expenditures of government.

ADMINISTRATIVE ABSOLUTISM.

The National Labor Relations board, in the opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco, has a desire for power "to be expected in a philosophy of administrative absolutism." This is not the first time the practices of the labor board have been described in such terms by a federal Court of Appeals. These courts have not been influenced to any large extent by Mr. Roosevelt's reconstruction of the judiciary to bring them in line with New Deal policies.

In the California case in which the opinion was given it was found that the labor board had ordered the disestablishment of a company union in an electric motors plant in Los Angeles without giving the union an opportunity to defend itself, thereby denying the members their civil liberties. The labor board, in functioning, the court found, as "accuser, prosecutor, judge, and self-proposed executioner," had disposed of this union without giving it notice, without making it a party to the action, or providing an opportunity for it to be heard in the proceedings.

The board wiped the union out arbitrarily because it did not approve that form of organization and its decision was imposed upon the workers whether they liked it or not. The court found that this was a denial of the rights of the employés as citizens and a sample of "the kind of administrative absolutism denounced in democratic assemblies in America as characteristic of the totalitarianism of the central European powers."

This characterization of the labor board practices is applicable to nearly all the administrative law set up by the New Deal in carrying out its program of economic, political, and social reform. The new agencies of government tend toward autocracy and absolutism because without these prerogatives they are unable to function. A regard for the rights of the citizen does not fit in the new scheme because it too much restricts the authority which requires obedience and not opposition. The Court of Appeals in California has given a broad definition of New Deal government, describing its essential feature.

SECOND RATE ARMIES AREN'T ARMIES.

When the German army crossed the Polish border, Sept. 1, the invaded country had a military rating of 2 million men. Poland was supposed to be prepared for war. Its controversy with the Nazis had been acute for nearly a year and critical for several months. Within three weeks the Polish forces had been destroyed, dispersed, or captured, and the country in a defenseless condition was at the mercy of the invaders.

The Polish troops did not lack courage or fighting qualities. Their governmental leaders were more stubborn in negotiation than in conflict. They had deceived themselves and had been deceived by others. One deception was sufficient to be fatal. Poland had soldiers but it didn't have an army.

Overnight, in early April of this year, Denmark was occupied by a quick Nazi landing, and Norway so successfully invaded that the Germans needed only two weeks to extend their occupation over the greater part of the country in which there were means of communication. Nothing they occupied in the first descent has been recovered.

Overnight, a month later, Luxemburg, Belgium, and the Netherlands were swarmed upon by land, water, and sea, and in five days the survivors of a Dutch army of 400,000 men were ordered by their commander in chief to lay down their arms and quit fighting. The struggle had become hopeless and the losses terrible. The Netherlands had been on guard and on the alert for nearly a year.

Altho surprise and the enemy hidden within had given the initial advantage to the invaders, there was nothing unexpected in this sudden turn of the war. The Dutch army was mobilized and it was willing to die in defense of its country. As in the case of Poland, it wasn't lack of courage, altho strange things happened which are not yet explained.

Modern warfare as the Germans have organized and equipped it gives the unprepared, the insufficiently equipped, and unintelligently organized enemy no chance whatever. The inferior army disappears almost immediately. The disparity in forces seems almost as great as that between the machine gunner and the man with a bow and arrow. When such unequal forces come together it isn't a battle, it's a massacre.

When the American expeditionary force went to France in 1917, the first units were the regular troops of the United States, with the 1st division leading off. These troops were in training and in quiet sectors in France 10 months before Gen. Pershing thought they were prepared for combat duty. It is true that later American soldiers, some of whom hadn't been in a uniform more than a month, were thrown into the Argonne as the initial assault troops, but the first of the A. E. F., being the cream of America's standing army at the time, needed nearly a year's training before the commander in chief wanted to give them the test of a major battle. When it came, these divisions fought with all the brilliance to be expected of an American army at its best.

Gen. Drum has called the attention of the nation to the fact that we now, on this continent, have a first line combat force of not more than 80,000 men. They are not equipped to withstand troops such as are fighting now in France. They are about the equivalent of the A. E. F. in 1917. The fate of armies in Europe since September, 1939, should be studied and restudied by every one responsible for the defense of this country.

TURN THE C. C. C. OVER TO THE ARMY.

The civilian conservation corps, or at least that portion of its members who can meet the higher physical and mental standards of the army, should be drilled and incorporated into the army.

The C. C. C. has met less criticism than any other of the relief projects of the Roosevelt administration largely because it has been administered by the army. The army's control, however, has been extremely limited. It has had nothing to say about the work projects, some of which have been useful and some of which have not. It has not had the same power of discipline that it has over its own personnel, but nevertheless it has been the patient and frequently gifted administration of C. C. C. camps by regular and reserve officers that has kept the corps comparatively free from scandal.

The army has had little if anything to say about the instruction of the enrollees. That has been monopolized by the New Dealers at Washington. The army control should be widened. The members of the corps should be drilled, and instead of being taught New Deal cynicism should be given courses in West Point loyalty.

SPRING IN THESE PARTS.

With the thermometer at 39 the mosquito abatement crews on the north shore were spraying the ponds and ditches, probably to keep ice from forming and to give the mosquito a sporting chance. The wild plums blossomed at 85 and took a 45 degree drop overnight. It was helpful that they were wild before that happened. They were savage afterward. So also was the citizen who stepped into the high eighties in his winter clothes and into the low forties in his summer weights.

The oriole is flashing about in the thickets above the trilliums, blue bells, and violets. The shad is blossoming alongside the plum. The spring bonnet is gayly trimmed and needs only ear muffs and a fur tippet, a gargle, and something the doctor says will clear out the head.

Editorial of the Day

WINDFALL.

[Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune.]

You know that feeling: you've gotten an old vest out of the closet to wear in doing a little work in the garden, and you find a $5 bill in the pocket. It's a lovely feeling.

Boston has it today. It came unexpectedly on a little windfall of $8,000,000.

A squad of WPA workers have been making a four year search of old wills. And they unearthed $8,000,000 originally bequeathed to public charities, but which thru neglect or oversight were never paid.

Trustees are now being made to pay up, and in many cases the benefactions will be helpful in holding down taxes.

Any community which suspects that its old Probate court vests contain forgotten caches of this kind had better set a squad to rummaging thru its municipal closets.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

O, ELMER! WHERE'S ELMER?

You may have heard that the New York World's Fair, seeking to get rid of its high hat in its second summer, is making a play for the typical American of the hinterlands, and is jocosely addressing him as "Elmer." Billboards on the highways leading to the island of Manhattan are being plastered with lithographs of this mythical person, wearing a bow tie and spectacles, and with his thumbs tucked into the sleeve holes of his vest. These pictures proclaim or strongly intimate, that New York will welcome this unsophisticated American biped with open arms.

In our opinion, this stroke of propaganda outsmarts itself. It reeks of false good fellowship and Broadway flipness. It is likely to give "Elmer," even if he is eager to go to the fair, a pain in the neck.

The "Elmer" gag, of American Legion folklore, has worn thin. Chicago can testify that at the last convention of the Legion, "Elmer" had become obsolete. His proper place today is a small niche in the pantheon of boredom.

Moreover, Elmer is not a typical American name. True, there is a fair scattering of Elmers over the land, but they are lost among the Toms, Dicks, and Harrys, the Jacks, Jims, and Bills. The most common given name among American names of the rising generation appears to be Bob, or Robert for long.

In addition, Elmer is not a comic name. There is nothing "hick" or "rube" or small townish about it. It is a contraction of the ancient Anglo-Saxon Ethelmer, and like many other masculine names it means "noble" or "excellent." It has a martial connotation also, for it refers to the helmet of knighthood. In the Scandinavian languages it appears as the fine name Hjalmar, a helmeted warrior.

New York, the big show town, should know that in show business it is not smart to kid the customers. That is the first law of the box office. In fact, it's elmer-entary.

How to Review 'Gone with the Wind'—III.

[Last instalment of national prize winning review of the movie epic about Scarlett and Rhett. The winner—Jack Tarver of the Toombs County Democrat, Lyons, Ga.]

Anyway, the south lost the war again in the picture [what could you expect with a lot of Yankee producers?] and Scarlett married Rhett just to get even with him. Their married life was just like sitting in hellfire and listening to the heavenly choir. Finally, after Melanie died, Scarlett realized that she didn't love Ashley but Rhett. Scarlett was as changeable as a baby's underwear. However, Rhett had had enough of her foolishness and when she told him, he says, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn." Neither by this time, did the audience. They were glad to see the end, their own having become more numb than somewhat.

A Loud Cry of "Kill the Umpires!"

This column's favorite agin-the-critics drama critic, Eugene Burr of the Billboard, speaks his mind on the subject of the latest prize winning play as follows:

"I persist in thinking that 'The Time of Your Life' merely presented an orgy of false, blatant, and utterly insincere emotionalism, and that the honor that has been accorded it places an astounding premium upon incompetence."

HER MIND'S MADE UP.

or shoot a golf game under par
don't want to look like miss lamarr

THE PLIGHT OF THE THIN MAN.

WHILE no one would choose corpulence as the ideal—few indeed will seek to merit the description "thin as a lath." To most of us, attractive figures carry about the poundage which we term average or normal. The modern athletic young man or woman—in top form—is slightly below this mean weight. "Spareness" characterized the knights of old, and the Roman gladiators, while the Spartans considered it an outstanding virtue.

Apparently we are about to recover from the "slimming" fad which brought so much harm to our school and college girls; and the trend now is toward curves and away from sharp angles.

The Jack Spratt type of build rarely typifies endurance and well being. It fails to provide sufficient reserve. On the other hand, we must admit that there are a few wiry individuals who possess extraordinary strength.

Of course, we resemble our parents not only in features but in form, disposition, and mental powers. But the one who is markedly emaciated is usually blessed with many undesirable symptoms—irritability, nervousness, excessive sweating, and rapid fatigability. While certain glandular conditions fit this picture, a careful check may demonstrate that the output from these depots is adequate.

In attempting to conquer a tendency to underweight we must first of all look for disease. After we have assured ourselves that the heart, lungs, kidneys, and all vital organs are performing as they should, attention may then be directed to the main issue—namely, food. Now, a large appetite may destroy digestion. All too frequently voracious feeders dissolve and absorb but a fraction of what they consume. No. 1 on the benefit program, then, is to make sure that the diet is well balanced; that it contains all the necessary elements, vitamins, and minerals. Calculated on the basis of height and weight, the menu may be fixed at 10 to 15 per cent over and above what the body actually demands. If the discharges show undigested starches for example—we must back up on our plan and prescribe less nutriment. In addition the digestive secretions call for investigation to determine whether a deficiency exists.

Now and then we will encounter a patient who is never hungry and the answer is small meals every two or three hours, plus generous amounts of vitamin B complex. The total quantity at each interval may not exceed four or five ounces. Nevertheless, starting at breakfast time and continuing until 10 p. m., we can arrange for the ingestion of all that is essential. For the one who asserts that he cannot take milk, numerous modifications may be tried such as peptonized, soft curd, buttermilk, eggnog, cottage cheese, or custard.

Occasionally food prejudices may be traced to allergy and the victim may be reminded of a bad experience with some edible. Instinctively that particular dish will be shunned. Gradually, however, the total calories may be increased until the patient is taking 25 per cent more than he needs. Equally gradually will avoirdupois rise.

Sometimes insulin will be helpful as it will enable the person to take additional carbohydrates. But the schedule of injections must be carefully supervised by the physician. Plenty of starches will be required otherwise insulin shock may be encountered. If resort to this treatment seems advisable, it is well to hospitalize the patient for a few days until the dosage has been accurately established.

We must not try to crowd the total consumption into three meals. It is far better to provide for five or six with rest periods in between. Of all the aids to digestion none is superior to lying down for an hour after eating. This may be practiced two or three times during the day and—while sleep may not come at first—sooner or later the patient will relax sufficiently to doze off.

FACTORS IN DISEASE.

O. P. writes: Is every disease caused by a germ?

REPLY.

No. Some are due to food or vitamin deficiencies, such as rickets, scurvy, beriberi, etc. Others are attributed to the failure of glandular secretions [hormones]. Degenerative processes should be considered. A fair amount of heart and kidney trouble comes from wear and tear, indiscretions, worry, strain, etc. Viruses are responsible for many maladies, such as smallpox, measles, and poliomyelitis. The guilty particles are too small to be seen and identified, altho we know much about their behavior. The causes of certain other ailments are as yet unknown.

LAXATIVES.

A. C. writes: Why are laxatives advised against when appendicitis is suspected?

REPLY.

When the intestine—which is a thin, hollow tube—becomes inflamed, rest is essential for healing. Laxatives produce violent contractions [movements]. If the appendix has become abscessed, a single wave passing over the region may rupture the wall, liberating pus into the abdominal cavity. Thereafter the battle is on with peritonitis.

STOP FROWNING.

N. M. writes: I have a persistent frown line between my eyebrows. I have used wrinkle plasters and massage, but it seems to be getting worse. It makes me self-conscious. Can it be removed surgically?

REPLY.

A perpetual frown may characterize one's disposition. Look on the bright side of life and—after a time—you will forget to knit your brows. Occasionaly poor vision is responsible. An eye examination is suggested.

TODAY IN HISTORY

May 17, 1814

Norway adopted a constitution modeled after those of the United States and France and proclaimed her independence shortly after being ceded to Sweden by Denmark. Nevertheless, for many years to come Norway submitted to recognition as a semi-independent state under a common king with Sweden. This union was discontinued in 1905. The 1814 date, however, is celebrated as Norwegian independence day.

ABOUT DELINQUENT TAXES.

Chicago, May 10.—Your correspondent, Mr. Steve Kostelnik, has reasonable grounds for wondering why he should have paid $900 in taxes on the lot he bought 15 years ago. If he is in a like position with most other owners of vacant property in Chicago the $900 is more than his land is worth today, and it is to be feared the public officials who have the pleasure of spending his money offer little appreciation for his generosity.

The only defense the owners of small properties have to inequitable assessments, illegal levies, and exorbitant public expenditures is the refusal, either voluntary or involuntary, to pay taxes.

I wonder if the whole question of delinquent taxes is not considerably overemphasized. For the years 1928 thru 1935 the total delinquency on real estate was $88,000,000, which is approximately 7% of the total amount levied. And $33,000,000 of this was for 1929 and 1930, when the levies were so enormous that taxpayers were left breathless and exhausted. For 1931, when the levy on real estate was reduced from $221,000,000 to $180,000,000 the delinquency dropped to $5,000,000, or less than 3% of the total real estate levy.

The alarming condition is that the delinquency in personal property tax collections for the years from 1928 thru 1935 amounts to $185,000,000, equal to approximately 40% of the total levy. Would you say that the county government should buy in all of the personal property in towns where taxes have not been paid?

Tax delinquencies are the bad debts of poorly managed municipal government and the blame for them should be placed at the proper source, not upon the overburdened property owners. Private business settles its uncollectable bad debts by compromise, to give an old customer a chance to rebuild himself and become a good customer again. Couldn't public business well follow in the same line? Shouldn't Messrs. Courtney and Kearney be encouraged to conclude their program of liquidation with a minimum amount of political interference? You will remember the Skarda act and the unfortunate results which followed that effort to turn private property over to public administration.

MORGAN L. FITCH.
President Chicago Real Estate Board.

ISOLATION PROPAGANDA.

Sheyboygan, Wis., May 13.—I'd like to say, regarding some letters in the Voice of the People, that there is a type of propaganda just as dangerous as that advocating war, and that is proposals that we can and should isolate ourselves. As a matter of fact it's more dangerous, because it's more subtle.

If we made a mistake in the last war by sticking our neck out we are now making another by leaning over backward and refusing to look facts in the face. What with Nazis planted in South America, Mexico, and even in our own household of America, we will be in real danger in spite of those who would lull us to sleep with their propaganda of false security. They are worse than the war agitators. I've five members of my immediate family who are all of war age, so I wouldn't be one who would go unscathed if war comes, and I don't like war either, but we better wake up and ask ourselves who will help us if Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin conquer Europe?

B. M. BURNS.

A LOST DEMOCRATIC VOTE.

Chicago, May 15.—I should like to have our senators from Illinois, my representative in congress, Mr. Schuetz, and possibly Mayor Kelly look over my shoulder and read this letter to you. I have been voting the Democratic ticket for 25 years. My father was a Bryan man. My grandfather was a Cleveland man. I followed along and voted for Mr. Roosevelt. My first vote was cast for Wilson. I am voting for all Republican candidates from now on.

I do not expect to find any perfection in the Republicans, but I cannot vote for a party that indorses the policies of Mr. Roosevelt with respect to our foreign affairs. He has a right to his own opinion, as I have to mine, but it might be of interest to Democratic leaders to know that his meddling attitude has made a Republican of a lifelong Democrat.

A. C.

WHAT'S HAPPENING HERE?

Chicago, May 15.—What is happening in this country? Guests at expensive parties toasting "his majesty"; leader of a religious group saying "it's America's duty" to "give immediate material assistance" to the allies.

Is this the United States of America or the United Colonies—Protectorate of His Majesty George VI.? I would recommend a good book on American history for these pro-English sympathizers. It would take some of the shine off the armor of England, the crusader for human rights.

ANDREW A. HAY.

MORE DIVIDED LOYALTIES.

Chicago, May 14.—The American communists and the American Nazis are rightfully condemned for having their feet and stomachs in this country while their hearts are in Moscow and Berlin. But the divided loyalty displayed by our so-called social élite whose hearts are in London and Paris and who are attempting not only to underwrite the war with American blood and cash as they did in the last war mystifies the undersigned, a plain American goof, who believes only in American nationalism as propounded by Washington and Jefferson.

WILLIAM FALLON.

"THE DOLLAR YOU OWE ME."

Little River, Fla., May 4.—The cash and carry program for Great Britain was instituted by congress because there was still the debt to finish paying. If you helped a kinsman once in deep distress and found that thru an unfortunate chain of circumstances he was unable to finish repaying you a debt of money would you, if he asked again your help, stand apart from helping and sordidly say, "First, I want the dollar you owe me." Would you do that?

Great Britain has always paid her debts. Does it not then stand to reason that she would have finished repaying the world war obligation if it were not for a cause beyond her control?

If Great Britain should go down in defeat before the Hun invasion of Europe, England will be a martyred country, martyred while America, the great English speaking race in America, shamefully looked on and said, "I want the dollar you owe me."

MRS. R. K. GARNETT.

HE HAS A SOLUTION.

Chicago, May 14.—Build a factory centrally located around Chicago; produce airplanes for the protection of our country. Let the New Deal supply the cash and Henry Ford install mass production. Working three shifts daily, we can build a new city and solve the unemployment problem.

WALT SANDS.

WANTS THE LIGHTS LIT.

Chicago, May 15.—The street lights in our neighborhood have been out for about three months and when we call the city hall we are told there is a cable out and they are repairing it. The lights I speak of are in Marshfield avenue from 47th to 54th street. Can THE TRIBUNE help us?

PERSONAL SERVICES.

Chicago, May 9 [Legal Friend of the People].—I have a problem that has been on my mind a long time. A party lived with us and gave us the money to buy a house and she held the mortgage. All other papers are in our name. She has been dead several years and what I would like to know is: Can we claim this property some time, as she made her home with us several years. We have kept up the place, paid everything that was done on it, and also the taxes which are also in our name. M. H. H.

If her estate should be probated, you could file a claim and your chances of success on the claim would depend on your proof as to the nature and extent of your services and the express or implied understanding under which they were rendered.

HOUSE SPONSOR OF RELIEF CALLS WPA DISASTROUS

Woodrum Quits as Pilot of New Spending Bill.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 16.—Representative Clifton A. Woodrum of Virginia, the Democratic leader who has guided work relief appropriations totaling eight billion dollars thru the house, resigned today as pilot of relief bills.

Clifton A. Woodrum.

Surrendering guidance of the pending 1 billion 111 million dollar relief measure to Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.], Woodrum told the house that he refused to continue to support a system that did not really help the worthy unemployed.

Predicts "Sure Disaster."

Referring to the disclosures of graft and corruption in the Works Projects administration, he asserted: "It is a system that will surely lead to national economic disaster if persisted in. It is a policy that in reality endangers the security and permanency of the jobs of those who now work and support themselves.

"We are at the crossroads in relief policy. Either we now drastically change the policies and objectives of our relief setup or it is fastened upon us permanently.

"Either we start now, belatedly perhaps, to try to reach the fundamental and basic considerations involved or we drift along to bigger relief loads and into a system of government subsidies of individuals and of localities that will bring chaos and confusion into the established channels of trade and industry, as well as saddle debts upon us that our children's children will not be able to pay."

A Temporary Measure.

The WPA, Woodrum noted, was set up originally as a temporary emergency agency.

"No one has ever claimed that it could be a permanent solution of the unemployment problem," he said. "We should now set about to treat the matter in its basic and fundamental aspects.

"The hearings held by the committee investigating the agency show definitely that the program has been exploited by localities and individuals; that much work has been done on private property for private gain, and that localities and states have seized upon it as a means of shifting to the federal treasury their relief burdens.

"It has been a costly program. The far-flung ramifications of the operations have required a veritable army of administrative employés and the expenditure of large sums of money in its administration."

Opposed Eight Month Scheme.

The Virginian opposed the plan to permit the $975,650,000 included in the bill for the WPA to be spent in eight months instead of being spread over a year. There was not the slightest doubt that President Roosevelt would exercise his authority to spend the entire sum within eight months, he said. Congress would then be called upon to appropriate another half billion dollars for the remaining four months.

Federal participation in work relief should be limited to the $975,650,000 for the entire year, he declared, contending the WPA should be drastically revamped by reducing at least 50 per cent of its nonrelief administrative personnel and its administrative expenses.

Heavy construction projects by the WPA should be abolished, he suggested. At least half of the sum appropriated should be allocated to a carefully considered program of public works, both federal and nonfederal, he added, the projects to be let by contract to the lowest bidder, using unemployed persons wherever possible and at prevailing rates of pay.

Corrective Amendment Planned.

Representative John Taber of New York, ranking Republican member of the appropriations committee, announced that he would offer an amendment to the bill containing a program aimed at correcting present abuses.

"The pending bill is a makeshift designed to continue the disgraceful conditions which have characterized the WPA since its beginning," he declared.

The Taber amendment would appropriate $975,650,000 for the WPA for an entire year. Not more than $3,000,000 would be available for administration. Six hundred millions would be granted to small cities, villages, and counties, and $372,650,000 to cities having a population of over 100,000. These grants would be made on the basis of a 75 per cent contribution by the federal government and a cash contribution of 25 per cent by the grantee.

"Rottenest Ever."

Commenting upon the revelations of the WPA investigating committee, Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth [R., Mass.] quoted Capt. Thomas C. Elder, a veteran of 37 years in government service as a senior investigator, who has inspected nearly every fiscal office in the United States.

"I would say without hesitation," Elder was quoted as saying, "that the WPA is the rottenest organization with which I have ever come in contact."

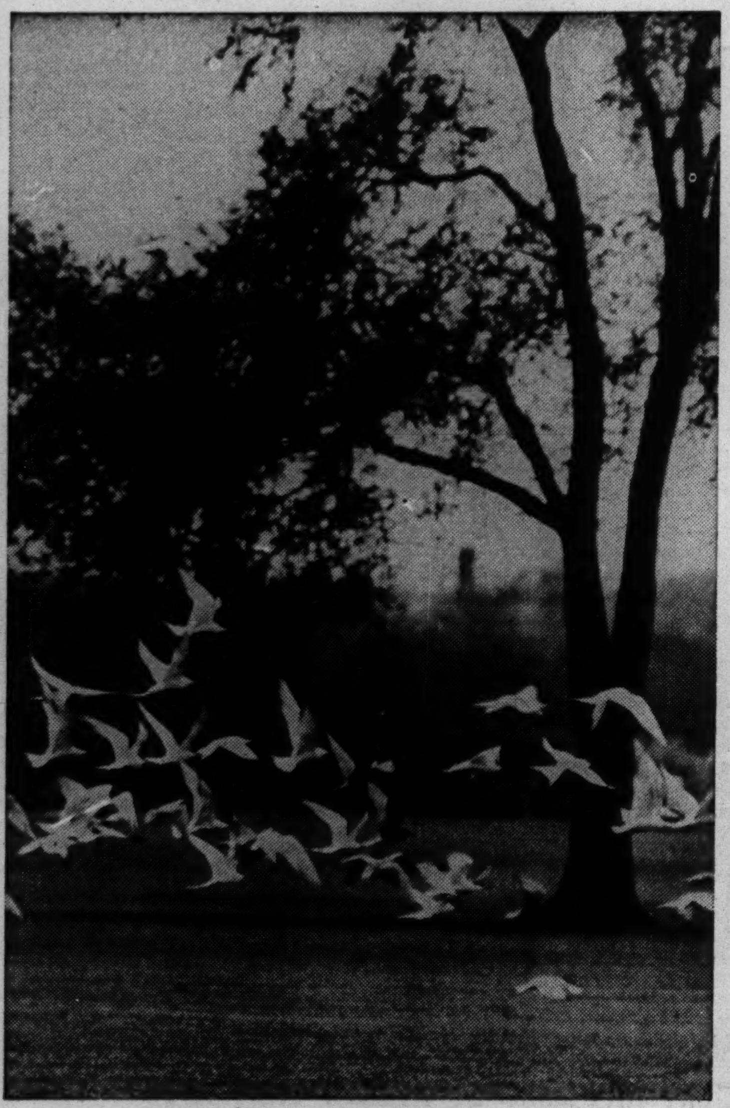
Seagulls in Columbus Park



Part of a flock of seagulls in Columbus park yesterday. The birds were driven off the lake by weather. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hunting for Food

Strollers in Columbus park yesterday spent hours watching the antics of three or four thousand gulls which wheeled and soared above the lagoon. Naturalists said the birds probably were driven from Lake Michigan by the cool and windy weather. The recent stocking of the lagoon with several truck loads of minnows also provided a lure.

Most of the birds were white with black heads. There was some doubt as to whether they were herring gulls, which frequent waters near Chicago the year around, or black headed terns migrating to their summer nesting grounds in the Hudson bay region.

Soaring several feet above the water, the birds suddenly would plummet beneath the surface, emerging a second later with minnows half devoured. One group of several hundred alighted in a cluster on the bank of the lagoon, then whirled upward in a cloud of white wings and separated. This performance was repeated several times.

ELDER-QUILICI POLL TAKEN BY BAR ASSOCIATION

Members of the Chicago Bar association are voting by mail to indicate their preference in the only June 3 election contest, between Edgar B. Elder, Republican, and George L. Quilici, Democrat, for a Municipal court vacancy. Ballots will be counted Monday, it was announced yesterday.

The poll is being taken in accordance with a resolution of the bar's board of managers stating that "it is deemed the duty of this association to express to the voters its best judgment as to the relative qualifications" of the candidates.

Elder proposed to Quilici that the one receiving the fewest votes in the bar poll withdraw from the race. Where there is no contest the law provides that the board of election commissioners may open only a portion of the polling places. Quilici did not accept. Nevertheless, the election board decided to save $225,000 by keeping most polling places closed on June 3.

JUSTICE VITAL TO DEMOCRACY, HUGHES ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes told the American Law institute today that the "dominance of a sense of justice" was essential to the survival of a democracy.

"If Democratic constitutions are to survive," he said, "it will not be simply by maintaining majority rule and by swift adaptations to the demands of the moment, but by the dominance of a sense of justice which will not long survive if judicial processes do not conserve it."

'STUDENT PRINCE' ECLIPSES WORLD OF WAR FOR HOUR

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Nearly 900 studio listeners and an enormous coast-to-coast radio audience forgot ominous war headlines last night to live for 60 minutes in a simpler and much more beguiling world.

The occasion was the production in condensed form of Sigmund Romberg's melodious operetta, "The Student Prince," as the second feature in THE TRIBUNE's new radio series, the Chicago Theater of the Air. The presentation took place in W-G-N's audience studio and was broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

It Presents Another Germany.

"The Student Prince" is a happy souvenir of a Germany in which the size of the collar on a stein of beer was sensibly regarded as a matter more important than statistics of conquest. For this and other reasons—the piece's intoxicating tunes, for example—"The Student Prince" turned out to be an especially happy choice for radio entertainment in as tumultuous a time as the present.

Last night's "Student Prince" was produced by William A. Bacher, who has to his credit a long list of successful shows, and was conducted by Henry Weber, who directs W-G-N's musical destinies as well as those of the Chicago Opera company. Marion Claire, luminary of opera, operetta, movies, and radio, had the rôle of Kathie, the appealing little waitress who gives up her prince charming in the belief that he will be happier so Peerce and Gorin Sing.

The part of the prince went to Jan Peerce, tenor of New York's Radio City Music hall, and that of his teacher, Dr. Engel, to Igor Gorin, the baritone who has so quickly made a name for himself in radio and movies and on the concert stage. The augmented W-G-N concert orchestra, the W-G-N chorus, and a staff of actors and actresses completed the production forces.

Despite sullen weather, the crowds began gathering an hour and a half before broadcast time. Once in the studio, early birds amused themselves listening to the soft music that was being piped in and chatting contentedly among themselves. Just before show time the announcer welcomed the guests to W-G-N and introduced three of the celebrities in the audience—the movie stars, Pat O'Brien and Donald Crisp, and Vice President S. Charles Einfeld of Warner Brothers.

Mrs. James G. McMillan, president of the Illinois Opera guild, was present with Mr. McMillan. The members of the guild were special guests of honor and accounted for a large part of the attendance. Mort Blumenstock of Warner Brothers was in Einfeld's party.

Heidelberg Comes to Life.

The performance was exhilarating. In the drinking songs you could actually feel the foam, in the love melodies the whole golden world of Heidelberg came temporarily to life. In the pathetic scenes the conviction was borne irresistibly that "The Student Prince" is one of the finest tear jerkers of this or any other century. The audience responded with loud applause.

The quality of the performance was due to the care with which the casting had been done, the competence and enthusiasm of every one taking part, and the momentum Bacher puts into his shows.

The third Chicago Theater of the Air presentation is scheduled for May 30, when Romberg's "Blossom Time," based on the music of Franz Schubert, will be broadcast in a one hour version. These operettas are available for production thru the courtesy of the Messrs. Shubert.

CANDIDATE TAFT WILL SPEAK IN CHICAGO TODAY

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio will press his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination in Illinois today. He will arrive at the 12th street station over the Big Four railroad at 7:45 a. m. and will be kept busy until he leaves at 10 p. m. for Topeka, Kas., for a conference with Alfred M. Landon.

Taft will breakfast at the Union League club and will leave at 10 a. m. from the Union station for Oregon, Ill., to lunch with former Gov. Frank O. Lowden. He will return to Chicago in time for a reception at the Union League from 4 to 5:30 p. m., planned especially for national convention delegates from the northern half of Illinois.

The senator will speak at a dinner in the club at 6:30. He plans to meet delegates from the southern counties at a reception in St. Louis within a few days.

$1,167,557 INCOME TAX PACT MADE IN PASCHEN CASE

A stipulated agreement that Henry Paschen, Chicago building contractor, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Caroline Paschen, owe a total of $1,167,557 in income taxes, penalties, and interest, for the years 1926 thru 1928, was entered yesterday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward in the government's civil suit. Assistant United States Attorney Paul Ziffran said the agreement was necessary to complete records of the internal revenue department before an expected out of court settlement is reached. Paschen owes $696,947 and his sister-in-law $470,610.

OPEN EAST HALF OF NEW LINCOLN PARK ROADWAY

Grade Separation to Aid Outer Drive Traffic.

The east half of the $1,200,000 grade separation in Lake Shore drive north of North avenue was opened to traffic yesterday. The rest of the separation, one of the largest of its kind in the world, will be ready in a week or less, park district officials said.

The grade separation, topped by a roadway 100 feet wide, is designed to speed traffic on the outer drive and to provide better access from State, Dearborn, and La Salle streets. The improvement, according to Otto K. Jelinek, park traffic engineer, also will eliminate jogs in the existing Lake Shore drive just north of North avenue and eliminate the bottleneck caused by the present 32 foot underpass.

Started in March, 1939.

The project was begun in March, 1939, with the aid of WPA labor. Seven hundred square yards of concrete were used to fill the concrete forms for the grade separation structure. The roadway on the grade separation will connect directly with Lake Shore drive, sometimes known as Middle drive, and the Outer [Beach] drive, north of North avenue and the Lake Shore express lanes south of North avenue.

One of the new features of the connecting drive will be three mobile fins which, at the press of a button, will disappear and reappear. Hydraulic apparatus to work these fins is now being installed and they are expected to be ready for full operation in about two weeks, park engineers said.

Changed in Rush Hours.

The fins will give the 100 foot roadway the same traffic capacity, it is estimated, as would be possible under conventional designs with a pavement 200 feet wide. The fins will be raised and lowered at various periods in the day, so that during the morning rush hours eight lanes will be available for southbound traffic and two for northbound and in the evening rush hour eight lanes for northbound and two for southbound traffic.

After the switch is made to the new system, park officials said, North avenue will end a half block west of Lake Shore drive, where a small turning circle will be constructed. The present circle drive, which swings around the ball playing field and connects with Stockton drive along the west end of the park, will be eliminated. The west lane of Lake Shore drive, south of North avenue, now used for local two way traffic, will connect with the underpass of the grade separation.

W. L. BENSON, 53, CLOTHING FIRM SECRETARY, DIES

Walter L. Benson, secretary of the Benson & Rixon Clothing company, with stores in the loop and outlying business districts, died suddenly last night in the American hospital where he had gone for observation. It is believed that his death was due to a heart attack.

Mr. Benson, who was 53 years old, and lived in Winnetka, was widely known in the clothing industry. He was a director of the Milwaukee Avenue National bank. His father, the late Paul J. Benson, founded the clothing company.

Surviving Mr. Benson are his widow, Mrs. Doris Davey Benson; two sons, Bruce and Walter J. Benson; a daughter, Mrs. James Hardy of Sterling, Ill.; a brother, George R. Benson, president of the clothing company, and two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Davey and Mrs. Ella B. Eddy. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at Rosehill cemetery from the chapel at 2800 Belmont avenue.

DAUGHTER SEEKS MODIFICATION OF ALDRICH TRUST

A daughter of the late Charles H. Aldrich asked the Circuit court yesterday to modify provisions of a trust established by her father. The trust fund was set up principally from the $633,000 fee Aldrich received from successful litigation he conducted over a period of 11 years for the L. P. Larson Jr. company against the William Wrigley Jr. company. The Wrigley concern eventually paid $1,900,000 on the charge that it had imitated the name and wrapper of a Larson chewing gum.

The daughter is Mrs. Helen Aldrich Hare of Upper Sandusky, O. She asserted that $190,000 remains in the trust and asked that her son, Cyrus, be given the share of her late sister. She asked further that her son be allowed $4,000 a year for living expenses and a college education. Mr. Aldrich, a Chicagoan, died in 1929.

Woman Stricken Fatally During Her Birthday Party

A birthday party for Miss Lillian Warden in her home at 1617 West 81st street ended in tragedy last night. Miss Warden, a correspondence clerk, was 32 years old. At the height of the party Miss Warden collapsed from a heart attack. She was pronounced dead a few minutes later by Dr. R. C. Dalka, 4800 South Wood street.

SIRE OF BRITISH ARMY, GEN. BLOOD, DIES; 97 YRS. OLD

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—Gen. Sir Bindon Blood, often called "the father of the British army," died today in London. He was 97 years old.

Blood joined the royal engineers in 1860 and was associated with the army for 80 years. Only three weeks ago he resigned as chief royal engineer of the corps of royal engineers.

"I no longer feel I am able," he explained.

His long service in the near east, India, and Africa with the army earned him the popular title of "father of the British army."

A SYMPHONY EACH WEEK

THE PURPOSE IS to encourage the greatest possible number of American families to make good music a permanent part of their lives.

TO MAKE THIS POSSIBLE
the world's greatest orchestras and conductors waived their royalties, and America's foremost music manufacturer reduced charges and profits to what it considered a minimum, in order to bring the price within the reach of every family.

NOTED EDUCATORS
in the field of music, Dr. John Erskine, Dr. Peter Dykema, Dr. Carlton Sprague Smith, Mme. Olga Samaroff Stokowski, and many others have given unstinted co-operation to encourage this movement because they feel that only through repeated HEARING of good music is it possible to learn to love good music.

CIVIC LEADERS
throughout America, members of the National Committee for Music Appreciation, headed by Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music, have heartily supported the campaign in every city, making this movement probably the most impressive campaign for good music in the history of America.

YOU GET
a symphony each week for 12 weeks at an almost incredibly small cost. See list above, and note the date of release for each symphony. There is no red tape. There are two Distribution Headquarters—65 East Lake street, and 14 North Franklin street. Hours of distribution are from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

A Very Sincere Message to the True Music Lovers of Chicago

Once in a long while, true greatness, true genius, true inspiration—that extra something that means so much to those who love and understand music—evidences itself in a particular performance. EXACTLY THAT happened in the case of the recording of the Tschaikowsky Nutcracker Suite which we begin distributing today.

It is impossible to tell you what magic or what divine spark brought this glorious masterpiece flaming into what many critics believe is the most thrilling recording ever made of this wonderful work. You have to hear it to understand this message. Once you have heard it, you, too, will be lost for words with which to describe this once-in-a-thousand-times rendition. You can hear this symphony at either headquarters, 65 East Lake street, or 14 North Franklin street.

NO ROYALTIES FOR ORCHESTRA OR CONDUCTOR

One of the world's greatest orchestras made this recording, under the direction of one of our foremost conductors. Both the orchestra and conductor waived their royalties in order to keep the cost of this masterpiece so low that every home in America could share its beauty and enchantment. A prominent music manufacturer minimized every charge and profit to what that organization considered the lowest possible operating cost. Thus it is that you can obtain this ENTIRE symphonic masterpiece for the amazingly small sum of $1.69. This is for all three double-faced 12-inch records, 6 sides.

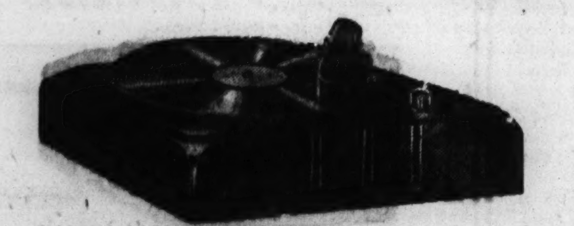
The same symphony, recorded by the same orchestra, under the direction of the same conductor, with the names of the orchestra and conductor on the records, would cost you six dollars. You get this magnificent musical masterpiece for $1.69 instead of six dollars because this campaign of music education is designed to interest millions of American families in good music, both to their benefit and the benefit of those who make the campaign possible.

The Chicago distribution is being conducted through the Chicago Society for Music Education, a non-profit organization, by Publishers Service Company, America's foremost newspaper promotion company. The Society will apportion the sums received from the sale of the recordings among the four co-operating Chicago musical organizations, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Chicago Opera, Ravinia Festival and Chicago Women's Orchestra Association, after paying for the records, and the cost of advertising and promotion.

SCHUBERT AND BEETHOVEN ALSO AVAILABLE

The Tschaikowsky symphony released today is the third of the twelve symphonies which will be distributed. The previous releases are Schubert's Symphony No. 8 in B Minor, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 in C Minor. Both of these previously released symphonies will be distributed as long as the supply lasts.

AN ELECTRIC ATTACHMENT



FOR YOUR RADIO

For those who do not have a phonograph or any other means of playing records, an electric Record-Player has been provided at very small cost thanks to the co-operation of the manufacturers. This Record-Player, durably constructed, will play all sizes and styles of records through the loudspeaker of an average radio, utilizing the volume and tone controls of your radio with crystal clarity. It is fully electric, needs no winding and operates on AC current. It can be seen on display at distribution headquarters at 65 East Lake Street and 14 North Franklin Street.

Peter Ilyitch Tschaikowsky

Tschaikowsky, the artist, was a superb musical genius—perhaps the greatest of the Russians—and an exalted member of that select group known as the world's "Master Composers."

Tschaikowsky, the man, was an enigma. Shy, introspective and at times melancholy, he was a person of contradictions. He disliked strangers, had a terror of society, yet was devoted and generous in the extreme to a few old friends and to his family.

He was born on May 7th, 1840, at Kamsko-Votinsk, Russia. His father was an Inspector of Mines, his mother a cultured French woman with some small, undeveloped musical ability. Young Peter studied law, graduated from law school and entered the Ministry of Justice, where he showed small interest in his work, but began a serious study of music which ended in his appointment as teacher of theory and harmony at the Moscow Conservatory.

To make it possible for Tschaikowsky to give all of his time to composition, Madame Madeshda von Meck—wealthy widow of a civil engineer—provided him with a yearly pension of 6,000 rubles. He gave up his post at the conservatory and settled down to a life of serious creative work.

Strangely enough he and Madame von Meck never met. Yet for years she was his "fairy godmother" and they corresponded regularly.

A nervous breakdown, from which he never fully recovered, sent Tschaikowsky on various journeys in search of health. He visited Italy, where he met notables of the musical world, and Germany, where he heard Wagner's "Ring." In 1887 he made a grand tour of Europe and four years later visited America.

In New York he conducted the Philharmonic orchestra in his own works. His four concerts in New York, one in Baltimore and one in Philadelphia were triumphant successes and paved the way for a love of his glorious music that today is nationwide.

Tschaikowsky died in St. Petersburg on November 6, 1893. He has given the world some of the most magnificent music ever created. His splendid creations exhale a haunting nostalgic tenderness which is found in the works of no other composer.

HOW TO GET YOUR RECORDS

1. Come for, or send for, your symphonies at MUSIC APPRECIATION DISTRIBUTION HEADQUARTERS, 65 East Lake Street and 14 North Franklin Street now. The office is open each day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Requests by mail will be filled in order of receipt.

2. At regular weekly intervals, on Saturday of each week, each of the 12 symphonic masterpieces will be released. The first symphony, Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B Minor, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 in C Minor are now available. Tschaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite is available today, Friday, May 17, Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor will follow on Saturday, May 25, etc., until all of the educational masterpieces provided in the campaign have been made available to the public. Notice of release date of each symphony will be printed in the public press.

3. You receive each symphony, which consists of either three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a total payment of $1.69. THIS IS NOT FOR EACH RECORD but for the COMPLETE SYMPHONY, all three or four records (six or eight sides) which comprise each symphony. The two symphonies which consist of five records (ten sides) require a payment of $2.18 for the entire symphony of all five records. The Cesar Franck D Minor Symphony, on account of its length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is the same as for any other three-record group. A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, and inclosed in record albums designed for each particular symphony, is available at a slightly higher price. These are the first pressings from the same masters enclosed in albums and featuring a portrait of the composer on the label of each record. There is little, if any, difference in playing quality. Sales tax should be added to the foregoing prices.

4. An electric Record-Player attachment, which enables these records to be played through the loudspeaker of an average radio, is available with your first or any succeeding symphonic unit. The player can be obtained for $4.75. A more elaborate instrument, the Symphonic De Luxe Model, inclosed in a walnut-finished case, is available at a higher price. If you wish delivery of your symphonies by mail, add 25 cents for shipping charges for each symphony. Add 50 cents for shipping charges if you wish a Reoord-Player shipped to you. Sales tax should be added to price quoted above.

5. Every effort will be made to supply as many symphonies as are required. In order to avoid disappointment and to enable us to have a sufficient supply on hand, please fill in and mail the Reservation Form. It does not obligate you in any way.

MAIL THE RESERVATION FORM

It does not obligate you in any way; but it DOES help the distribution staff estimate how many symphonies to have on hand.

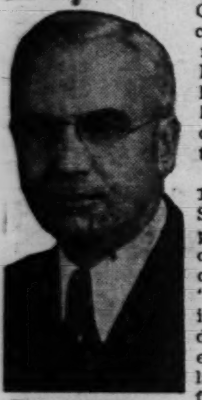
G. O. P. HAILS 80TH YEAR OF LINCOLN NOMINATION HERE

Trust Nation to the Party, Ditchburne Urges.

Republicans yesterday observed the 80th anniversary of the famous Chicago wigwam convention, which nominated Abraham Lincoln, at a luncheon in the La Salle hotel under auspices of the 1940 club.



Harry S. Ditchburne.

"Today, as in 1860," said Harry S. Ditchburne, president of the club and the principal speaker, "America again is under test to determine whether our treasured landmarks will further endure. The rest of the world's freedom is practically gone; dictators stalk boldly in other lands.

Urges G. O. P. as 1940 Choice.

"The common sense of America will turn from experimentation, economic turmoil and exploitation to the forward looking sound policies of the Republican party. The common sense of America will turn to the Republican party in 1940 to make the selection of a President and Vice President of the United States. We know the Republican party will not fail the people in its choice because it never has done so in the past.

"We Republicans of Illinois stand united to support the cause—the election of the entire Republican ticket next November."

Condemns New Deal.

Justus L. Johnson of Aurora, nominee for secretary and spokesman for the state candidates present, condemned the New Deal because "after seven and one-half years in office, it could not suggest a compromise to settle the European difficulties."

Ditchburne introduced his successful primary opponent, Judge Oscar F. Nelson, who won the nomination for state's attorney, and Nelson presented the county candidates. Former Judge Edward B. Casey did the same for the nominees for the Municipal court.

ADMITS DRIVING HIT AND RUN CAR AFTER LIE TEST

Walter Canning, 25 years old, 810 Oakley boulevard, confessed late yesterday that he was the driver of the hit and run automobile which killed Herbert Hill, 34, of 919 Madison street, at Monroe street and Racine avenue early in the morning. Policemen

THE MASSACRE
Chicago's 1940 Traffic Toll

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

Charles Wollpert and Dennis Lynch said Canning confessed after a lie detector test showed his earlier denial was false.

Canning was arrested half an hour after the accident sitting in his car at Monroe and Aberdeen streets. Police said a piece of glass found at the accident fitted a broken headlight lense on Canning's car, the front of which was spattered with blood.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 317 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 242 were killed in Chicago, where 7,821 were injured in the same period.

Seized as Counterfeiter

MRS. ETHEL LINDSEY.

Government attorneys announced yesterday that they will press for an early trial of 11 alleged counterfeiters, named in an indictment returned before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on May 1. The indictment was not made public until Wednesday when all the defendants were rounded up. One of them is Mrs. Ethel Lindsey, 28 years old, who was separated from her husband and living with one of the defendants, Floyd Wotjkieicz, at 1651 Grand avenue.

TO THE TAXPAYER BELONGS: COST OF DIVIDING SPOILS!

Machine's Patronage Boss Admits It.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 16.—William J. Walsh, patronage boss of the Democratic downstate machine, testified in response to questions today that the pay roll of his St. Nicholas hotel headquarters here, with 13 employés, is paid by taxpayers at a rate of $23,900 a year. He was a witness before a house investigation committee headed by Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island].

The committee also elicited from this member of Gov. Horner's sickroom cabinet that Cook county patronage is managed by John Owen, secretary of the Illinois athletic commission, from its office at 30 North La Salle street, Chicago.

Salary: $3,500 a Year.

Owen's job of keeping the books and records of the athletic commission was created by the legislature at a salary of $3,500.

Walsh's Democratic employment bureau was not authorized by legislature. His personal salary of $5,000 a year is carried on the pay roll of Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman. His 12 subordinates are on pay rolls of other code departments directly under the governor.

"The bureau," said Walsh, "performs a valuable public service. It keeps the traffic of job hunters from streaming thru state offices, disrupting their business. It gives every one a fair shake; the jobs are apportioned among counties in relation to their vote."

Jobs for County Chairmen.

"Some one," said Representative Schaefer O'Neill [D., Alton], a member of the committee and a friend of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, "some one implied at a previous hearing that you tried to put all Democratic county chairmen on the pay roll. Is that true?"

"If we can find a job for which a county chairman is qualified," Walsh replied, "we're anxious to place him. It's good for the organization."

This patronage boss passes on the political sponsorships of all of the 17,000 pay rollers under the governor except those under civil service. He estimated that his office had filled about 11,500 jobs in the last seven years. Sponsorships are from county chairmen.

The committee recessed until next Monday night after circularizing a letter to all code department heads asking them to appear before this group of seven representatives next week with information on how expenses might be reduced. The committee was appointed by Speaker Hugh W. Cross [R., Jerseyville] to determine how the maximum for old age assistance might be boosted from $30 to $40 a month without enactment of new taxes.

Nudelman has testified that expenditures are headed toward a $5,700,000 deficit by next July 1.

Chicagoan Gets a Year for Hit-Run Driving

St. Louis, Mo., May 16 [Special].—Nathan Blum, 5333 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, was found guilty this afternoon of leaving the scene of an automobile accident by a jury that fixed his penalty at one year in the city jail and a fine of $100.

MICHIGAN G. O. P. TO WORK TO END FOR VANDENBERG

Full Support Pledged at State Convention.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 16 [Special].—Michigan's 38 delegates to the national Republican convention will go to Philadelphia June 24 to vigorously support the nomination of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids for the presidency. This was decided at the Republican state convention here today.

Only one known advocate of the nomination of Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, who was born at Owosso, Mich., was chosen as a delegate. But even this fact apparently does not indicate any rift in the solidarity of Michigan Vandenberg sentiment. That one delegate is State Senator Herman H. Dignan of Owosso, a personal friend of Dewey. Dignan was quoted as saying he would "stand by Vandenberg as long as he has a chance."

No Second Choice Mentioned.

No word of second choice instructions was heard on the convention floor. Dewey's name was mentioned only incidentally, and no other candidate's name was heard at all. The Dewey forces in Michigan previously had announced they had no intention of trying to steal the show from Vandenberg.

Delegates-at-large chosen by the convention are Howard C. Lawrence, Grand Rapids, head of the Vandenberg movement; Gov. Luren D. Dickinson, John L. A. Galster of Petoskey, and Charles S. Mott of Flint. Alternates are George Fink of Detroit, Robert Ford of Dearborn, Congressman Roy O. Woodruff of Bay City, who will place Senator Vandenberg's name in nomination at Philadelphia, and Mrs. Alice Marshall of L'Anse.

The convention adopted a resolution instructing the Michigan delegates to work whole heartedly to obtain the presidential nomination for Senator Vandenberg.

Calls for Seasoned Leader.

"In this hour of national crisis," the resolution said, "the Republican party must provide the country with seasoned and experienced leadership which will give the American people complete confidence that the next Republican administration at Washington will keep us out of war, and restore universal prosperity.

"We are proud of the brilliant record of Michigan's senior senator thru 12 years of public service. We find in this record the assurances which the country will demand at next November's polls. His high eligibility has been proclaimed from coast to coast. He continues to stand in the forefront of national consideration. By record and experience, he is generally acknowledged to be the ablest Republican available for this nomination. His selection would assure not only a victory in November but also a successful administration in 1941.

"Michigan's official state Republican leaders united one year ago in proposing to the nation that it draft him to lead the battle of 1940. We heartily endorse this proposal and we instruct our delegates to the national convention to vigorously support the nomination of Senator Vandenberg for President of the United States."

Caught Speeding—from Police; It Costs Him $26

Willard E. Erickson, 29 years old, Wauconda, Lake county, was fined $26 yesterday and deprived of his driver's license for 60 days by Judge James M. Corcoran in Evanston. The charge was speeding—thru Evanston alleys in an effort to get away from traffic policemen.

Motorist Takes Swing at a Bee; Two Injured

Rice Lake, Wis., May 16 [Special].—Luverne Burton took a swat at a bee buzzing around his head today. Before he could recover control of his automobile, it had plunged down a 10 foot embankment. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burton, were knocked unconscious.

Chicagoan's Body Found in Canal at Boise, Idaho

The body of Lieut. Roy Rasmuson, formerly of 2903 Grace street, Chicago, was recovered yesterday from an irrigation canal at Boise, Idaho. Lieut. Rasmuson and his wife were drowned April 28 when their automobile plunged into the canal. Her body has not yet been found.

HAVE YOU TRIED TOLL HOUSE COOKIES?

They are so easy to make and your first bite will convince you that Toll House Cookies are delightfully different. You'll taste a creamy bit of rich Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a crunch of walnut in every bite. Truly a perfect combination of flavors. Try this delicious recipe tomorrow.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL TAKES WELL TO SPICES

Even Cloves and Nutmeg May Be Added.

New fruit and vegetable juice cocktails seem to be invented by the minute, but none of them makes a better dinner time curtain raiser than good old tomato juice, well seasoned and thoroly chilled.

Tomato juice takes well to seasoning. Even cloves and nutmeg may be judiciously added with other spices. Remember that tomatoes need ample salt to bring out their best flavors.

SPICED TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL.

1 quart fresh or canned tomato juice
¼ teaspoon celery salt
⅛ teaspoon onion salt
⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon marjoram
⅛ teaspoon basil
⅛ teaspoon black pepper

Combine spices and add to tomato juice. Shake well. Place in refrigerator several hours to chill thoroly. Shake well before serving.

TOMATO AND CUCUMBER COCKTAILS.

2 cups tomato juice
⅓ cup grated cucumber
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon freshly grated horseradish

Combine ingredients, mixing thoroly. Chill and stir well before using.

TOMATO-LEMON COCKTAIL.

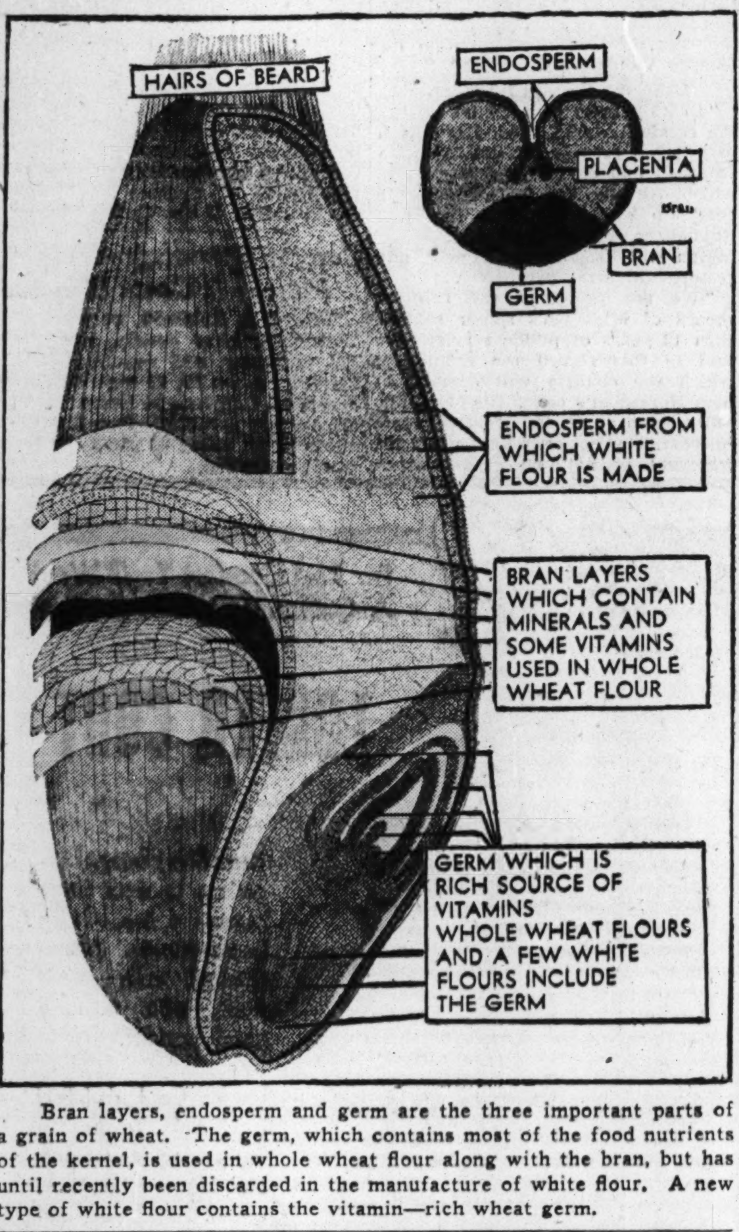
3 cups tomato juice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
6 whole cloves
⅓ cup lemon juice
½ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
Chopped candied ginger for garnish

Combine tomato juice, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Bring to boiling. Chill. Boil water, salt, and sugar together five minutes and chill. Strain tomato juice and add lemon juice, mixing well. Add chilled sugar sirup to taste and serve with bits of candied ginger for garnish.

Make Red Glaze for Tarts with Canned Cranberries

An attractive red glaze for fruit tarts can be made easily with canned cranberry sauce. Press ½ can cranberry sauce thru a fine sieve, or crush with a fork. Add ½ cup sugar and mix with 1 cup water. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly 5 minutes, or until thickened. Cool slightly and pour over sliced bananas, drained pineapple chunks, or sliced oranges in baked tart shells. Chill tarts until ready to serve. Makes enough glaze for 8 to 10 tarts.

A Grain of Wheat



Bran layers, endosperm and germ are the three important parts of a grain of wheat. The germ, which contains most of the food nutrients of the kernel, is used in whole wheat flour along with the bran, but has until recently been discarded in the manufacture of white flour. A new type of white flour contains the vitamin—rich wheat germ.

REFRIGERATOR'S BUSY SEASON IS JUST BEGINNING

Many Everyday Uses for Frozen Dishes.

The refrigerator's busy season is just beginning. Not only will it be filled to capacity with all the fresh fruits and vegetables that roll to market these days, but its motor will be humming busily to make lots of frozen desserts and salads for your table.

The frozen dishes that your automatic refrigerator puts out have dozens of everyday as well as party uses. A frozen fish or chicken salad is the mainstay of a simple spring supper. Home frozen ice creams and puddings can be simple and inexpensive or as richly extravagant as you please.

Mary Meade has two booklets chock full of recipes for frozen good things to eat—see "Refrigerator Ice Creams," and "Freeze the Salad." And if you like chilly refrigerator cakes get a copy of her "33 Refrigerator Cakes" while you are at it. All three of these booklets are yours for 5 cents a piece in stamps. Address your requests to Mary Meade. Or if you prefer to pick up the booklets in person, stop in at one of the Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or the Tribune Tower lobby, and get them for 3 cents each.

HERE'S A SNACK SALAD FOR BUFFET LUNCHES, PICNIC OR PORCH PARTY

Here's a salad that goes to porch parties and on picnics or stays at home to make the mainstay of a summer buffet table.

SNACK SALAD.

[Serves six.]

2 cups diced liverwurst
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced cucumber
⅓ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chili sauce

Combine chilled liverwurst, celery, and cucumber. Blend chili sauce with mayonnaise and add to salad mixture. Toss lightly together and serve on lettuce.

NEW WHITE FLOUR PRESERVES VITAL GERMS OF WHEAT

Rich Vitamin Content Is Made Available.

When a grain of wheat goes thru a modern steel roller mill only 72 per cent of it customarily emerges as white flour. The flour comes from the endosperm, the white, starchy body of the grain. The tough outer covering and the germ of the wheat make up the remaining 28 per cent, which becomes bran or shorts used as live stock feed.

The germ, which has not been used generally in flour because of its tendency to induce spoilage, is the seat of most of the food value in wheat. It contains better proteins than does the endosperm, and its oil is the richest known source of vitamin E. It is an excellent source of other vitamins which affect digestion and the well-being of the nervous system.

White Flour Most Popular.

The bran contains minerals and some vitamins. Whole wheat flour, ground from the whole grain, contains bran and germ, as well as endosperm. Breads baked from whole wheat flour are more nutritious than those made with white flour, but white flour breads, because of smoother texture and better flavor, have been more popular.

In recent years, however, there has been an increasing demand for the fatty, kidney shaped germ from manufacturers of wheat germ oil, germ flakes, and the like, because of its rich vitamin content. Recently another development, of extraordinary interest to housewives, bakers, and dietitians, was announced.

This development is a new kind of white flour which contains the wheat germ and raises the total availability of the grain of wheat for flour purposes to 75 per cent. It is possible now to purchase both wheat germ flour for home baking and wheat germ bread and rolls are produced by an increasing number of bakeries.

Here's a Recipe to Use.

Altho any good bread recipe may be used to bake the new flour, this one has been used many times with excellent results. It makes wheat germ bread which is unusually flavorful as well as nutritious.

WHITE BREAD.

[Two Loaves.]

1 tablespoon shortening
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
About 6½ cups wheat germ flour
2 cups milk
1 cake yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water.

Scald milk and add shortening, salt, and sugar. Cool to lukewarm and add yeast softened in the ¼ cup of lukewarm water. Add flour to make a fairly stiff dough. Turn out onto a floured board and knead the dough until it becames smooth and elastic. Round it up and place in a greased bowl to rise in a warm place, about 85 degrees, until light and doubled in bulk. Punch down, fold over, and let rise again until light. Punch down, divide dough into two parts, and let stand for 15 minutes on the bread board, covered with a light cloth. Shape into loaves, place in greased pans, and let rise a third time until the loaves are high over the tops of the pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

TAKE SKILLET ALONG AND MAKE YOUR PICNIC SANDWICHES HOT!

Here are two hot sandwiches that make a fine lunch on a warm spring day. If you like your picnics to include the building of a fire, carry along a skillet and the makings of these sandwiches.

HOT SPANISH SANDWICHES

½ cup chopped bacon
¼ cup chopped onions
¼ cup chopped green peppers
1 cup tomato juice
⅔ cup grated cheese
1 whole egg, beaten
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons butter
12 slices hot toast

Cook bacon in skillet, add onions and green peppers, and simmer for 3 or 4 minutes. Pour in tomato juice and add cheese. Cook very slowly, stirring constantly, until thick and creamy. Add egg, paprika, and butter. Cook one minute longer and spread quickly on hot toast or buns.

BROILED MUSHROOM SANDWICHES

½ pound mushrooms, chopped very fine
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cream
8 slices buttered bread

Sauté chopped mushrooms and green peppers in butter for 3 or 4 minutes. Add flour and salt and blend. Add cream and cook one minute longer. Spread between slices of buttered bread or buns.

LIVER, HEART OR KIDNEY REPLACES SPRING TONICS

A spring tonic of sulphur and molasses may be rich in iron, but a generous serving of liver, heart, or kidney is just as beneficial and a lot more appetizing. So whether or not you feel the need of a little extra nutrition, try this dish just for taste.

KIDNEYS AND EGGS ON TOAST.

[Serves six.]

6 veal kidneys
½ cup dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
2 eggs, slightly beaten

Soak kidneys in salt water for 30 minutes or longer. Drain and split in half, roll in crumbs, and sauté in butter until browned. Add remaining crumbs and enough water to make a thin gravy. Season with salt and pepper and add slightly beaten eggs to the gravy, stirring constantly. Serve kidneys and gravy on toast triangles.

Gelatin Does Away with Runny Boiled Frosting

You can take out insurance against runny boiled frosting by adding gelatin. It requires 1 teaspoon of plain, unflavored gelatin for each 2 cups of sugar. Soften the gelatin in a tablespoon of cold water, and melt it over boiling water. Add to the boiling sirup and proceed as usual.

LITTLE ORPHAN 'ANNIE: There'll Come a Day

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Millicent Dunham's mother dreams of marrying her off to Dick Shard, who is kind, distinguished and rich. Dick lives in New York, but Mr. Dunham had worked for the Shard firm in Kansas, and after his death Dick had given Mrs. Dunham a job. On a business trip to New York, Dick invites Mrs. Dunham to a theater party, and after the show she is killed saving Dick from being hit by a car. While she is dying she makes Dick promise to marry Millicent. Tho Dick is in love with Constance Stewart, whose husband Aleck is an invalid, he feels obligated to keep his promise to Mrs. Dunham. Millicent, who has been left penniless and untrained, realizes she doesn't love Dick, but she thinks he loves her, and upon the advice of Dr. Ogden, a family friend, she marries him. On their way to New York, following their wedding, Dick confesses the reason he married her. He tells her she can get a divorce, but advises her to live with him for six months, during which time she will be free to do as she pleases. She is humiliated but sees no other way out, so agrees to this arrangement. Dick tells Constance how badly his wife is dressed, and she gets Millicent a personal maid who chooses Millicent's clothes for her. Dick returns home the first evening after he is back at work, expecting to find Millicent tearful, but instead she is entertaining Michael Curley, a young man she has met that day at the Metropolitan museum. Constance gives a bridal dinner for Dick and Millicent, planning to show off her own beauty in comparison with dowdily dressed Millicent, but instead Millicent is exquisitely dressed and very beautiful and makes quite an impression on all the guests. Donald Eaves, a suave worldling, is one of the guests and goes into his usual rôle of flirting with the neglected wife. He is all eyes for the bride and warns her against Constance. When they get home that night Dick admits his love for Constance to Millicent and warns her against Eaves. She refuses to take Dick's advice and turns to Eaves for admiration and companionship. Curley goes to Dick's office and confesses his own love for Millicent, begging Dick to save her from Eaves with whom she has a date that afternoon. Dick goes home, hoping to prevent the date and, finding his wife gone, telephones Constance to come over for tea. Their tête-à-tête is interrupted by a frantic telephone message from Millicent saying she is locked in Eaves' bedroom. Dick goes to the rescue, and Millicent realizes she is in love with her husband.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

A CONFESSION.

To a pretty woman the fun of a party begins when she begins dressing for it. Millicent began to enjoy herself as Lucille set her hot bath going, laid out her fresh underwear and scolded about these "new evening stockings that Madame has bought."

She took a long time, but finally she was ready—her hair shining, her dress with all its roses adjusted, when a knock came at her door. Was it monsieur? Yes, she knew she was late. She didn't put on her wrap tho, she opened the door and stepped into the hall, meaning to dazzle him. But he didn't seem to be dazzled. He looked at her gravely.

"I'm so sorry, Millicent, but I have to go out."

"Go out? We're both going out, aren't we?"

"Go without you I mean—Aleck has been taken ill."

Lucille, who had been hovering in the background with Millicent's gloves and evening bag, discreetly retired.

"How do you know?"

"Constance just telephoned me—he has one of his very bad attacks."

Her disappointment was so acute that she could have burst into tears; instead, she became violently angry. "I don't believe it," she said. "I don't believe a word of it."

"I'm afraid it's true—he has these dreadful strangling attacks once in so often. I'm sorry not to give you dinner, but Simmons says there is some cold meat and salad in the house. . . ."

"Even if it's true I don't see why you should have to go?"

"I'm the only person he will stand having about him. You know, Millicent, I've been going to him under these circumstances for a great many years."

"Yes, I know, I know," she said, but she couldn't reconcile herself—her lovely evening gone—she couldn't bear it. "I know they always send for you—but in that case you oughtn't to make engagements, if you're not a free agent."

He smiled. "I don't consider myself exactly a slave."

"Well, it seems to me that's what you are—you ask me to go out with you, then you let yourself be whistled away like a dog."

"Millicent, I think Aleck is dying."

But she couldn't listen to that. "I should be very much surprised—poor man—not that he seems to have much to live for. I think you'll find he's better by the time you get there—and stay for dinner."

"I hate to leave you, but I really must go."

"O, go, go at once. I should be sorry if you were scolded for being late."

He didn't answer this gibe—he simply went.

Never in her life had she felt anything like this—this poisoned thwarted anger—this sense of insult. Something must be done about it—he couldn't treat her like this—leaving her flat—whistled back like a dog. She walked up and down the room with clinched fists.

Every time she caught a glimpse of her reflection in the mirror she grew angrier—she had made herself lovely—other men thought so—Donald thought so. She'd call Donald up—she'd humble herself—she'd say she bitterly regretted the way she had behaved that afternoon—she'd do anything—go anywhere—she'd sail for France or the West Indies.

She called Eaves' private number, tho her hands shook so that she could hardly dial. The telephone buzzed unanswered—he must already have started for the Lay's. She called the desk and left word asking Mr. Eaves to call her as soon as he came in—he wouldn't be so very late at the Lay's—perhaps he would be there with her when Dick got home. . . .

Presently Simmons knocked at her door and said he had brought a tray for her to the sitting room, and would she like a pint of champagne. She knew it was his way of showing sympathy. She knew he approved of her and hated Constance, tho she couldn't tell how she knew this.

She refused the champagne. The truth was she couldn't eat, but she mustn't say so. Already Simmons and Lucille were probably talking the problem over, wondering how she bore it. Well, she wouldn't bear it. Aleck dying indeed—that old story!

Donald had told how Constance and Dick worked it—Aleck was ill and Dick was obliged to drop everything and fly to his side—often when Aleck knew nothing about it at all. This time she thought she knew what had happened. Cecilia Lay, who lived on the telephone, had probably called Constance up to complain about the Shards giving out at the last moment, and Constance had seen her chance to get Dick alone for a whole evening . . . what a fool he must think her—she wouldn't have been so angry if he had told her the truth . . .

She rang for Simmons to take away the tray. She said brightly that it had all been delicious—only she wasn't hungry.

What a fool she was to care so much—what a fool to love a man who could treat her like this. And it was only that very afternoon she had really fallen in love with him—when he had come to her rescue at Donald's. Being rescued apparently was an emotional experience. She knew now how legendary maidens felt when they went off so docilely with the strange knight who saved them from ogres or dragons—she had felt humble and helpless and he had been kind and strong—and the result was this torture of fire and poison and excitement.

Suddenly she heard the faint ringing of the front door bell. She stood still in the middle of the room—who could it be? Not Dick returning, to admit that she was right—that Aleck was perfectly well and he had been tricked. . . . No, Dick always had his key—this must be Donald.

Her whole life was about to change. She could not repeat her performance of this afternoon. She stood there saying to herself that it would be all right—that Donald was charming and handsome—that she could trust him—no matter what Dick said. . . .

Simmons opened the door and announced: "Dr. Ogden."

There he was—in the same overcoat she had known well for so many years it made her think of her father and her mother and her home. She couldn't speak, but speech wasn't necessary, for as she clung to him he began:

"Well, Milly, my dear, how lovely you look—going to a party, I suppose. I won't keep you. I just dropped in. I flew on with a patient—a fellow who got hurt on the Bormans' farm—I thought I'd like to see you as a full-fledged society woman. I'm going back tomorrow night, but I had to report. Every one wants to know about you. Your letter are passed around. I'll have to tell them about this room, and your butler. Fancy my little Milly with an English butler. It shows how much they all loved you, for there isn't a mite of envy in their interest—they all say that you deserved your luck."

He stopped short—not because she interrupted him, but because he saw, to his surprise, that tears were streaming down her face. "What in the world's the matter, Milly?"

"O, Dr. John, I'm so unhappy."

"What is it? Where's your husband?"

"He's gone to another woman—we were going out together and she sent for him—whistled for him as if he were a dog, and away he went. . . ."

"And how long has it been going on?"

"Always—he has loved her—long before he saw me."

FRESH VEGETABLE PRICES TOBOGGAN TO NEW RECORDS

Homegrown Asparagus Is Week-End Special.

BY MARY MEADE.

Get out your favorite asparagus recipes. The homegrown season for those flavorsome vegetable spearheads is here. Now is the time to get peak quality and rock bottom prices, and remember that the asparagus season is a short one.

Fresh vegetable prices are coming down as fast as the green leaves are coming out on the trees. Most of them are even lower than they were a week ago. The green grocers' heavy laden racks are a sight to inspire any cook and will break down the resistance of the fussiest eaters.

Peas and Spinach Are Low.

Prices on green peas and spinach are low enough to loosen even tightly tied purse strings. With an unlimited food allowance, you could scarcely make a better selection than extra quality peas and spinach.

Crisp green beans are cheaper this week-end. Cabbage is still another reasonable vegetable. Not much broccoli is available, but what there is, is good and a little cheaper this week. Eggplant is still rather high, but the price is gradually coming down.

Carrots, which have been reasonably priced for some time, will cost you a penny or so more per bunch this week-end, and celery is suddenly quite high priced.

Salad Bowl Time Is Here.

Polish up the salad bowl—or, better yet, give it a garlic rub—for the salad vegetables have come to town. Fresh greens, tender blades of leaf lettuce, and feathery fronds of chicory are more plentiful. Those old standbys, head lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers, are all cheaper this week. Cucumber prices are at last down to a moderate level, and their quality is good. Most of them hail from Florida these days. Tomatoes still cost you more than you usually expect to pay in the middle of May, but they are cheaper and become more so by the day. They, too, come mostly from Florida.

You can indulge in shortcakes to your heart's content this week-end without damaging anything but your waistline. Their price won't put much of a dent in your budget, and these berries are beauties.

Cantaloupe Is Excellent.

Cantaloupe is really excellent. It doesn't have quite the flavor of the vine ripened kind you used to find on the farm, but this is only May, and Miss Cantaloupe has traveled a long way to be present at your dinner table. Cantaloupes aren't to be found in every store and aren't as cheap as they will be, by any means, but the price is a little lower and there are more of them than a week or so ago.

Oranges—you can have either navels or Valencias—are a bit less expensive this week, and some stores are featuring them. They come mostly from California.

Cuban pineapple really hits its stride in another week or so. It's somewhat cheaper, and the quantities available are increasing. Be on the look for buys in this fruit soon.

The grapefruit and apple seasons are about washed up. Apples are high and spotted. Grapefruit tends to be dry and juiceless. Some dealers are finding that the smaller sizes in this fruit are the best bet.

There are a few sweet cherries from the western coast just enough red raspberries available to foretell better berry days to come.

It probably wasn't planned that way, but it does seem that an unusually large number of meat markets are featuring rolled [boneless] fresh hams this week-end. This is as chop-smacking a pork cut as you'll find, and it's a good bet for Sunday dinners. A rich juicy pork roast makes a dinner built mostly around fresh green vegetables taste extra good.

Other good meat buys include beef pot roasts cut from the chuck, sirloin steaks, sausage's of all kinds, and cold cuts. Frying chickens and ducklings are being featured in several stores also.

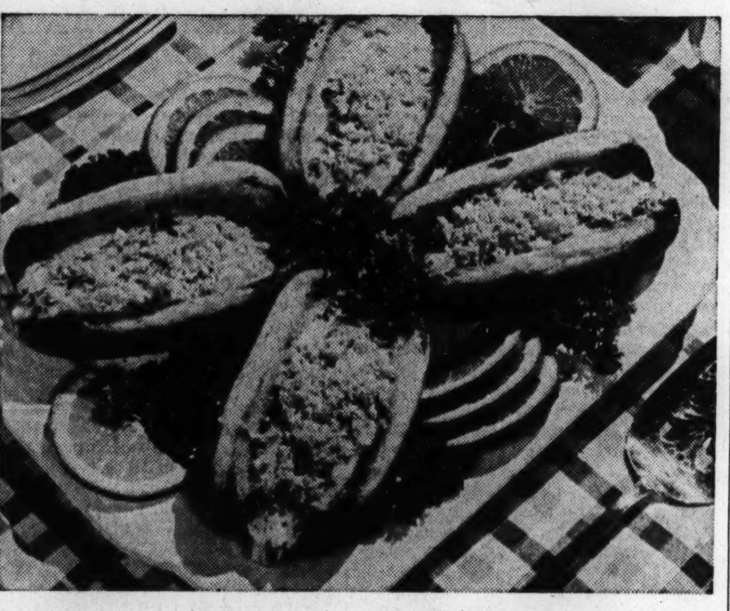
For an Ideal Breakfast



Watch the faces around the breakfast table lose that sleepy look when you serve them creamed chipped beef in toast split buns. Buy the long buns that are used for frankfurters and split them lengthwise leaving them attached along one side. Fill with creamed chipped beef and pop in the oven to heat thru. When buns are lightly toasted remove from oven and sprinkle with sieved hard cooked egg yolk. The hard cooked egg whites may be chopped and added to the creamed dried beef mixture.

Add Zest with Relish Made of Carrot Strips

Spicy carrot strips make a tasty relish that will add zest to the dullest meal. This homemade relish is easy to make, too, since canned shoestring carrots are used in the recipe. Drain 1 No. 2 can shoestring carrots; pack in pint jar. Boil carrot liquor in saucepan for five minutes; add 1 cup vinegar, ½ cup sugar, and ½ tablespoon whole pickling spices and continue boiling 10 minutes longer. Pour over carrots; cover and let stand at least one week before using.

JIFFY HOMEMADE ROLLS MAKE USE OF A NEW YEAST

Lack of time is no excuse for depriving the family of delicious homemade rolls, for these hot Parker House rolls can be made in a jiffy. They're made with the new-type granular yeast, which combines the keeping qualities of dry yeast with the speedy action of compressed yeast.

60-MINUTE PARKER HOUSE ROLLS.
[2 dozen medium size]

2 packages or cakes yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup milk, scalded
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
4½ cups sifted flour [approximately]

Put yeast into a cup, add the lukewarm water and 1 teaspoon sugar. Stir and let stand in a warm place. Scald the milk, add to it the salt, remaining sugar and butter, and cool until lukewarm. Sift the flour and measure 4 cupfuls into a mixing bowl. Make a hole in the center of the flour and pour in the softened yeast. Mix this with part of the flour, then add the milk mixture. Work in the rest of the flour, adding more if necessary, to make a slightly soft dough. Kneed just enough to mix ingredients thoroly. Cover the bowl and place in a pan of warm water [about 98 degrees—body temperature]. Let rise just 15 minutes, then turn dough onto a floured board. Pat into a sheet ½ inch thick and cut into rounds with biscuit cutter. Brush each round with a bit of melted butter, crease thru the center and fold over at crease. Place rolls about ½ inch apart in a greased shallow pan. Cover and let rise 15 minutes in a warm place [about 95 degrees]. Bake 10 minutes in a hot oven, 425 to 450 degrees.

80 Young Students Parade in Costumes of Own Designing

Eighty young couturieres paraded in their finest costumes yesterday at the Richards Vocational school, 2535 Green street, before 500 applauding parents and visiting school officials. The occasion was the annual Richards open house and demonstration.

The entire range of the wardrobe was covered by the student designers in their display of fashions. They were snappy, brief, and bright play suits that were made at an average cost of 50 cents. There were perky cottons for day time and sweeping, romantic frocks for the evening. A special round of applause went to attractive twins who appeared in billowy blue flowered organdie with wide picture hats. Their dresses cost them $2.50.

An exhibit of commercial art, beauty culture, and junior nursing demonstrations also were included on the program. Richards is exclusively a girls' school. Mrs. Anna Flott is the principal.

Let Blum's Expert Furriers Take Care of Your Furs

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand was played recently at a seven table duplicate at the St. George hotel, Brooklyn. Three North-South teams reached six spades and one made it. All got a diamond opening.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ K J 6

♥ Q 10 8 2
♦ K Q J 9 5
♣ Q 8 3

EAST
♠ K 2
♥ 9 7 5 3
♦ 8 7 4 3
♣ 10 7 2

SOUTH
♠ Q 10 8 6 5 3
♥ A 4
♦ A 10
♣ J 9 6

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	2 diamonds
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
*4 no trump	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 clubs	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

*Blackwood.

"North 'explained' his original pass by saying that he had sorted his cards in a hurry, and did not see the club ace. Be that as it may, he did all the pushing after that, unless you consider my [South's] lift to four spades a push. I don't know if there was a vulnerable diamond overcall at the other slam tables.

"I thought for quite a while before starting to play, then won the opening lead with the diamond ace, laid down the spade queen, hesitated, then took the finesse. This lost, back came a diamond, down one.

"The successful line was, of course, immediately to lay down the heart ace, take the heart finesse, discard a club from South, play the club A-K, trump a third club, and now lead a spade and refuse the finesse, the losing diamond being chucked on the setup club.

"On the bidding, which was the more probable, the success of the spade finesse, or the 3-3 club break plus the heart finesse?

"It was argued that the heart finesse must be taken anyway, but I pointed out that if the club and heart queens were in the same hands there was a squeeze [draw trumps, cash club A-K, and run trumps]. Besides, if the heart finesse is taken immediately and loses the hand is set two. What is the verdict?

"G. J., New York."

This is one of those hands likely to drive the analyst crazy. There are so many possible lines of play [altho some closely resemble others] that the problem of choosing the one with the greatest percentage in its favor is no mean task.

If the spade finesse is on-side, declarer can take out the adverse trumps, strip the hearts, then exit with the diamond ten, creating an end play in clubs, that is West will have to lead a club from his probable queen to the combined tenace in the North-South hands. Or, from declarer's point of view, the club queen may drop in two leads. Or the heart finesse may work, affording a diamond or club discard. Considering West's two diamond overcall it does look probable that he holds the spade king, but the question is whether it is wise to let the fate of the contract rest on that probability. With 10 spades in the combined hands, altho percentages favor the finesse, in view of all the contingent possibilities I believe the most propitious plan of play to be as follows:

On winning with the diamond ace, declarer should lead the spade queen, but if it is not covered by West, should go right up with dummy's spade ace. There is a good chance that the king will fall, but when it doesn't, declarer still has plenty of ammunition. He leads to the heart ace, and then finesses to the heart jack. When this holds he discards his diamond on the heart king, then ruffs dummy's remaining diamond. Next he exits with a spade. East, thrown on lead with the spade king, must return a club, since either a heart or diamond return would permit declarer to discard a losing club while ruffing in dummy. On the actual club return declarer's best play is the nine spot, considering that West should have the queen for his diamond bid. As the cards lay, this line of play would succeed, and in my opinion is superior to the risk involved in taking the heart finesse immediately, discarding a club on the heart king, and then depending on a 3-3 break in the club suit.

Loneliness of the Young Is Most Pathetic

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Young, middle-aged, elderly, they all know what loneliness is, according to the reports directed here.

A letter from each of the three mentioned groups has just been read. There's the elderly widow with children married and interested in their own homes. There's the 39 year old divorcee cut off from all of her old associates on account of the divorce scandal and no new friends. And there is the young woman, 21, who, for some reason unknown to her, sits home night after night with no one to care whether she lives or dies, as the young melodramatically put it.

The last named type of lonely sufferer affects our sympathies most, since youth, unlike its elders, has no philosophy to draw upon in bad moments. Also, because loneliness has no place in young lives. Theirs is the time for planning, building, doing, and their the right to escape the blighting effect of isolation. Finally, we see them invariably as victims of some character failing, such as the feeling of inferiority. Usually it is the old inferiority complex that gets them down and keeps them there.

There are so many things for youth to enter into that only a feeling of hopeless inadequcy must still their efforts. There are places to go, people to meet, friends to cultivate to ease the pangs in young souls. But if the initiative is not there to be up and going and doing on their own, there is small hope for such victims of loneliness. Somehow, some way, these young people have to learn to act for themselves and stop depending upon others to drag them out of their caves.

They've got to learn to depend upon themselves for their good times, for the making of friends, as they have to depend upon themselves to get a job and hold it in the competitive business world. They've got to learn to be friends, for in that lies the great trick of making friends and keeping them.

Something New Under Sun!

MISS' TENNIS COSTUME.

There IS something new under the summer sun! We've designed this clever tennis costume for the slim figures. There's virtually no back in this outfit, and the front, too, is low. The bodice is bra style, with sturdy and comfortable shoulder straps. At the midriff is a fitted sector that does wonderfully flattering things to the figure. Below this molded line is the plentiful fullness of the skirt with its unusual pockets, Dutch style. For your street appearances after leaving the tennis court the pattern provides a matching or contrasting bolero jacket.

Style No. 3257 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3⅜ yards of 39 inch material for striped dress; 3⅛ yards for short plain version; 1⅛ yards for short sleeved bolero. Pattern includes bolero as well as both regulation and "shortie" length dresses.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Burto Niblack Christener of New Warship

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALBERT PARKER [BURTO] NIBLACK, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Niblack of Lake Forest, is to have an experience tomorrow that is certain to make envious every other boy his age who knows about it. He is to have the distinction of christening the destroyer Niblack, which is named for young Niblack's great uncle, Admiral Albert Parker Niblack.

The christening is to take place at 10:45 o'clock in Bath, Me. Burto is going there from Deerfield, Mass., where he is in the Eaglebrook school. Neither of his parents will be in Bath, but his two paternal aunts, Mrs. James Ward Thorne and Mrs. Alden B. Swift, are there to help him represent the family. Mr. Niblack is unable to leave his business in Chicago just now, and Mrs. Niblack just returned on Wednesday from having spent the winter and spring at Aiken, S. C.

The only one of Mrs. Niblack's three sisters who lives away, Mrs. John Noble Stearns Jr. of New York, is arriving today for a visit with her sisters and father, Edward A. Cudahy. Mrs. Stearns will stay with the Vaughan C. Spaldings in Lake Forest. The fourth sister is Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, also of Lake Forest. Mrs. Spalding is giving a dinner for Mrs. Stearns tonight, and Mrs. Howard Linn is entertaining at luncheon on Sunday for the visitor.

Mrs. Laurence Robbins Giving Mother-Daughter Luncheon.

Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins has invited a group of mothers and daughters to have luncheon with her tomorrow and later to visit the Lake Forest flower show. Among her guests will be Mrs. Arthur G. Cable and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Peter C. Cable of Dayton, O., who with Mr. Cable is visiting the Arthur Cables in Glencoe; Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson and her daughter, Mrs. George A. Ranney Jr., and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson and her future daughter-in-law, Miss Margaret Hutchins. Miss Hutchins and Anthony M. Ryerson plan to be married next autumn.

Mrs. Philip D. Armour's flower show luncheon on Sunday is a sort of mothers' and daughters' party, too, for she is giving it for her mother, Mrs. Thomas G. Condon of New York, who is visiting the Armours at Tangley Oaks, their home in Lake Forest. Mrs. Clarence Prentice and Mrs. James A. Cathcart are others who are having luncheons on Sunday in connection with the flower show.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton will be at home at Midoaks in Lake Forest to a group of Chicago and north shore friends after the flower show on Sunday afternoon. The hours of the show are from 11 to 6 tomorrow and Sunday.

Swift-Davis Wedding Announcement Is Made.

Miss Lucille Swift and DeForest Paine Davis, whose engagement was announced recently, were married quietly in Boston on Monday. The marriage announcement is made by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift of Boston. Mr. Davis is a son of Mrs. Percy B. Davis of Winnetka. Mr. and Mrs. Errett Van Nice went east for her sister's marriage. Mr. Davis and his bride will reside in Chicago.

Miss Mary Margaret Rich and Miss Beatrice Joyce are the two Chicago members of the graduating class at the Fermata school that will hear a commencement address by James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, today at the school. Mr. Cromwell's daughter, Miss Christine Cromwell, whose mother is Mrs. T. M.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

When on occasion a masculine member of your household shows his mettle and crabs about not being able to find anything but perfumed soap in the house, humor him by placing a cake of a new medicated soap within his reach. He'll be willing to eat his words if you do.

This soap has a pleasant antiseptic scent that is death on odors but does not leave an odor of its own. It is bland enough not to be drying to the skin and produces a full creamy lather that makes one feel immaculately fresh. With hot weather ready to pounce upon us at any minute, and hours to be spent on the golf links and tennis courts, this soap is an excellent one to keep on hand to use for the tub or shower that must follow. It serves as an additional preventive of any perspiration odor.

Its use isn't limited to the bath and we'd consider it as part of the standard equipment in the kitchen. Every good cook knows the zest that a little minced onion or a bit of garlic gives to so many dishes. But she also knows that their penetrating odors cling to the fingertips as tho they had seeped down to the bone. Their high flavor may be pleasing to the palate, but fingers reeking with it hold no glamor. Wash the hands with this soap and the problem will really be washed up—not the slightest trace remains.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

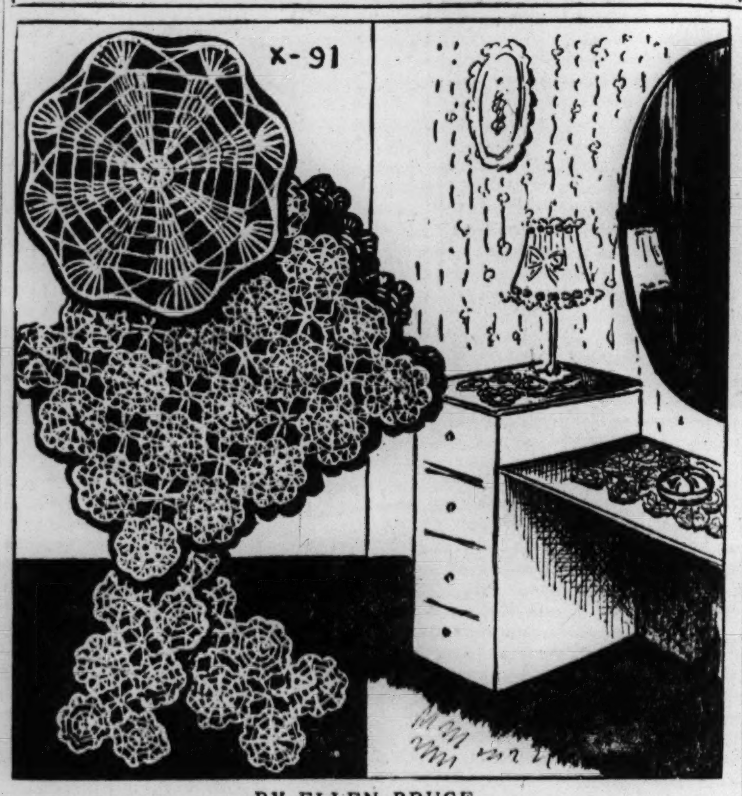
Fern Wheel Dresser Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted dresser sets are suitable for use on virtually every type of bedroom furniture, from a vanity to a chifforobe. The fern wheel pattern, in which this dresser set is created, is one of the easy and quick-to-do designs. Each motif is made separately and joined by a small lace wheel. White or ecru mercerized crochet cotton No. 50, and a steel crochet hook No. 9 comprise the requisites.

For instructions in crocheting the fern wheel dresser set, No. X-91, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

The Western Front.

Hollywood, Cal., May 16.—On stage 10, at M.-G.-M., 50 Storm Troopers lounge comfortably, some of them picking their teeth. . . . They have just returned from lunch at Nancy's Kosher delicatessen shop on Washington boulevard, one of the boundaries of the huge studio. . . . "Quiet-t," yells one of Director Frank Borzage's assistants and the scene starts. . . . The camera is focused on a dinner table in a German home, and as the camera starts rolling, an old-fashioned radio blares out the announcement that Adolf Hitler has become chancellor of Germany, establishing the time as 1933. . . . The actors read their lines, from "The Mortal Storm."

Robert Young: Hitler will do nothing unjust to non-Aryans—as such men will be judged on their merit and their records.

Frank Morgan: So you see, my dear, there's no need for alarm. Men have given great powers to the new chancellor. Let us hope that responsibility brings wisdom.

Jimmy Stewart: I think peace is better than war—and a man's right to think as he believes is as good for him as food and drink.

On stage 11, Paul Lukas, in the uniform of a German general, sits in a canvas backed chair lettered with his name, waiting for his next scene in "Escape" . . . Lukas and I read the headlines: "Dutch list 100,000 dead" . . . "Britain Awaits Parachutists" . . . "Hitler Armies Pierce Maginot Line" . . . "Pershing Urges U. S. to Arm Fast" . . . "French Counterattack at Sedan" . . . "Stock Market Blitzkrieg" . . . An assistant to Director Mervyn Le Roy yells for quiet . . . The camera focuses on Robert Taylor, in civilian clothes, pleading at the desk of a Nazi commissionr, played by Edgar Barriar.

Taylor: [his voice shaking]—Mr. Commissioner, if you just let me see my mother—if you'd just talk to her—you'd realize she just possibly couldn't be a criminal. She's just a simple, ordinary woman.

Commissioner: I'm afraid I shall have to ask you to go now—I am a very busy man.

Barriar, as the Nazi commissioner, reads his lines with such coldness that even the technicians on the set look at him tensely . . . The last time I heard his voice his tones were much more beguiling . . . That was at the New York World Fair, and we were riding thru the General Motor exhibit and Barriar's voice sounded from a speaker attachment on each chair, explaining the panorama as it unfolded before us.

Of course, not all of Hollywood sound stages are devoted to storm troopers and Nazi officials and the oppressed of the earth. . . . On stage 28, if you prefer something with a little more sex to it, you could see Hedy Lamarr planting her first kiss on Clark Gable, in "Boom Town." . . . Gable is giving her the air as the scene opens, and the blood on his forehead testified to the scrap he has just had with Spencer Tracy in a swanky New York office set.

Gable—"Look, you never got anything out of this affair, Karen."

Hedy—"I got plenty—all I asked for—except the frosting."

Gable—"Karen, you said it—you're high class."

Hedy [moves in and kisses him full on the lips]—"High class or not—I'll go out the back way—just to get used to it."

After the scene Gable comes over and asks eagerly: "Did the French counterattack drive 'em back?" . . . I looked at him in some amazement, a Romeo more interested in the construction of the balcony than in Juliet. . . . "You just kissed Lamarr," I chided, "and your only thought is about the war." . . . He grinned at Hedy: "If the allies don't stop them pretty soon, nobody will be kissing anybody out here." . . . Hedy nods her head vigorously.

On stage 7 there is comedy under the direction of W. S. Van Dyke, a major in the United States marine reserve corps. . . . Van Dyke is hurrying to complete "I Love You Again" so he can get back to his house and tune in on six short wave radios. . . . At the moment he is completing a comedy sequence in a kitchen set.

Myrna Loy [indignantly]—so you're hungry. You got me out of bed and spoiled my sleep, but you're not hungry. You don't want to eat your nice scrambled eggs.

William Powell: Well, dear—no, I don't——

Myrna Loy: Then wear them.

The dignified Miss Loy thereupon and simultaneously picks up the scrambled eggs and scores a direct hit on Powell, who is covered with yolks and confusion. . . . "Print it," says Van Dyke. "That's just what I wanted."

At night it is the world première of "Lillian Russell" at Grauman's Chinese theater. . . . Outside the news hawkers along the streets, calling out their extras, Hollywood boulevard as yet hasn't been affected by the war. . . . The same limousines rolling up to the curb, the same celebrities alighting to the flashlight explosions of the photographs, the same eager crowds of curious fans held back by the police. . . . Hollywood is still going thru the motions of make-believe, altho it is difficult to believe make-believe when, with each passing hour, a new generation of boys and young men are being disembowelled in the European carnage.

Golden Jubilee of Hull House Begins Today

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

There was a woman great of mind but greater of heart who 50 years ago established her "house by the side of the road" and said to her city and to the world, "Come, gather under this rooftree.

"You from the high places leave outside the consciousness of class and the pride that dims vision. You from the lowly ways lay aside envies and racial prejudices, old grievances, and resentments. Here on this hearth we will meet in the spirit of Him who called all men his brothers. Here, guided by conscience and reason, we will labor for the solution of old ills. Together we will work for the common good."

That hospitable house, as you have guessed, was Hull House, and its chatelaine, towering in the magnificent simplicity of her spirit, was Jane Addams.

Venerable now, its worn steps muffling the echo of 2 million feet that have trod them thru the years, its halls hallowed by the memory of the woman who lived her faith as "a friend to man," the house by the side of the road enters today upon its golden anniversary.

For 10 days Hull House will ring with jubilee. The neighbors—that is a globe embracing term in the friendly vocabulary of the settlement—will gather for reunions. There will be dinners, speeches, exhibits, tours, a dancing party, a parade, plays, concerts, and a street fair.

This afternoon they will plant a tree in memory of Jane Addams.

The pretty symbolism of that ceremony will not be lost upon those who remember the parable of the small seed that, rooted in faith, grew into a mighty tree whose wide spreading branches gave shelter to the birds of the air. This is the way Chicago has taken of perpetuating Jane Addams' memory.

During these last weeks, as a gift from the city, Mayor Kelly has had a row of ailanthus trees set out along Cabrini place and a second row in the Arthington block. Unable to attend the dedication, the mayor has delegated Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to make formal presentation of the memorial trees to Miss Charlotte Carr, Miss Addams' successor at Hull House. The hour is set for 5 o'clock. William V. Pacelli, alderman from the 20th ward, and Halsted and Maxwell street business men, among them Irving N. Klein, Harry Okin, and I. Mackevich, will take part in the tree planting ceremonies.

Starred on the calendar of anniversary events is the program for the following Tuesday evening which will bring Dr. Alice Hamilton, Helen Hall, and Bishop Bernard J. Sheil as guest speakers.

ENGAGEMENTS

At a reception at their home in Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Dan I. Sultan recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Sheila, to Lieut. Marshall R. Gray, air corps, U. S. A. Gen. Sultan was the district engineer in charge of the United States engineer office in Chicago from 1932 to 1934. Miss Sultan is a graduate of Gunston Hall, Washington, D. C. Lieut. Gray was graduated from West Point in 1937. The wedding will take place at Schofield Barracks in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosenthal of 1351 Madison Park avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Philip Hecht, son of Mrs. Julius Hecht of 5120 Harper avenue.

For That Tennis Game

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

This white pique tennis dress cut with many narrow gores is trimmed with contrasting navy blue. Brief sleeves, button belt and round cool neckline have that navy blue accent. Worn with the dress as a cardigan or tied loosely around the neck, is the newest cable yarn sweater of alternate navy blue and white stripes.

Leaves from a Notebook.

A notebook turned up the other day—a notebook in which we had jotted down passages from our reading, when we were young and ambitious to be wise (with the brains of others). Some of the notes:

From Anthony Hope's Dolly Dialogues:

Bourgeois is an epithet which the riff-raff apply to what is respectable, and the aristocracy to what is decent.

From Montaigne:

Benefits are only so far acceptable as they appear capable of being returned, and if they pass much beyond this limit they reap hatred rather than gratitude.

Follows a short poem by Witter Bynner which, as an animal lover, we tried to find helpful:

Why in the world of things, O nature lover,
Should the butcher make you weep?
The sheep is food to man, and man to clover,
And clover to the sheep.

A description of a character that took our fancy was jotted down, with no credit given. It sounds as if it might be from Ronald Firbank:

"The woman who practiced sleep with such mastery that she had a repertory of different slumbers which she could command at will; slumber ranging from the gauze of inattention, suitable for sermons and too prolonged explanations, to the quilted oblivion fit for a winter's night."

Follows a squib from Leonardo da Vinci: Knowledge of a thing engenders love of it; the more exact the knowledge the more fervent the love. Below, that, from the same source: When I thought I was learning to live I was but learning to die. The kind of a comment particularly appealing to a youthful person.

* * *

A verse, unidentified:

Why did I die?
I died of everything:
Life was still waters robbing me of breath.
Sorrow, delight, love, music,
Winter, spring slew me in turn—
Last of all came death.

Sailor Styles Are Newest in Summer Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Susceptible shoppers are again spending money to welcome the sailor suit fashions. Flared skirts, brave with narrow braid trim, mess jackets ashine with brass buttons, jaunty sailor collars that form a deep vee in front and a wide square down the back, blouse tops copied from the regulation sailor blouses, and navy blue flannel jackets have been unpacked to be taken swiftly into the smartest wardrobes.

Town and country cottons are particularly alive with sailor dresses in white with red or blue braid trim, or in the red and faded blue denims, using white braid and buttons for accent. Even the tubbable materials have a drill texture of honest to goodness sailor suits issued by the navy department.

In the more dress parade clothes collections you'll find navy blue skirts, white lingerie blouses and fetching mess jacket toppers with a double row of gold metal buttons to complete the navy idea. Dinner suits also are made with the swank of a nautical uniform, long straight skirts, brass buttons, sailor collar, and braid trim.

Little girl fashions have enough different kinds of sailor suit ensembles to supply all demands. White, red, or blue, trimmed in all the glory of braid, flashing buttons and stars embroidered here and there. This time most of the skirts for both grown-ups and small fry are cut with a swanky swirl and the belts of the smartly cut blouses are wide to accent the skirts and the narrow waistlines.

The best buy of all in this "lure of the navy" apparel is the stunning summer house coat of cool crêpe. The skirt is a wide circle. There's a perky tie belt, short sleeves, and the inevitable sailor collar. The red and navy blue affairs are trimmed with white braid, the white comes with red braid trim, and your monogram can be ordered for a small extra sum embroidered in the same contrast color as the braid.

Fashion photograph . . . new tennis outfit in navy blue and white consists of a streamlined tennis dress with emphasis on dress. A high round neckline is accented with navy blue to match the belt and cuffs on the brief sleeves. Over the shoulders or worn as a sweater is the newest cardigan in alternate stripes of white with navy blue.

Take Children in Search of Month of May

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Are you a city mother?

Are you a country mother, with chickens to feed and milk to skim?

Are you a betwixt and between, a suburban mother?

If you're a country woman, get right out in the midst of May with the children. If you're a suburbanite, leave your sidewalks and your own small preserve and invade the woods and fields. And if you're a town dweller, tuck the children under one arm and a few sandwiches or a field book under the other, and see this lovely season at first hand.

The big parks will show May to you, but wild country is better. It's not much of a trek to find the spring, and it needn't cost more than a few cents each way, there and back. Or you may want to add a boat trip or take a short train ride to get beyond the confines of the city. Or you may be one of the many millions of possessors of automobiles.

You don't have to argue children into loving the country. Children and the country are natural affinities. They belong to each other. Children not only love the natural world, they need it. The feel of the earth beneath their feet, the blue sky overhead, the sounds of insects, the wind in the trees, the chuckling and gurgling of brooks and the splash of wavelets, a child comes into his own when he comes into this world of nature.

Love of outdoors [on foot, of course] is a fine thing to acquire early in life. Besides making for health and fun, it can get to be one of the fine uses of leisure. It enriches or makes comprehensive a whole world of prose, poetry and art. And it often serves as an inspiration for writing, drawing and painting.

Not that a joy in the outdoors isn't enough in itself, because it is.

You probably will find, as almost every grownup does who travels around with children, that they'll be full of questions. They'll want to know. They'll see, they'll hear, they'll ask. And if you can answer, how their world will begin to show its marvels to them!

"That big mass of jelly with little dark spots is hundreds of frog's eggs from one mother frog! That funny looking thing will be a dragon fly some day! This bird likes a cooler summer so he flies north! Those big buds are varnished like that by nature! Those flat little wings fly away with a seed! This beautiful little orange, lizard-y looking thing is only a baby newt, eft is his name, and he'll go to live in the water some day! This little kingbird will fight a big hawk!"

These and more facts your child will listen to eagerly, if you know your way about in hill and dale. But if you don't, there are a dozen excellent books I know that have been written as guide or handbooks. Many of them we've used on our own rambles. The others we've gone over carefully. Most of them are small enough to put into a roomy coat or sweater pocket. Field glasses in a case with a shoulder strap are a great addition to your trips, especially for birds.

If, in your search for the "merry month of May" you and the children learn things together instead of your supplying all the information, it will not lessen their pleasure.

Parents, teachers, and children will find helpful our leaflet, "The Young Naturalist's Booklist." Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

May 17, 1940.

Today's birthday children are in the midst of a 9 year, and by now they must be realizing that their emotions are right on the surface and they are being touchy in their relationships with others. June promises to be a rather upsetting month emotionally, so get yourself well in hand. Count to 100 before doing anything rash, and then don't do it! Try to forget your own selfish interests and consider the greater good that you can do if you give up and give out with good grace. There is a tendency to fly off the handle today. Hold everything!

Make Politics Chief Activity, Clubs Are Told

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Members of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs were urged by a fellow member yesterday to exchange their "dress pattern programs—speakers, more speakers" for action on the fundamental problems facing all citizens.

Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers of Chicago, state legislation chairman, told delegates to the federation's 45th annual convention at the Hotel Sherman that "we women can interest ourselves in public questions and still keep our feminity. In fact, if we don't we may have to trade our pink ribbons and laces for a uniform—the regimentation of dictatorship."

Mrs. Suthers, who is a former state president of the American Legion auxiliary, challenged the federation to shake off its well known fear of being involved in politics and to get down to "specific things" such as issues and candidates.

"Are we going back to our clubs," she asked, "and plan more pleasant philanthropies and programs on art and literature just like those we had in preworld war and predepression days?

"Or shall we concern ourselves with the coming election, perhaps the most fateful in American history? Shall we consider our choice of representatives, the men who will have our country's fate, the lives of your sons and mine, in their hands?"

Mrs. Suthers, who was co-author of the antiwar resolution adopted by the Illinois federation earlier in the convention, reminded her listeners, "If we have war, we'll have dictatorship, and democracy may never return. The legislation to provide for dictatorship already is written."

"It is my own opinion," Mrs. Suthers added, "that congress should stay in session thru these dangerous times. No one branch of the government should be left to make the decisions now."

The women applauded when Mrs. Suthers urged continuation of the Dies committee's investigation of un-American activities. Later they indorsed this recommendation. There was more applause when Mrs. Suthers warned that organizations no longer can afford to offer their platforms to "radicals who by subtle methods promote alien 'isms'."

The Housewife

So many readers ask me what they can do to rid upholstered furniture of moths. It takes an expert to do the job and usually the furniture has to be removed from the house. But why not protect your couch and chairs in the first place, and avoid moths? There is a new chemical on the market which is highly concentrated and which you can inject into upholstery by means of a special applicator sold with it. If used at regular intervals and according to the directions it will keep moths away, so its makers assert. It is certainly worth a try.

Goode of Rye, N. Y., also is a member of the class.

Miss Rich, who is informally known as "Peggy," is the debutante daughter of Mrs. R. Joseph Rich of Winnetka. She will be introduced to society here next winter when she and her mother return from California where they are to spend the summer. Miss Joyce is the daughter of Mrs. David G. Joyce.

New Members Tea Tuesday at Woman's Athletic Club.

The Woman's Athletic club will present a gala picture next Tuesday afternoon when the entire membership turns out for tea to meet the new members. The hours of the party are from 4 until 6 o'clock. In the receiving line will be Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, the president; Mrs. Mark Trude, vice president; Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the membership committee.

Mrs. Alexander H. Revell is chairman of the tea committee, assisted by Mrs. Stanley Zaring and Mrs. Trude. Among the members who have been invited to pour are Mrs. Allan M. Clement, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Edwin M. Hadley, Mrs. John Q. Adams, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Mrs. Taylor Strawn, Mrs. Charles Little, Mrs. William F. Petersen, Mrs. George Mason, Mrs. Clinton Merrick, Mrs. Elmer Wieboldt, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mrs. Austin Pope, Mrs. John L. Clarkson, and Mrs. Foster Straw.

Members of the board and of the membership committee will assist in receiving. The entire club will be open for inspection.

Fathers and Sons to Vie in Spelling Bee.

Ten fathers will match their knowledge of orthography against that of the 10 best spellers of the Lake Forest academy at a Dads day to be held tomorrow at the school. Col. George T. Buckingham, grandfather of George T. Buckingham II., will act as moderator. Among the adult competitors who have been brushing up on the rules governing "i's" before "e's" are James T. Aubrey of Highland Park, A. Ballard Bradley of Winnetka, Charles R. Crane II. of Chicago, Howard D. Meincke of Glencoe, and Emmett C. McInnis of Evanston. The spelling bee will be the highlight of a day which will start at 9 o'clock when the fathers attend classes with their sons. The afternoon will be devoted to a track meet and the program will end with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

Members of the volunteer service committee of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross received wires yesterday from their chairman, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, bidding them to a luncheon meeting today at 12:30 o'clock at the Palmer House. The Chicago unit of the Red Cross is launching an intensive campaign to raise $1,000,000 toward the minimum fund of $10,000,000 that the Red Cross feels to be necessary because of the invasion of Holland and Belgium.

Mrs. Robert James Dunham of 1500 Lake Shore drive will be hostess at the weekly opera tea today.

The Tavern evening, originally announced for May 3, with Frank Lloyd Wright as the especial guest, will be held tonight. This will close the series of Tavern evenings for this season.

Lutherans Warned Against Philosophy of Dictatorships

Fears that the philosophies of European dictators might envelop America were expressed yesterday by a group of Lutheran ministers in the Missouri synod. Thirty pastors from state universities closed a two day conference at the Hotel Sherman. Dr. Henry Grueber, vice president of the synod, spoke in place of the Rev. Dr. John H. Behnken of Oak Park, president, who was unable to attend.

"Totalitarian education is deeply and darkly pagan," said Dr. Grueber," and its invasion of this country must be included in the realm of possibilities."

After comparing the various philosophies of education prominent thruout history, Dr. Grueber concluded that the Christian philosophy was the only one that upheld universal principles of moral and social conduct.

Chicago Opera Asks Singers to Auditions

Singers from all sections of the country are invited to participate in the second public audition of the Chicago Opera company, to be held early in June under the direction of Henry Weber, artistic director of the company.

All applicants will be judged by an impartial committee of qualified professional musicians. No vocal teachers will appear on the committee, inasmuch as the opera company feels that it is undesirable for products of one vocal studio to be judged by teachers of another.

One man and one woman will be selected from among the applicants. Each winner will be awarded at least one supporting rôle in an opera to be given in the 1940 season, and will be entitled to attend all opera rehearsals and at least ten performances. In addition, the winners will be given a featured radio appearance, and a check for $100 in the name of the Illinois Opera guild and its president, Mrs. James G. McMillan. Representatives of concert, radio, motion picture, and theatrical managements will be invited to attend the final audition.

All applications must be addressed to Mrs. William Cowen, vice chairman of the auditions committee, 20 North Wacker drive, Chicago.

Princeton Alumni Meeting.

The Princeton club, of which Carl H. Zeiss is president, has sent a large delegation to the Princeton alumni regional conference in Cleveland, to be held today and tomorrow at the Kirtland Country club. The 1941 meeting will be held in Nashville, Tenn.

Cordon Auction Sale.

An auction sale of art objects, silver, books, music, sculpture, paintings, and other items will be held at the Cordon at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The articles will be on view from 4 until 6 o'clock. The ways and means committee of the club is sponsoring the auction "to help line the treasury chest with silver in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Cordon."

ICY CLASSROOM FAILS TO DETER 14,000 GOLFERS

Tribune Pupils Defy Record Cold.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A combined class of 14,000 men, women, and children, disdainful of the weather man's worst, turned out last night for the first official lesson of THE TRIBUNE's eighth annual free golf school on the four courses of the Chicago park district.

The weather person never has been overly kind to these golf minded students, but he has been particularly annoying this year. Tuesday night, the date of the scheduled first lesson, saw him turn on shower after shower, but not enough of them to prevent 8,500 pupils from reporting. The first lesson was then shifted to Wednesday night, but the fellow must have been riled, for he brought a cold wind along with the rain, and the first two lessons were combined and held last night, after Wednesday's show was officially postponed.

Defy Chilly Breezes.

Last evening found the weather man in no gentler mood, altho he spared the students the rain. In its stead, he brought the coldest May 16 in Chicago history since 1891, but the marrow chilling breezes failed to daunt the citizens who were intent, as they have been these last seven years, on learning of the A B C's of the game.

They came from every corner of the town, dressed warmly enough for a winter hike. And at each of the four park district classrooms they found a staff of teachers, all members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association.

Those P. G. A. members who did brave the cold to carry on the work were as enthusiastic as their pupils, and the spirit of both indicates that this eighth school will be as successful as its predecessors, if not more so, considering the worst weather conditions in the history of the system.

The Grip and the Stance.

Last night's lesson combined instruction on the game's first two principles—the grip and the stance. The third lesson, next Tuesday night, and the fourth and last of the regular series, on Thursday night, will be held on the same four park courses—Jackson, Columbus, Marquette, and Diversey-in-Lincoln.

Each of the lessons will begin promptly at 7 p. m. If you missed the first two lessons, come next week, as they will be reviewed in detail in the last two, which will be devoted to the swing.

The Diversey and Jackson courses last night each attracted classes of 4,000, while 3,000 turned out both at Marquette and Columbus parks.

Bill Gordon of Tam o' Shanter, who will presently take up new duties as host pro for the third annual Chicago open tournament, again conducted the class at Diversey. He imported two exhibition stars from his home club—Mrs Lillian Zech, former Chicago women's district champion, and Wilford Wehrle, one time Western and present district title holder. Gordon's pupils not only were given tips on the grip and the stance but also were taught the pivot as a prelude to next week's swing theme.

Many Pros on Hand.

The remainder of the Diversey faculty included Alex Cunningham of North Shore, president of the Illinois P. G. A.; Tommy Meehan of Illinois, Jerry Glynn and Windy Harmon of Knollwood, Joe Roseman of Pickwick, Dick Dickerson of the Mill Road Farm, Pat McDonald of Rolling Green, Willis Foland of North Shore, and Tod Hardy of Diversey.

Lew Waldron, head teacher at Columbus, had several guests. His shot demonstrators were Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park, author of that 64 in the Masters', and Charley Penna of Medinah. In addition, Lew introduced Glenn Morris and Bob Harlow, both of whom gave brief talks. Assisting Lew were Byron Harcke of Roselle, Alex Law of Elmhurst, Frank Garrity, unattached, and Hank Foley of the home club.

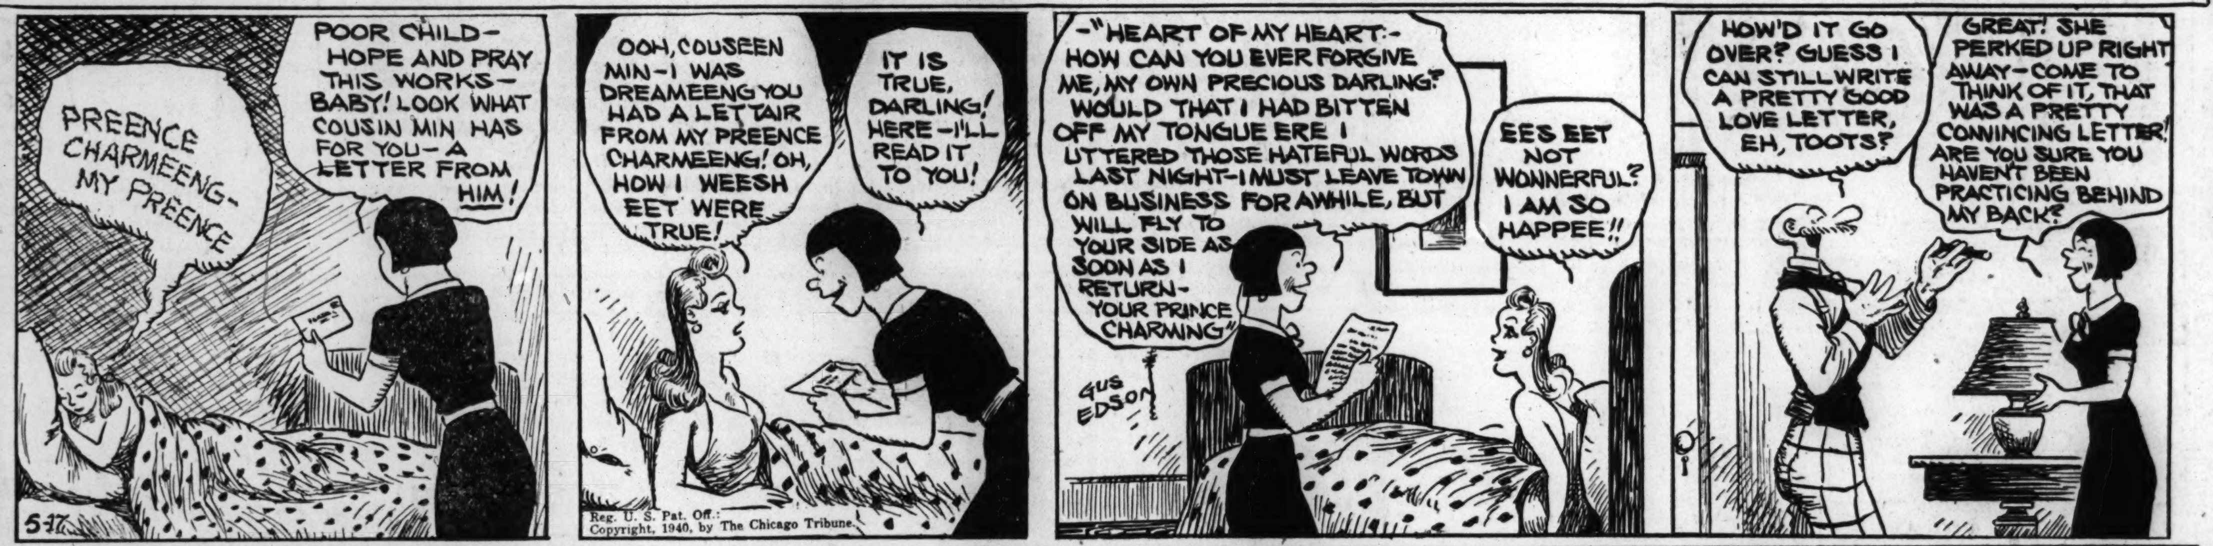
Check All Grips.

Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, national P. G. A. president, addressed the students at Jackson park, where Matt Matteson of Ridge, Illinois P. G. A. secretary, was in charge. Walsh stressed the fact that the school is intended not only for beginners but also for those who have played golf. Matteson, Bruce Herd of Flossmoor, Wally Apel of Ravisloe, and Bill Brown of Olympia Fields progressed so well that they even started their students on the swing.

Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley, head professor at the Marquette park classroom, reported that his class was one of the most enthusiastic he ever had seen at the southwest side course. Half of the lesson was devoted to answering questions, a majority of them on the grip.

Before the lesson was over, Kinnell and his associates—Al Sargent of Hinsdale; Maurie White and John Harley of La Grange; Packy Walsh of Marquette park, and Charles Blasgent of Westgate Valley—had checked the grip of every student in the crowd.

THE GUMPS—ANDY'S LITTLE WHITE LIE



Nothing Stops a True Golf Enthusiast

Fourteen thousand Chicagoans of all ages braved last evening's frigid blasts to attend the delayed official opening of The Tribune's eighth annual free golf school on four courses. This group, at Marquette park, is listening to expert advice from Harry Kinnell, professional at Edgewood Valley.

N. U. NET TEAM WINS AGAIN; TOPS MAROONS, 7 TO 1

Northwestern university's tennis team won its seventh straight Western conference meet yesterday by defeating Chicago, 7 to 1, at Evanston. The Wildcats defeated the Maroons earlier in the season, 6 to 3.

The four points scored by the Maroons in the two matches are the only ones scored against the Wildcats in conference matches this year. Summaries:

SINGLES—Greenberg, Northwestern, defeated Shostrom, Chicago, 6-4, 6-1; O'Neil, Northwestern, defeated Jorgenson, Chicago, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4; Clifford, Northwestern, defeated Sawyier, Chicago, 6-4, 6-1; Richards, Northwestern, defeated Morian, Chicago, 6-0, 6-2; Hall, Northwestern, defeated Lifton, Chicago, 6-4, 6-2; Fox, Chicago, defeated Shapiro, Northwestern, 1-6, 9-7, 6-3.

DOUBLES—Greenberg and Clifford, Northwestern, defeated Shostrom and Jorgenson, Chicago, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3; O'Neil and Hall, Northwestern, defeated Sawyier, and Atkins, Chicago, 6-4, 6-1.

Among the thousands of girls and women who helped swell last night's total attendance was Martha Olson, 22, of 7927 Marquette avenue. She attended the Jackson park class. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Berger Catches On Again; This Time with the Phillies

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16 (AP).—Signing of Walter Berger, veteran National league outfielder, was announced today by President Gerald P. Nugent of the Phillies. Berger, given his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Reds a few days ago, is expected to be used as a pinch hitter. At the same time, Nugent also announced optioning of Rookie Outfielder Stan Benjamin to Baltimore of the International league.

Students Hail Pat O'Brien in Rockne Role

On W-G-N Today

A SPECIAL broadcast from Notre Dame will be presented today over W-G-N at 1:30 p. m. featuring Pat O'Brien and Donald Crisp, who are finishing the picture "The Life of Knute Rockne," in which O'Brien portrays the great coach. Both were guests of W-G-N last night at the broadcast of the operetta "Student Prince." They came to Chicago from Notre Dame especially to attend the radio program and were greeted by a capacity audience in the W-G-N studio. They returned there last night.

Jess Kirkpatrick will interview the movie stars on the broadcast from Notre Dame. Others who will be heard are Elmer Layden, head football coach at Notre Dame; the Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., vice president of the university, and Arch Ward, sports editor of the Tribune.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., May 16.—Pat O'Brien of Marquette university and Hollywood took the stand before 2,200 students today and, for all his years in the theater, he fidgeted uneasily.

O'Brien entered the great dining hall at the University of Notre Dame, with Donald Crisp, another Hollywood veteran, and officials of the university, in the midst of luncheon, and spoke up to test the voice he will bring to the screen in the title rôle of the film "The Life of Knute Rockne."

In the staccato, crisp manner of the late Notre Dame coach, he read the lines of one of the outstanding sequences in the picture:

Test Is a Success.

A breathless silence spread over the hall. Presently priests and professors who knew Rockne, some of them from the time he enrolled at the university, broke into applause. Then the students applauded. Finally a great cheer rent the air. O'Brien, the veteran of 22 years before footlights and floodlights, sighed, smiled and bowed his way out.

The great test was over and O'Brien was satisfied that he had captured something of the vibrant personality and inflections that had made Rockne one of the nation's foremost figures.

O'Brien came here yesterday, preceded by a party of 35 cameramen, sound experts, and technicians, but inclement weather has delayed shooting of final scenes of the picture, which will be released in the fall.

Townspeople Are Extras.

WHITE SOX HOPE TO PLAY TAILEND YANKEES TODAY

Joe DiMaggio Explains to K. M. Landis.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Things keep getting screwier and screwier in the baseball business hereabouts. Yesterday, one month after opening day, for instance, it was too cold for the White Sox and the Yankees to play the opener of their scheduled three game series. It was 44 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon; at 2 o'clock Monday, when no game was scheduled in Comiskey park, it was 84 degrees, a perfect summer day, typical of the normal Chicago weather at this season.

It may be that everything is upside down because the Yankees are lodged in the cellar and the White Sox, who love Comiskey park, haven't won a game therein in 1940.

There is some question which outfit, Sox or Yanks, is suffering greater nervous tension because of the layoffs, but we suspect the Yankees. After losing eight straight, they won a game last Sunday. They haven't played a game since on account of traveling Monday, loafing in St. Louis Tuesday and Wednesday and languishing here yesterday.

Sluggers Can't Slug.

Wallowing in the cellar thru four days of idleness has not helped Yankee pride. But there has been a more serious and practical handicap. They have been hitting about the size of their chest measurements and Yankee chests haven't been expanding much recently. Naturally, sluggers with a mark around .054 to contribute to the team average, which has been around .210 all year, feel the need of batting practice they haven't been getting in hotel lounges.

The Sox, on the other hand, feel that time has been a-wastin' in their plan to rise to the top of the league while the other teams are concentrating on the jolly business of pouring the best they have on the Yankees. Altho the Sox have won only nine games, they have whipped every team in the league at least once; the Tigers and Athletics twice. They can't understand why they are only a game and a half ahead of the cellar dwelling Yanks.

Smith Pitches Today.

Postponement of yesterday's game assured the New Yorkers of a strictly left handed diet, insofar as starting pitchers are concerned. It will be Edgar Smith this afternoon and Thornton Lee tomorrow. Ted Lyons, by the way, will make his fifth straight Sunday start when he is sent against the Washington Senators day after tomorrow. Smith will be opposed today by Marius Russo, also a left hander.

The day off yesterday left the Yankees with something more to think about than pneumonia and skimpy batting averages. There was the matter of Joe DiMaggio's appearance on Commissioner K. M. Landis' famous carpet.

As reported 24 hours earlier, the Yankee slugger was called in to explain reports that 12 per cent of his salary has been going to Joe Gould, New York fight manager, who, the rumor had it, was passing 2 per cent on to Jim Braddock, former heavyweight champ.

Joe Says It Isn't So.

After the hearing DiMaggio said he had been asked about the report and that he had denied Gould was cutting a chunk of his salary.

When asked if the case had been closed by his office, Commissioner Landis said: "Please don't infer one way or the other—don't infer that there's something to it or that there isn't anything to it."

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees said:

"Nobody has ever had a piece of DiMaggio's contract. Any other agreements that Joe may have had regarding testimonials and so forth—well, that's his business."

The firmness of the outfield will have something to do with Manager Jimmy Dykes' decision as to when Julius Solters returns to the lineup. Dykes will not allow the big left fielder to risk recurrence of a charley horse if the going is mushy.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

ED BARROW, president of the Yankees, crossed up Boston hecklers who sought to taunt him after the Yankees had lost eight straight. . . . "You're looking much healthier than I thought you would," said one Bostonian to the chipper 71 year old boss of the club. . . . "Why shouldn't I?" returned Barrow. "There's nothing wrong with me that a victory wouldn't cure." . . . That afternoon the Yankees beat the Red Sox, 4 to 0. . . . Wee Willie Wilkin, the Washington Redskins' 250 pound tackle, is prospecting for gold in California. . . . Stan Klores, Northwestern baseball coach, will receive a bachelor of science degree in commerce in June. . . . Mickey Cochrane, who owns a model stock farm near Detroit, rarely goes to ball games, saying he doesn't want to get wrapped up in the sport again. . . . However, he broke his absence rule May 11 when he saw the Sox-Tigers masterpiece in celebration of Charley Gehringer's 37th birthday. . . . Johnny Pingel, Detroit Lions' quarter back who was sent to the Chicago All-Star squad last summer from Michigan State, was injured in every game the Lions played on the road last year. . . . A fox terrier, pet of a Filipino boy, attends every baseball game in Washington and barks his head off whenever the Senators score a run. . . . There's a husky Negro on Iowa's football squad who is known to his teammates only as "Yeh Man." . . . Marty McManus, former American league infielder, is doing a good job in his first season as manager of the San Antonio Missions. . . . Jim Thorpe, 52 years old, recently made a 70 yard punt while rehearsing for a part in "The Life of Knute Rockne." . . . Jimmy Rogers, son of the late Will, will bring an all-California polo team east for a series of games next season. . . .

Diamond, Ind., birthplace of Emil Bildilli, St. Louis Browns' southpaw who recently held the Yankees to two hits, is not listed in the United States official postal guide, but the larger maps show it just inside the southern border of Parke county, 20 miles northeast of Terre Haute. . . . Lawson Robertson, who coached four United States Olympic track teams, including the last, believes the Olympic games are a thing of the past. . . . He contends that the games, originated to promote peace among nations, failed of that end when each succeeding meet saw the host country attempting to outdo its predecessors in lavish expenditure. . . . Germany spent $25,000,000 on the 1936 games and Japan was preparing to exceed that total before it abandoned the 1940 meet. . . . Goose Goslin, manager of the Trenton club in the Interstate league, still plays a game now and then. . . . William Dwyer, left guard on Chicago's Mount Carmel High school football team in 1938, is playing baseball with Auburn, a minor league farm of the New York Yankees. . . .

It Has Been Said.

A man is always conscious of his worth
And bears a lordly feeling in his soul;
He knows auspicious stars shone at his birth
Predestinating him for some great goal;
He thinks all women should bow down before
His scintillating wit and repartee;
He seldom realizes he's a bore,
A fountain of conceit and vanity.

Since Eve first ate the apple long ago
And gave her mate the core—a clever plan—
Most any type of woman here below
Can make a fool of almost any man;
And what is more, if the poor fellow knew it,

Trysting Place.

This tree that stands before the wind—this lane
Where countless feet by night and day have trod—
This place of rustic beauty filled with peace
And quiet calm has known the hand of God,
Who made this tree so splendid and so tall
And arched its verdant boughs with patience rare
As if to ward off darkness and the night—
Majestic sentinel—long awaiting there
Beside that lane that wanders thru the grass,
Traced by lovers' feet that moved along
Toward a trysting place where shadows met
Moonlight—where every sound was like a song.
I passed this tree today and smiled to see
The tender blades of grass in proud display,
And glancing up saw thru the spreading boughs
Skies smiling down at me so blue and gay.
And in the still hours of some summer night
My thoughts will go back to this trysting place—
The tree in silhouette against the moon

Old Stuff.

Why all the dither about this "nerve gas" the German army is using, which, it is claimed, will put an opponent asleep instantly and keep him in a coma for an hour or more? Shucks, Joe Louis has been using that stuff for several years.

Monday morning THE TRIBUNE carried an ad inserted by a gentleman anxious to secure the return of his upper and lower false teeth, lost the day before on Boul Mich. Well, I know it got awfully windy over on the old Boul at times, but I hardly thought it would blow the teeth right out of a fella's mouth. Both sets, too. Land sakes!

RUSSELL'S HOME RUN AIDS LEE IN 3D TRIUMPH

Hartnett Catches, but Gets No Hits.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 16.—Altho their bats spoke in their customary feeble tone, the Cubs were able to squeeze thru successfully today in the second and final of their series with the Bees. What the Chicagoans lacked in numbers—their total was a half dozen safeties—they made up in distance, thus extending their current winning streak to four games. The score was 5 to 4, and among those sharing in the glory was Bill Lee, who attained his third victory despite a hazardous nine inning journey.

Glen Russell.

The Cubs didn't take kindly to the southpawing of Lefty Joe Sullivan, the American league alumnus, who was a three hit worker for seven innings, but was not among those present by the time the eighth had run its course. Because of his shaky defense, the southpaw was forced to concede two runs in the first inning and he didn't yield another hit until the seventh when Glen Russell put in a claim for hero honors by blasting his first homer of the season. The homer broke a 2 to 2 tie, but it lost much of its luster because the Cubs scored two more in the eighth. And the latter runs were needed.

Bill Barely Gets By.

Lee, who prior to this effort had completed only two of six jobs, came dangerously close to his fifth ousting as well as his fifth defeat. Given a two run lead in the first, he was back in a tie before the inning was completed and would have been out of there as well as in arrears if a dazzling grab by Bob Mattick hadn't closed the inning. Thereafter Lee was delightfully effective, except in one spot. Just after the Cubs had given him added comfort with their two runs in the eighth, he was jolted by a homer by Al Lopez with one Bee on base. But Bill still had the one run edge derived from Russell's home run and he didn't let the slim advantage escape his grasp in the ninth.

Manager Gabby Hartnett was back in action as a catcher for the second time this year, but his hitting was so negligible that even he was dissatisfied. Gabby was up four times and in the first three attempts hammered the ball all the way from one to fifty feet from the plate. However, as there was nobody on base in either case he didn't contribute to the team's imposing left on base total. In the fourth appearance he did fail with a man waiting, hence contributing to a total which now reads 187 for the season.

Errors Prove Helpful.

The Cubs contributed only two hits to their two run first inning affair, but an error by the Bees' defense was most helpful. With one out Herman doubled against the left field signs, which have been moved in to promote hitting. Gleeson singled to left and Herman scored. Ross made a somewhat unwarranted throw to the plate and the ball eluded Lopez so Gleeson, instead of stopping at second, used the error as a means of reaching third. This put him in position to score easily on the fly ball sent to West by Leiber. Dallessandro rolled to Warstler to end the inning.

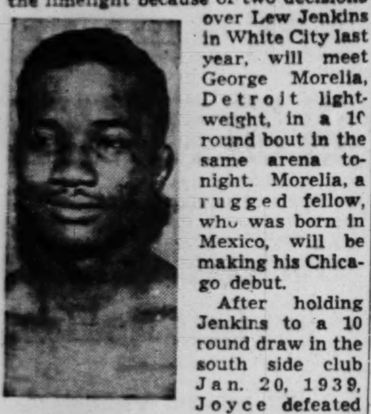
JOYCE, JENKINS' NEMESIS, FIGHTS MORELIA TONIGHT

Decisions Over Lew Put Willie in Limelight.

Willie Joyce, who finds himself in the limelight because of two decisions over Lew Jenkins in White City last year, will meet George Morelia, Detroit lightweight, in a 10 round bout in the same arena tonight. Morelia, a rugged fellow, who was born in Mexico, will be making his Chicago debut.



Willie Joyce.

After holding Jenkins to a 10 round draw in the south side club Jan. 20, 1939, Joyce defeated the newly crowned New York lightweight champion the following Feb. 17 and 24.

The second Jenkins conquest was the 1937 Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight champion's 18th victory in 22 encounters. In the others, Willie scored three draw decisions, and lost one.

Pat Thomas, Flint, Mich., junior welterweight, and Phil Saeli will be opponents in an eight round semifinal. Harry English, Toledo, O., light heavyweight, will encounter Booker Beckwith of Gary in a five round event. Beckwith, former intercity and international Golden Gloves champion, will be in quest of his fifth straight professional conquest. Settimo Terracina, amateur light heavyweight titleholder of Italy in 1938, will make his first American appearance in an additional match of five rounds against Mike Krizmis. Settimo is an Italian-Jewish refugee. Loy Henry, Detroit heavyweight, will oppose Mickey Hayes of Milwaukee in a four round curtain raiser.

Anthony Jones, 1940 international Golden Gloves middleweight champ, will meet Johnny Crane of Morgan Park in a five round contest this evening in Parichy stadium, Harrison street and Harlem avenue. The bout heads the first of a series of weekly amateur shows in Forest Park under the auspices of George De Bray and Ollie Purcell. . . . Bill Peterson, runner-up to Cornelius Young for the city Golden Gloves heavyweight championship, will fight Lucius Williams of the south side in a five round amateur headliner tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street.

In the event Altus Allen, 1939 International Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, defeats Italo Colonello in Marigold Gardens Monday he will be rewarded with a 10 round engagement against Johnny Paycheck in the Coliseum June 5.

Two additional amateur fight cards tonight will be held in Chicago Towers club, 505 North Michigan avenue, and Northwest stadium, 4043 North Cicero avenue.

Father of Johnny Behr Dies of Heart Attack

La Porte, Ind. May 16 [Special].—William Behr Sr., 76 years old, father of Johnny Behr, athletic director of the Illinois Athletic club and coach of the Chicago Golden Gloves boxing team, died today of a heart attack. The body will be sent to Chicago for burial. Funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow. In addition to John, the survivors include the widow, Katherine; another son, William Jr. of Grand Rapids, Mich., and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Flassig of Blue Island, Ill.

SMILIN' JACK—EVERY SILVER LINING HAS ITS CLOUD

The Texas Thumper

When Going Is Tough, So Is Jenkins

[This is the last of a series on Lew Jenkins, Texas boxer, who recently knocked out Lou Ambers for the New York lightweight championship.]

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Despite his stringy appearance, Lew Jenkins has a world of stamina and a durable chin, as his last 12 opponents will testify.

In the first Primo Flores bout in New York on Sept. 12, 1939, the one time cavalryman scored a knockdown only to have Primo retaliate in kind. Jenkins regained his feet, but when Flores rushed in to land a finishing blow, Lew beat him to the punch with a right to the chin which ended the contest. In the dressing room later, Jenkins thought that he and not his opponent had been knocked out.

Mike Had Him, Then He Had Mike.

In the seventh round of his bout with Mike Belloise on Nov. 21 Jenkins was on the verge of a knockout when he unleashed a terrific right that fractured Mike's ribs. Belloise couldn't continue so Jenkins was given credit for a seven round technical knockout.

However, not all solemn Lew's bouts have involved the fantastic. His triumph over Billy Marquart in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 15 was more or less routine. Before the match Jack Hurley, manager of Marquart, was one of the many who were skeptical about Jenkins' hitting prowess. He is one of the young Texan's best boosters now.

"Jenkins is a great finisher when he has a foe in distress," Hurley said the other day. "The best I've seen in a long while. When he throws his right one is reminded of an adder striking."

He Fears No Man and Is a Proud Gent.

Jenkins' rise to a claim on the world lightweight championship is believed to be the fastest in history. He fears no one and would fight Sammy Angott, who shares the title, tomorrow if permitted to do so. Angott is recognized as title holder by the National Boxing association by virtue of a 15 round decision over Davey Day in Louisville May 3.

Lew, who will be 24 years old next December, is happy over winning a championship, but he is prouder of his faith in himself. His indomitable courage kept him from quitting when the going was toughest and this fortitude helped him reach fame, glory, and riches. He collected $9,711.56 for stopping Ambers, just $9,636.56 more than what he was paid for winning a six round preliminary in White City a year ago last Jan. 6.

Jimmy Foxx Hits Ninth Home Run of Year.

St. Louis, Mo., May 16 (AP).—The league leading Boston Red Sox lambasted three St. Louis Browns pitchers for 14 hits, six of them for extra bases, to win, 7 to 5, today and boost their margin over the idle second place Cleveland Indians to three full games. The Red Sox bunched six straight hits off Vernon Kennedy and Emil Bildilli for five runs in the third. Another came in the seventh on Jimmy Foxx's ninth home run of the season.

Right Fielder Lou Finney opened the big third inning for the Red Sox with a homer. Roger Cramer, next up, tripled and Ted Williams and Foxx singled. Bildilli replaced Kennedy and was greeted by Joe Cronin, who singled, and Bobby Doerr, who doubled to complete the onslaught.

Rookie Herb Hash took over the Red Sox pitching chores in the sixth and protected the Cronin men's margin. Denny Galehouse, the starting pitcher, was credited with the victory.

Cubs Defeat Bees, 5-4; 4th Victory in Row

began with an easy out, and then came a shower of four successive singles. Warstler hit one to Herman's right. Loane dropped a Texas leaguer in right and, on West's single to center, Warstler scored. Ross also fired a single into center, the drive almost removing one of Lee's shin bones in its travels, and Loane counted. That was the extent of the Bees' blast but not because Lee was effective. After Scarsella had been thrown out, Mattick choked off two runs with a brilliant stop of Lopez' bulletlike wallop.

Bill Tightens Up.

Lee did such an about face that during the second, third, and fourth innings he was perfect except for a pass. Trouble almost caught up with him in the fifth when he had to pitch himself out of a full house. After two fellows had been tossed out by Herman's arm, Warstler drew a pass over which Manager Hartnett and Umpire Bill Stewart had a few choice words. Loane slapped a two bagger against the left field advertising and a snappy recovery by Gleeson induced Warstler to stop at third. The full house was completed by giving an intentional pass to West, after which Ross slapped a nice, soft grounder into Lee's hands.

The Cubs were so feeble with their bats after the first that for five innings they weren't able to get a man to base except by courtesy of the opposition. Hack was saved by Miller's error with one out in the third, and Herman grounded into a double play. Dallessandro walked with two out in the fourth and was forced by Russell. These were the lone base runners during this stretch of five innings, but the next Cub to survive did it all on his own. It was Russell, who, after two were out in the seventh, sent his homer over the left field barrier for a 3 to 2 lead.

Pitcher Starts Trouble.

Sullivan came painfully close to causing Lee a real disturbance in the home seventh. The Bees' southpaw led off with a double, but Lee, having a one run lead to protect, knew how to conduct his affairs. He fanned Sisti and then, after committing a wild pitch, served a series of strikes to Warstler and Loane.

Just by way of returning a compliment, Lee doubled off Sullivan with one out in the eighth. Hack beat out a hit to Warstler, Lee moving to third, whence he scored on Herman's fly to Loane. Gleeson boomed a triple to right center, Hack scoring, whereupon Sullivan removed himself from the scene of action. Al Piechota took over the vacancy and Leiber rolled to Miller.

West opened the Bees' eighth with a double to right and stayed on second while Lee was retiring Ross and Scarsella. Then Lopez whittled away all except one run of the Cubs' lead by whacking his homer over the left field wall. Lee went thru the ninth with the danger limited to one single by Rowell, a pinch hitter.

Claude Passeau to Face Giants for Cubs Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 16.—The Cubs left for New York immediately after finishing their day's work here, and if everything proceeds according to schedule, they'll open a two game series with the Giants tomorrow. Claude Passeau, winner of one of his four starts, will do the pitching for the Chicagoans. The Cubs expect to face Harry Gumbert.

Augie Galan, who has been on the bench during the last five games because of his light hitting as a center fielder, will be back in action tomorrow but in left field. The move indicates that Manager Hartnett remains unimpressed by either Bill Nicholson or Dominic Dallessandro. Manager Hartnett also has benched Catcher Hartnett for tomorrow.

Maroons End Baseball Card with Gophers

The University of Chicago's baseball team will meet Minnesota's Gophers today and tomorrow on Greenwood field on the Midway in the final pair of contests on the Maroon calendar.

Art Lopatka, rated Chicago's best pitcher, probably will be Coach Kyle Anderson's mound choice for today's opening game. The stocky left hander will be motivated to win by the fact that the only Maroon victory was brought about by his bat, but not by his pitching. Ken Garverick probably will pitch tomorrow's game, also scheduled for 3:30 p. m.

Stan Sowa is scheduled to pitch the opener for the Gophers,

N. U. MEETS WISCONSIN.

Northwestern university's baseball team will place its first place position in the Big 9½ race at stake today in the first of a two game series against Wisconsin in Madison. The second game will be played tomorrow.

John Goldak, who has won three conference games this year, will pitch for the Wildcats in the opener. John Rosch, veteran right hander who has won three out of four games, will be the pitching choice tomorrow.

The Wildcats hope to continue the hitting power they unleashed in the Iowa series last week when they pounded out 32 hits in the two games. Bill DeCorrevont is the teams' leading hitter in conference games with an average of .414 for the eight games played.

JIMMY REEVES WHIPS KRIEGER; GEORGE TOY WINS

Cleveland, O., May 16 (AP).—Jimmy Reeves, Cleveland Negro, winner of the 1939 Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight title, stepped into line tonight for a possible shot at the world light heavy boxing crown with a decisive 10 round decision over Solly Krieger of Brooklyn.

There were no knockdowns, but Reeves had Krieger on the ropes at the end of the ninth round. The former world middleweight champion failed to win a round as the young Clevelander outboxed and outslugged him. It was Reeves' 14th victory in 15 pro fights. He weighed 168 pounds and Krieger 173.

Buddy Knox, 189, Dayton, O., pounded out a close decision over Harry Cooper, 193, New York, in a sluggish 10 round second headliner.

Where did "DIVOT" come from?

It came from the oblongs of turf cut to thatch cottages—or pieces of peat for fuel. A golfer is known by the divot he takes. But, good or bad, a thinking golfer always replaces his divots.

"All who came in contact with her, from the highest court official down to the humblest maid, extolled her friendliness, her lack of arrogance, her affectionate and endearing ways. She won hearts because she never harshly or haughtily reminded people of her majesty."

FROM "MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTLAND AND THE ISLES" BY STEFAN ZWEIG

Mary's great charm and friend-making qualities long ago led the early makers of Highland Queen Whisky to name it for her. It is an appealing Scotch, true to its traditions, being light and delicate, yet retaining rare flavor and bouquet.

LINCOLN FIELDS GETS READY FOR RACING OPENER

Horsemen Shiver as First Stables Arrive.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Hardy horsemen, whose rugged constitutions are impervious to the Illinois springtime, are sloshing around Lincoln Fields stable yards preparing for the opening of the Chicago area's racing season a week from tomorrow. They buttoned up their coats yesterday and trudged over to the unloading chute to help Track Superintendent Tom Young welcome a shipment of horses from California.

These arrivals consisted of several carloads owned by Lonnie Copenhaver, J. E. Copenhaver, and Mrs. J. F. Waters. They had been campaigning on the west coast during the winter and had just concluded an engagement at Tanforan.

Waters Stable New Here.

The Copenhaver horses are familiar to Chicago race fans, but the Waters stable will be making its first appearance in this area. Mrs. Waters is a San Francisco sportswoman, who has been taking part in horse racing for the last four years. Previously she had been interested in saddle horses. Eual Wyatt, who is in charge of the Waters stable, said that he plans to use Vino Puro, a 6 year old handicap performer, in the various Lincoln Fields stakes and send the other members of the consignment of 27 into claiming events.

Clyde Troutt, Benny Creech, Paul Kelley, Ivan Parke, Karl Mayer, Frank Abbate, Clarence Davidson, John Oros, Bob McGarvey, and other well known horsemen already are on the grounds preparing their charges for an Illinois campaign. With the closing of the Churchill Downs meeting tomorrow many more stables will ship to Chicago.

Stake Nominations Made.

Racing Secretary William H. Shelley, who is now in Louisville, will open his Lincoln Fields office on Monday. Nominations for the six $5,000 stake events of the meeting are now in his hands.

The stake program will provide competition for high class juveniles and older horses over distances varying from five furlongs to a mile and a quarter. All but the Joliet stakes, which is a five furlong dash for juveniles, will be for 3 year olds and up. There will be a $5,000 stake event every Saturday of the meeting and also on Memorial day.

Matt J. Winn, executive director of Lincoln Fields, has been in Chicago for several days supervising arrangements for the opening. He will return to Louisville today to be on hand for the close of the Churchill Downs meeting.

The Calumet horses, owned by Warren Wright, will be making their first Chicago appearance since Ben Jones took over their training last summer.

C. D. G. A. TO HOLD HANDICAP GOLF MEET AT NAVAJO

Event Heads Busy Card for Next Wednesday.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Next Wednesday brings one of the most crowded early season days in local golf. The Chicago District Golf association will hold the first of its 1940 one-day handicap events at the Navajo Fields Golf club; Bob o' Link will conduct its annual spring tournament and new members' day, and the Chicago Towers club golfers will gather at the Nordic Hills club. In the evening, the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association will hold its annual dinner-dance in the Terrace room of the Morrison hotel.

The handicap tournament is one of three to be held by the C. D. G. A. during the season, the others being scheduled later in the season for Big Foot and Bob o' Link. This form of competition is one of the most interesting on the district calendar. Prizes will be awarded in each class. Each player must present his C. D. G. A. handicap card. The entry fee is $1.

Lincolnshire women golfers will open their season tomorrow. . . . Mrs. Frank T. Woods is chairman of the women's committee. . . . A combined soil cultivator and fertilizer was demonstrated yesterday at Hickory Hills. . . . Entries for the Illinois amateur tournament, to be decided at Danville, Ill. from June 26 thru June 29, must reach the C. D. G. A. offices by June 21. The fee is $5. All amateurs residing in Illinois are eligible. . . . Morgan Park Military academy will hold a father and son tourney at Navajo Fields on June 5. . . . Dr. E. D. Patenaude of Blue Island has rejoined Calumet and will play on the club's south district league team. . . . Matt Matteson of Ridge, secretary of the Illinois P. G. A., caddied for Jock Hutchison when the latter defeated the late Douglas Edgar for the national professional championship at Flossmoor in 1920. . . .

Edward Fladoos, in charge of Glen Oak's locker room for the last 10 years, has been appointed manager of the club, President Herbert Cline announces. . . . Dave Tosh is entering his 16th year as professional at Sunset Ridge. Bill Rhodes, his assistant, has been with him three years. The club will hold its annual stampede on June 26. . . . Scotty Irwin has returned from Florida to his post at the Bon-Air Country club. . . . The Chicago Association of Commerce tournament, first held in 1910, is scheduled for June 13 at Lincolnshire. More than 200 prizes, topped by the James A. Stillman trophy, will be awarded.

RICE AND MEHL IN LOS ANGELES FOR MAKI RACE

Los Angeles, Cal., May 16 (AP).—Gregory Rice of Notre Dame and Walter Mehl of Wisconsin flew into Los Angeles today to engage Taisto Maki of Finland in the two mile feature of tomorrow night's champions of 1940 track meet for the Finnish relief fund.

Two doctors examined Maki this morning after a strenuous two mile workout, and tho reaffirming a report by another examiner that he has an enlarged heart, declared he could compete. Maki has an engagement to run in Mexico City later this month. Whether he will fulfill the schedule in view of the high altitude has not been decided definitely.

Sarazen Sets Record to Tie for Golf Lead

New York, May 16 (AP).—Gene Sarazen stole the show in the opening round of the $5,000 Goodall golf tournament at the Fresh Meadow Country club today. Sarazen, who won his last National Open championship over this very links in 1932, came in with a blazing 31—four strokes under par and a shot under his own course record—to post an 18 hole score of 70 and take the play away from his younger adversaries.

Gene's comeback enabled him to complete the first round in a tie with Jimmy Thomson, each with a score for the day of 8 plus. Clayton Heafner held third place with a score of 7 plus, while Ben Hogan and Paul Runyan were tied for fourth with 4 plus scores.

Sarazen shot an awkward 39 going out, and then suddenly found some of the old fire that once made him as tough a man as you could meet on a golf course.

Takes 6 on Sixteenth.

He came in 333 433 633. He was red hot, despite the drizzling rain that soaked him and his gallery. But for the 16th hole, where his second shot found a trap and it took him two strokes to get out, he might have set a nine hole record that would have stood a long time.

Back in 1932, when he apparently was out of it, Sarazen shot a 32 over the same nine holes to win the Open title from Bobby Cruickshank and Phil Perkins, who in turn thought they had it won.

Sarazen's blazing back nine enabled him to beat Martin Pose of Argentina and Henry Picard, the P. G. A. champion, each 4 up. That explains his score of 8 plus. Pose shot a 74 and Picard a 75.

Thomson Routs Demaret.

Thomson poled his long drives over the wet grass to post a 72 and finish the first round 4 up over both Jimmy Demaret, the tournament favorite, and Craig Wood, the perennial runner-up. Demaret posted a 75 and Wood a 76. Demaret goes into tomorrow's second and third rounds with a score of minus 2.

Heafner occupied third place with his score of 7 plus by shooting a 74 against his two opponents, Horton Smith and Dick Metz. Smith shot 78 and Metz 79.

Hogan and Runyan, bracketed at 4 plus, each shot a 74. Hogan beat Jimmy Hines 3 up and Byron Nelson, the Open champion, 1 up. Runyan profited by the fact that Lawson Little could deliver no better than a 75. Sammy Snead, who played in the same threesome, scored another 71 to finish 3 up over Little.

Chicagoan Wins Eastern College Tennis Title

Providence, R. I., May 16 [Special].—Langdon Brown Gilkey, a Harvard senior from Chicago, today won the eastern intercollegiate tennis championship on the Brown university courts by defeating Robert Freedman of Yale, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1. Gilkey eliminated Dave Burt, Harvard captain, in the semifinals, 6-3, 6-1.

'Rockne' Makes Good Again

TULSAN LEADS AT HALFWAY MARK IN VALLEY GOLF

Des Moines, Ia., May 16 (AP).—Slender Palmer Kise, Tulsa university junior, took the lead at the half way post of the Missouri Valley conference 72 hole golf tournament here today by adding a 71, two under par, to a first round 81. The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

Kise's 152 total gave him a five stroke advantage over Clair Staley of Washington university, who shot a 78 after leading the field at 18 holes with a 79.

It was St. Louis university, however, that moved into the front spot in the team race, taking a one stroke lead over Tulsa with a 681 total. Washington, the defending champion, posted a 690 total for third position, and trailing the leaders were Drake and the Oklahoma Aggies with 696 and 726 strokes, respectively.

WHITNEY JOINS HITCHCOCK IN QUITTING POLO

New York, May 16 [Special].—Tommy Hitchcock Jr. and John Hay [Jock] Whiney, two of the best known names in the polo world, will retire from the game tomorrow night when they will sell their entire string of polo ponies at auction in East Willston, N. Y.

Hitchcock, rated one of the world's greatest players, has been active in the game for 30 years and his retirement was expected. It had not been known that Whitney planned to retire until the announcement was made today. He had never been a particularly brilliant player, but maintained the most valuable stable of polo ponies in the country and supported the game generously. He provided mounts for many players unable to maintain ponies themselves.

Students Hail Pat O'Brien in Rockne Role

rôle of Father Callahan, a composite of the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., and the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., late presidents of the university, completed takes of the funeral shots in Sacred Heart church this morning. Thereafter there was nothing for Crisp and O'Brien, the only actors in the party, to do but make social calls.

The trip to location at Notre Dame was somewhat of a homecoming for Crisp. In 1910 he played in the old Oliver Opera house in South Bend with the Four Cohans. His first stop after leaving the welcoming reception yesterday was the Oliver, where he found double features with newsreels and shorts for 15 cents. No one there, he reported, ever had heard of the Four Cohans.

Takes Rôle Seriously.

O'Brien views the rôle of Rockne as the most important in his long career. "Rockne was one of the most unusual and picturesque men of our time," he said today. "His career ended so recently that hundreds of thousands of men and women thruout the country still remember him intimately. Therefore, his is a rôle that requires greater fidelity than almost any other that an actor could be asked to play. It is a tremendous assignment, but it is my big opportunity. We'll all know when this picture hits the screen whether I'm an actor or just another substitute quarter back from Marquette."

This afternoon, Pat and Mrs. O'Brien registered their 4 year son, Ronald Sean O'Brien, for matriculation with class of 1960 with the Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., vice president of the university. O'Brien insists Ronald Sean will play quarter back on the 1957 Notre Dame varsity, but Mrs. O'Brien, declaring he grows more like his father every day, said Father Cavanaugh had better plan on playing him at guard.

Waterman High Coach Gets East Aurora Post

Cecil R. May, basketball coach at Waterman, Ill., High school, yesterday was appointed coach of the East Aurora High school squad. May succeeds Charles Stunkel, who resigned to teach mathematics at Highland Park. May had considerable success at Waterman, winning 22 games and losing 4 in the 1938-'39 season and triumphing in 28 out of 33 contests last season.

180 HIGH SCHOOLS OF STATE CLASH IN TRACK TODAY

Open 46th Annual Meet in Champaign.

Champaign, Ill., May 16 [Special].—Proviso of Maywood, Oak Park, Highland Park and Morton of Cicero are favorites in the 46th annual state interscholastic track meet to be held at the University of Illinois tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning under the auspices of the Illinois State High School Athletic association.

Of the four contenders, Oak Park is the only team which has won a championship. The suburbanites were champions in 1937 and 1938 and lead all schools with 13 championships.

Nearly 500 athletes representing 180 schools qualified in district meets last week. The field is led by district champions Carlinville, Decatur, Downers Grove, Duquoin, East St. Louis, Evanston, Lawrenceville, Naperville, Peoria Central, Proviso [Maywood], Quincy, Rock Island, Rockford, Steinmetz, and Sullivan [Chicago], Westville, and Lincoln [East St. Louis].

Fast Time Expected.

Brilliant performances in district meets presage the fastest meets in the history of the tournament, with favorable weather. In 8 out of 13 events better marks were made than in the finals last year and in two events state records were surpassed.

John Smith of Maine [Des Plaines] covered the high hurdles in :14.4, one-fifth of a second faster than the state record made by Roy Brown of Morton last year. Louis Sabin of La Grange put the shot 54 feet 3 inches, the present record being 53 feet 3¾ inches, established by Bruce Freeman of York [Elmhurst] last year. Don Gladding of Urbana was the leading district miler, achieving 4:32.6, close to the state record of 4:32.2 made by Blaine Rideout of Tuscola in 1932.

Lester Farmer, last year's winner in the 100 yard dash and the broad jump, is the only 1939 champion who returns, but Bob McSweeney of Oak Park was broad jump champion two years ago. Dale Dilley of Tower Hill, 220 yard champion last year, is out with a sprained ankle. Bob Rehberg of Oak Park, second in the half mile last year, was champion in 1938, setting a record.

District Meets' Best Marks.

Best performances in the district meets were:

220 YARD DASH—Bromstedt, Highland Park, :22.3.
440 YARD RUN—Smerdel, Danville, :51.2.
880 YARD RUN—Rehberg, Morton, Cicero, 2:00.2.
MILE RUN—Gladding, Urbana, 4:32.6.
880 YARD RELAY—Highland Park, 1:32.1.
200 YARD LOW HURDLES—Smith, Maine, Des Plaines, :22.5.
HIGH JUMP—Miller, Marissa, 6 feet 1 inch.
BROAD JUMP—Farmer, Proviso, Maywood, 22 feet 11 inches.
POLE VAULT—Miller, Marissa, 11 feet 9½ inches.
SHOT PUT—Sabin, La Grange, 54 feet 3 inches.
DISCUS THROW—Carlson, Glenbard, 144 feet 9 inches.

Salernos and Petrones Win Softball Openers

The Salernos and the Petrones last night won the opening games in the Windy City Softball league in St. Philip stadium. The Salernos won from the Witt Hanleys, 7 to 6, and the Petrones defeated the Touhy Demos, 12 to 9. The Petrones, defending champions, will oppose the Hebrews, and the Baltimore Lumbers will face the Lapota Steelers in league contests tonight in Rand stadium, 1900 East 75th street.

BANKS' EXCESS RESERVE FUNDS RISE FURTHER

Seven Day Increase Is 170 Millions.

Another weekly increase in excess reserves of federal reserve system banks was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board for the seven days ended May 15. The increase was 170 million dollars, and it lifted the total of such reserves to 6 billion 300 million dollars.

In the week ended May 8 the banks reported a gain of 20 million dollars in excess reserves.

Gold imports and deficit spending by the federal treasury caused the latest week's increase in idle cash, the board said.

Details of the report follow:

DIESEL AIRPLANES.

I saw recently a report that the Buda company makes Diesel engines for airplanes. I had never heard of the firm and looked for its name in the stock tables but could not find it. I would like some information about its operations—M. J.

Answer: The Buda company manufactures railway supplies and parts, Diesel and internal combustion engines, track equipment for steam and electric railroads, electric trucks for indoor industrial uses, earth drills, electric lights for locomotives, jacks, and inboard motors for small boats.

The company last December received a subcontract from the Guiberson company of Dallas, Tex., to manufacture 109 nine-cylinder Diesel engines for army tanks. Production of a lightweight airplane Diesel engine will be started in several months under Guiberson patents, Buda officials said recently.

Incorporated in Illinois in 1882 with its plant at Buda, Ill., the company's present name was taken in 1887 and operations were moved to Harvey, Ill., in 1891.

The company has outstanding 187,728 shares of $12.50 par common stock. The par value of the stock had been changed March 6, 1937, from $100 to $12.50 a share when eight new shares were exchanged for each old share. The stock is traded over the counter. The company has no funded debt.

Dividends on the stock totaled 12½ cents a share in 1939, nothing in 1938, and 37½ cents initial payment in 1937.

	Net Sales.	Net Income.	Earned per shr.
1937	....	$354,877	$1.93
1938	$3,482,535	*156,312	*.85
1939	3,454,118	41,339	.22

*Net loss.

The Buda company on July 31, 1939, had total assets of $3,916,340 of which current assets were $2,237,309. Current liabilities were $526,845, indicating net working capital of $1,710,464.

LANOVA PATENTS.

What is the business of the Lanova corporation?—B. L.

Answer: The Lanova corporation owns American rights to various Diesel patents held by German firms. It conducts its own research into fuel injection and combustion systems, and licenses manufacturers to construct Diesel engines using the Lanova combustion system.

The Lanova type Diesel uses a special precombustion chamber in which the turbulence of the mixture of fuel and air is increased to obtain smoother performance.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hog markets made a sharp recovery to Tuesday's price levels yesterday. Advances at the stockyards ranged from 25 to 40 cents, equal to Wednesday's declines. Top loads rose 30 cents, to $6.10, and the average was up 25 cents, at $5.80.

Chicago led the recovery, maintaining a relatively high price position compared with other leading packing centers.

Day by Day on the Farm
By BOB BECKER

Banded Jay Returns.

May 16, 1940.

AN itinerant blue jay which walked into one of the bird banding traps on the Du Page county farm last week completed a cycle which started May 5, 1939. On that date last spring the bird walked into on of the traps and was given an aluminum leg band bearing the number 38-319410. After being released he disappeared for a year and four days. Then he walked into the trap for a long delayed second helping of seeds and grain.

Birds which have been banded often return to the traps for additional meals, but usually their visits are spaced within a few days or a few weeks after their original banding.

Banding Upsets Theory.

In this section of the country blue jays generally are considered permanent residents. Until recent years it was believed that blue jays hatched in this area stayed here during their entire lifetime without migrating to the south during the winter months. Now, however, ornithologists and bird banders have concluded that many blue jays do migrate on a limited scale.

The bird banding records of the Du Page county farm tend to prove this theory. The banding station was operated during April, but we didn't get a single blue jay in any of our traps until May 1 [the day of the snowstorm]. On that date one was banded. On May 9 five entered the traps, including the one banded on May 5, 1939. From these records the natural assumption is that a group of migrating blue jays found the feed at the bird traps.

Dr. Frederick C. Lincoln, a federal official who has charge of all migratory bird banding work in this country, states in a recently published book that banding records prove this movement of blue jays. Birds of this species banded in New York and New Jersey in midsummer were recaptured during the following fall and winter in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee. Other banding records prove that blue jays which spend their summer months in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Minnesota move to Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Oklahoma, and Texas for the winter months.

Fans Note Migrants.

Outdoor fans who watch winter bird life in this area know that many blue jays stay in Chicagoland all winter. But whether these are the identical birds which we see during the summer months is questionable. Our summer blue jays probably migrate south a few hundred miles during October, and jays which have been living in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and southern Canada probably move into Chicagoland to take their place.

There are numerous individual records to prove Dr. Lincoln's theory that blue jays migrate. For instance, a jay banded at Waukegan Sept. 14, 1923, was found the following November near Peruque, Mo. Another banded at Winnetka June 16, 1925, was found dead at Sulphur Rock, Ark., on Dec. 10 of the same year. Another blue jay was banded at Madison, Wis., June 27, 1931, and found Nov. 15, 1933, in Armuchee, Ga.

STOCKS SURGE UPWARD ON AIR DEFENSE PLAN

"War Babies" Spurt 1 to 6 Points.

New York, May 16 (AP). — Traders rushed to buy in the stock market today in swift response to President Roosevelt's billion dollar armament program.

With the President's emphasis on a 50,000 plane capacity for the American industry, aircraft stocks were favorites in the afternoon buying splurge. Steels, likewise classed as "war babies," were close seconds.

The turn came with dramatic suddenness as the President began to speak. Prices rose, settled back as Wall Street heard him out, then kited for gains of 1 to 6 or more points in the armament issues. The ticker chattered along several minutes behind the market.

Cautious Buying Earlier.

Earlier, there had been cautious buying among the armament shares, but the bulk of the list had been ragged. The rally, however, swept nearly everything with it and gains were general, tho not large except in a few specialties and high priced issues. There was a little profit taking at the finish.

Issues showing the most pronounced gains included Douglas Aircraft, North American Aviation, Glenn Martin, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, United States Steel, United Aircraft, Sperry, Lockheed, Boeing, Curtiss-Wright, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Johns-Manville, Air Reduction, Western Union, Anaconda, American Smelting, Goodyear, Chrysler, Loft, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemical, Eastman, and du Pont. Wright Aero, a lightly traded issue, sold 15 points higher.

Average Rises Half Point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced ½ point to 43.3. Yesterday the average was the lowest since April, 1939. In the first three days of the week the average had lost 5.70 points.

Turnover was 2,355,180 shares, compared with 3,771,700 Wednesday. Nearly 900,000 shares changed hands in the final hour.

The curb market also showed a preference for war stocks. Colts Firearms rose more than 8 points, and Aluminum of America nearly as much.

CHICAGO LIST RISES

Stocks on the Chicago exchange active issues showing pronounced strength.

Volume leaders included Commonwealth Edison, which finished at 28⅞, up ¼; Aviation and Transportation, 3¾, up ⅛; Aviation corporation, 7⅛, up 2; Butler Brothers, 5⅛, up ¼; Sundstrand Machine Tool, 26, up 3½; Marshall Field, 11⅛, down ⅛, and Bendix, 32¾, up 3¼.

The recent surge in trading carried the volume ahead of that of 1939 for the first time this year. The total to date is 3,002,000 shares, compared with 2,981,000 shares at this time last year.

Arrangements were completed for the sale of a Chicago Stock exchange membership at $1,500, unchanged from the last previous sale.

WORKERS ACCEPT MAYTAG PLAN TO BREAK DEADLOCK

Newton, Ia., May 16 (AP).—C. I. O. union members in the Maytag company washing machine factory have accepted a "memorandum of understanding" tendered by the management.

The company and the United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers' union have been unable to reach an agreement since the plant was closed and the National Guard called out during a 1938 wage reduction dispute.

The memorandum, which company officials described as the "basis for a contract," recognizes the union as bargaining agency for production and maintenance employés for the next six months.

Other provisions included continuation of the present wage structure, with a minimum of 45 cents an hour, and distribution of $5,000 by the company among 13 discharged employés and reinstatement of 20 others. There is no provision for a closed shop.

PRIVATE BUILDING GAINS, BUT TOTAL IN WEEK IS DOWN

New York, May 16 (AP).—Private engineering contracts awarded during the week ended May 14 totaled $20,754,000, a gain of 16 per cent over the preceding week and 26 per cent more than a year ago, Engineering News-Record reported today. It marked the seventh successive week that private awards have topped their respective 1939 values.

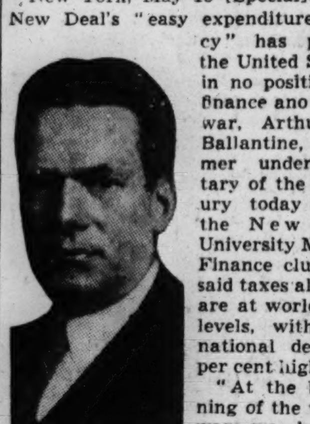
Total construction volume, however, declined to $46,740,000, a drop of 9 per cent from the week before and 17 per cent less than the corresponding week last year because of a lag in public contracts. Public awards were 23 per cent smaller than the week before and 34 per cent less than a year ago.

Comparison of the week's awards follows:

	Last week.	Preced. wk.	Year ago.
Private	$20,754,000	$17,821,000	$16,511,000
State and m'nic'l	21,914,000	28,583,000	36,090,000
Federal.	4,072,000	4,974,000	3,412,000
Total	$46,740,000	$51,378,000	$56,013,000

Reports Nation Unprepared to Finance War

New York, May 16 [Special].—The New Deal's "easy expenditure policy" has placed the United States in no position to finance another war, Arthur A. Ballantine, former undersecretary of the treasury today told the New York University Men in Finance club. He said taxes already are at world war levels, with the national debt 65 per cent higher.



A. A. Ballantine.

"At the beginning of the world war we had a debt of about $1,000,000,000 and were drawing on taxpayers for less than $1,000,000,000 a year," he said, "so we could readily expand revenues and debt to meet new conditions.

"Now we would start with tax levies already at the war level yet far below expenditures. Our government, to say the least, is not in a favorable position to meet the emergency of another war.

Lacks Sound Peacetime Basis.

"It is also plain that it is not in a sound condition for the steady development of the best ways of life in peacetime. Persistent maintenance of a scale of civil expenditures which necessitates continued borrowing of vast sums for nonliquidating projects is in the end a wrecking process."

For the nation to continue as it is going, permitting civil expenditures to pile up debt, is to bring ruin, Ballantine said.

"Such a program hampers preparedness for defense and presents the danger that some time, with the portfolios of the banks and insurance companies crammed with government obligations not supported by current revenues, confidence in those obligations is lessened and some form of repudiation resorted to," he continued.

Must Face Adjustments.

"The other alternative is to work away from the scale of civil expenditure, built up by borrowing under one persuasive plea or another, and face the adjustments that are involved.

"To say that a nation with such resources as ours, rightly informed and guided, is not able to adjust normal expenditures to bearable taxation, is to be a defeatist indeed."

The United States is in far better fiscal condition than either England or France, however, Ballantine observed.

U. S. STEEL ISSUE IS NEARLY SOLD, DEALERS REPORT

New York, May 16 (AP).—Sale of all but $3,140,000 of $75,000,000 of serial debentures of United States Steel corporation in the face of war-unsettled capital markets, was reported late today by the syndicate underwriting the issue.

A spokesman for the syndicate, headed by Morgan Stanley & Co., said it was expected the remainder would be disposed of shortly.

Meantime an offering of 3¼ per cent bonds and preferred stock of Indianapolis Power and Light company, scheduled for sale Monday by a group headed by Lehman Brothers, was temporarily postponed, because of the "war and war market conditions."

Texas corporation was proceeding with plans for offering by Dillon Read & Co., $60,000,000 debentures next Wednesday. An amendment to the registration statement was filed with the Securities and Exchange commission, setting the coupon rate on the new issue at 2¾ per cent.

RUBBER ON HAND SUFFICIENT FOR 5 MONTHS' NEEDS

New York, May 16 (AP).—Enough crude rubber to supply domestic needs for just about five months was in American warehouses and en route to the United States by ship at the end of April, the Rubber Manufacturers association reported today. The estimate was based on the present normal rate of consumption.

The heavier movement of the staple since the outbreak of war was evident in the association's figures showing 102,557 long tons afloat for United States ports compared with 113,619 at the end of March and only 57,918 at the end of April, 1939. Domestic stocks were estimated at 162,282 long tons compared with 142,414 the previous month and with 188,074 a year ago.

April consumption by United States manufacturers was put at 50,103, against 50,192 in March and 45,268 in April, 1939. April imports, totaling 70,699 tons, were more than double the April, 1939, imports of 32,031.

FEDERAL REVENUES PASS 5 BILLION, BUT DEFICIT STILL GROWS

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—Federal revenues passed 5 billion dollars today. With a month and a half of the fiscal year yet to go, the treasury has collected $5,004,726,896 and expected to surpass the budgeted $5,703,795,000. The month ahead is one of the heavy tax collection periods of the year, because second quarterly instalments on income tax will be due June 15.

Since last June 1, however, the treasury has spent $8,276,575,170, causing a deficit of $3,271,848,274. In the similar portion of the previous fiscal year, the treasury had taken in $4,919,394,577 and spent $7,936,274,085, with a deficit of $3,016,879,508.

Trade Report Shows Market Loss Thru War

Washington, D. C., May 16 [Special].—Reports issued today by the department of commerce indicate the losses American export trade has suffered as a result of the spread of the war to Scandinavia. They also give some idea of how large a trade stake the United States has in the conflict now raging in Holland, Belgium, and France.

Exports of United States merchandise declined in April to $315,000,000, nearly $29,000,000, or 8 per cent, less than the value recorded in March. The closing of Scandinavian markets as a result of the German invasion of Norway and Denmark, altho it was not completely felt in April, resulted in an 80 per cent decline of total American shipments to the four Scandinavian countries to less than $4,000,000 from more than $19,000,000 in March.

Holland Market Lost.

Merchandise shipped to Norway decreased nearly $5,000,000, to Sweden over $6,000,000, to Denmark $1,000,000, and to Finland nearly $4,000,000.

Holland now must be removed from the list of American markets. That country bought $4,625,000 worth of American goods in April, and in the corresponding month in past years bought nearly twice that amount.

Belgium absorbed $4,150,000 worth of American goods in April, and in peace-time took from 25 to 50 per cent more. Switzerland, which is reported preparing for the worst, bought $3,587,000 worth of American goods in April.

France Boosts Purchases.

France bought $44,449,000 worth of American goods in April, more than she did in March or in April 1939 and 1938.

Great Britain's imports from this country were $52,201,000 in April, also more than in March or in April of the preceding two years.

Department of commerce officials refuse even to speculate on the effects on American export trade should the British and French empires be defeated.

Only some 7 or 8 per cent of total United States production is exported. But 50 per cent of American cotton is exported, while foreign trade also plays an important part in the growing of tobacco, another southern staple, and the manufacture of such things as office supplies, industrial machinery and machine tools.

Some Industry Benefited.

Commerce department officials said that the war already was establishing a sharp line of demarcation between agricultural and industrial production. Certain industrial lines have benefited from the war, they said, but agriculture already has suffered heavily. In the event of a German victory they predicted agriculture will suffer still more, while domestic defense necessities would speed up many lines of industrial production.

A recent study of the possiblity of extending United States trade with South America, issued by the United States tariff commission, indicates this country supplies Latin America with 34 per cent of her imports and took 30 per cent of its exports in 1938. This trade has been growing steadily since the outbreak of war, exports to Latin America in the first six war months having increased 54 per cent and imports 32 per cent.

RAILROADS LOAD 680,657 CARS IN WEEK; 1940 PEAK

Loadings of revenue freight by railroads during the week ended May 11 totaled 680,657 cars, a new high for the year, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Loadings were 2.3 per cent heavier than in the preceding week, 126,013 cars, or 22.7 per cent larger than in the 1939 week, and 138,849 cars, or 25.6 per cent more than in the corresponding week in 1938. The gain over the preceding week was against the usual seasonal trend.

Loadings of the various commodities compared with the preceding week and with the same week in 1939 as follows:

CREEDEN SUCCEEDS M'DOUGALL AS LIBBY, M'NEILL PRESIDENT

Edward G. McDougall, president of Libby, McNeill & Libby, yesterday was elected chairman of the board. Daniel W. Creeden, who has been executive vice president, was named to succeed him as president.

Daniel W. Creeden.

McDougall has been connected with the packing and canning company for 39 years and has been president for the last 18 years.

Creeden, who was born in Brockton, Mass., was graduated from Harvard in 1913. Later that year he entered the employ of Swift & Co., and in 1921 was sent to New England as manager of an associated plant. He was placed at the head of all the company's New England packing plants eight years later.

Elected a vice president of Swift in 1934, he remained with that company until he was chosen a vice president of Libby, McNeill & Libby in 1938.

'FREEZES' DUTCH FUNDS AGAIN AT THEIR REQUEST

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The treasury revoked today, at Holland's request, authority to remove Dutch government funds from the United States except by special permission of the United States treasury.

Dr. A. Loudon, the Dutch minister, asked Sec. Morgenthau to revoke the license, granted a few days ago, after the Germans occupied virtually all of Holland. Morgenthau told reporters that the reason for the revocation request was "obvious."

He indicated that, now that Germany occupies the Dutch capital and most of its European territory, a technical dispute might arise as to who constitutes the legal Dutch government. The Dutch government recognized by the United States has fled to London but officials envisaged the possibility of the Germans setting up a new government in Holland and claiming ownership of the vast Dutch deposits in the United States, estimated at about $200,000,000 cash, not counting gold and securities.

STEEL WORKERS' PENSION SYSTEM IS BROADENED

New York, May 16 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation has broadened its employés' pension system thru establishment of a new contributory plan for workers earning more than $3,000 a year, Benjamin F. Fairless, president, announced today. About 11,000 workers are eligible for participation in the plan, which provides for retirement pensions with respect to service after 1939.

Employés will contribute 3 per cent of their earnings in excess of $3,000, or in excess of $3,600 in the case of those employed on the corporation's railroad properties.

Contributions of the steel corporation and its subsidiaries, said the announcement, will be in "varying amounts, which it is expected will be substantially in excess of the contributions of participationg employés, as may be required to cover the cost of the plan."

Carson Directors Allow Post to Remain Vacant

The chairmanship of the board of directors of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., left vacant by the death last February of John T. Pirie, probably will remain unfilled, it was learned yesterday. At the company's offices it was said the directors had met earlier in the week and had taken no action toward naming a successor to the veteran State street merchant.

Permit New York Central to Sell Trust Issue at 101

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized the New York Central railroad to issue and sell at 101 per cent of par $10,400,000 of 2 per cent equipment trust certificates in connection with the purchase of new equipment.

Unite 20 Lines to Form Vast Trucking Unit

New York, May 16 [Special].—Formation of The Transport company, a Delaware corporation, to merge trucking companies operating from Maine to Georgia, in Tennessee, and as far west as Pittsburgh, was announced today by B. M. Seymour, president. The company will be capitalized at approximately $25,000,000 and will rank as one of the largest of its kind in the United States.

Joining in the merger are more than 20 trucking organizations whose 1939 business produced revenues of 40 million dollars and net earnings of about 3 million dollars.

The consolidated company is to sell about $12,000,000 of common and convertible preferred stock thru a syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. A substantial amount of stock is to be issued to the present owners of the merging companies.

Apply to I. C. C. for Approval.

Applications for approval of the acquisitions are being filed with the Interstate Commerce commission.

Seymour is president of Terminal System, Inc., and the Yellow Products corporation, both formerly controled by the General Motors corporation and now independent. Seymour succeeded Mark W. Potter, former member of the I. C. C., who was president of The Transport company during the period of negotiations with individual lines now consolidated.

Operating companies included in the new organization are the Horton Motor Lines of Charlotte, N. C.; Consolidated Motor Lines of New England, Barnwell Brothers, Burlington, N. C.; Arrow Carrier corporation, Paterson, N. J.; Brooks Transportation company, Richmond, Va.; York Motor Express, York, Pa.; Motor Haulage company, New York; Super Service company, Nashville, Tenn.; Kirby & Kirby, Trenton, N. J.; Mundy Motor Lines, Roanoke, Va.; Branch Transportation company, New York, and Transportation, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga.

Phoenix Securities Sells.

The Phoenix Securities corporation is selling its 34 per cent control of Consolidated Motor Lines to The Transport company.

Truck renting companies in New York and the central west are to be included in the merger.

Companies to be merged operate about 14,000 trucks and employ 30,000 persons. Several owners among the merged units are to become directors of The Transport company.

Seymour said that "certain important private investing interests will be large stockholders and active in the management" of the company.

ALLIED CURRENCY RATES UP AFTER ERASING LOSSES

Most leading foreign currencies closed higher at New York yesterday after rallies had more than canceled wide declines. The Canadian dollar, however, finished with a loss of ¾ cent at 81 cents in United States money.

The British pound closed 2 cents higher at $3.26 after having fallen to $3.21, or 3 cents below Wednesday's final price. The French franc, at 1.8475 cents, was up 0.0075 cent at the close after having tumbled with the pound.

The Swiss franc reached a new low mark of 21.30 cents and then bounced back to 21.40 cents for a net gain of 0.05 cent.

London and Paris securities markets dropped again in further reaction to war news.

Bank Clearings Below Preceding Week and 1939

New York, May 16 (AP).—Bank clearings at 22 leading cities in the United States totaled $4,946,568,000 in the week ended yesterday, 6.8 per cent below the $5,306,190,000 in the preceding week and 3.7 per cent under the $5,135,539,000 for the parallel 1939 week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. Chicago clearings were $343,500,000, or 14.1 per cent above the $301,000,000 last year.

Pullman-Standard Gets Great Northern Car Order

New York, May 16 (AP).—The Great Northern railway has ordered 1,000 box cars from Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company and is making inquiries for 1,000 more, it was announced today.

WHEAT FUTURES RALLY TO CLOSE 4 CENTS HIGHER

Mill Buying Brings Price Upturn.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the July deliveries of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade:

	Yesterday	Wednesday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .89¼	$ .85¾	$ .74¼
Corn	.63⅜	.59¼	.51⅛
Oats	.35	.33⅜	.31⅛
Rye	.51¼	.47⅜	.51¼
Soy beans	.95	.93⅜	.95⅜

Wheat prices turned upward yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade for the first time in four days after an early decline of 2½ cents had carried the July delivery down to 83¼ cents, or 25¼ cents under the closing price on May 11.

Futures held within a range of about 6 cents a bushel, with the close at gains of 3¼ to 4⅜ cents.

Heavy buying of wheat futures attributed to mills, said to reflect sales of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 barrels of flour in the last few days, was a factor in turning the market upward. Investment buying, purchases by bargain hunters and shorts, also helped, and sentiment was further improved by reports that the United Kingdom had purchased 5,000,000 bushels or more of Canadian cash wheat.

Other Grains Are Strong.

At no time were prices of corn, oats, rye, and soy beans below the final figures on Wednesday. There was aggressive buying of corn futures by commission and cash houses and futures closed 4 to 4⅛ cents higher. Oats gained 1¼ to 2¼ cents. Rye was 3¾ to 4 cents higher, and soy beans advanced 1⅜ to 2¾ cents.

Urgent liquidation by holders of wheat futures was apparently completed on the early dip in prices, commission houses said, but they predicted extremely nervous price changes for some time to come because of the possibility that hostilities may extend to the Mediterranean and southeastern Europe.

The volume of trading in grain futures yesterday was believed to have been far below the sales of 101,310,000 bushels of all futures on Wednesday, which was the largest for any day since July 2, 1937.

Open Contracts Decreased.

That tremendous liquidation has been under way is confirmed by a Commodity Exchange administration report showing that the number of uncompleted contracts in wheat for future delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade showed a decrease of 14,064,000 bushels as the result of heavy selling on Wednesday. In the last six business days the open interest in wheat futures has been reduced about 25,000,000 bushels.

Wednesday's decrease in the open interest in wheat futures was the largest for a single day during the 19 years for which official records are available.

Petroleum Taxes for Year Top Value of Crude Output

American taxes on petroleum products and the petroleum industry as a whole aggregated $1,335,000,000 in 1939, according to a report issued yesterday by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. Hayes said this was more than 100 million dollars in excess of the total value of all crude oil produced in the nation during the year.

Movie Makers Look More to Home Market

American motion picture producers have lost more than a third of their market as a result of the European war. To offset this they are preparing important changes in policy which will stress the domestic market more than ever before, representatives of the industry disclosed in Chicago yesterday.

Murray Silverstone reports plans to spend $30,000,000 on 22 films.

They revealed also that many of the leading producers will concentrate on long films, such as "Gone with the Wind." This trend, it was said, may put an end to the theater practice of offering double feature programs.

The disclosures concerning the industry were made as representatives of 13 leading Hollywood producers who market films thru United Artists corporation began arriving in Chicago for the western sales convention of United Artists. The convention, which also will be a celebration of United's 21st anniversary, opened informally last night with conferences at the Congress hotel, convention headquarters. About 70 executives are attending. The meeting will end Sunday night.

Plan to Spend 30 Millions.

In connection with the sales conference, Murray Silverstone, head of United Artists' world-wide operations, and Lynn Farnol, director of advertising and public relations, announced that the 13 producers will spend $30,000,000 on 22 films in the next year. This will be the costliest production schedule in United Artists' history, the officials said.

Plans for these pictures and problems connected with purchase of books and stories, will be discussed at the meetings.

Silverstone estimated the industry's loss from the war at 35 to 40 per cent of the total market. Germany's invasion of the Low Countries has removed Holland and Belgium from the list of markets, he said. Earlier markets in Norway and Denmark had been lost.

Three Films Completed.

The United Artists group has decided that the best way to offset the loss of the foreign markets will be to produce pictures of special interest to Americans, according to Silverstone and L. J. Schlaifer, vice president of the company and its western sales manager.

They said three extra long films produced with this policy in mind have just been completed and are being shown to the convention group. The films are "The Westerner," produced by Samuel Goldwyn; Sol Lesser's "Our Town," and Hal Roach's "Turnabout."

Schlaifer is chairman of the convention.

UTILITY TO ASK BIDS ON ISSUE OF NEW SECURITIES

Washington, D. C., May 16 [Special].—The Narragansett Electric company of Providence, R. I., a subsidiary of the New England Power association, today surprised officials of the Securities and Exchange commission by providing for competitive selection of underwriters in a registration statement filed to cover 180,000 shares of $50 par value cumulative preferred stock.

SEC officials could not recall any previonus case in which a utility company had offered securities on a competitive underwriting basis except where it was required by state law, as in Massachusetts. The Narragansett Electric issue was not restricted by such laws.

BILLION DOLLAR UTILITY MEETS 'DEATH CLAUSE'

Liquidation Planned by North American.

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The North American company 1¼ billion dollar utility system, today told the Securities and Exchange commission that it would "comply fairly and in good spirit" with integration provisions of the holding company act and outlined a program for disposal of a large share of its assets.

Edward L. Shea, president of company.

North American said that its program called for divestment of control over electric and gas utility companies with assets of approximately 450 million dollars and over the other companies with assets of about 200 million dollars.

The company said that completion of the program for geographical grouping of properties would leave it with a system "already substantially integrated," built around the Union Electric company of Missouri, and one additional integrated system based on the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company.

Retains Two Investments.

The company does not contemplate any change in its investments in the Detroit Edison company and Pacific Gas and Electric company, which investments, it said, "do not constitute control."

Edward L. Shea, president of the company, whose subsidiaries also operate in Washington, D. C., Detroit, and other cities, signed the answer to the integration order issued by the SEC under the "death sentence" provisions of the holding company law.

In an accompanying letter, Shea told stockholders that their interests "in the long run must and do coincide with public policy and the general welfare." He said that while the company would comply with the law it was also reserving all rights to protect the interests of security holders.

Plans Several Changes.

The program outlined in the company's answer included:

Disposal of North American's investment in North American Utilities Securities corporation.

Disposal of its interest in West Kentucky Coal company "if and as soon as a satisfactory sale can be made."

Disposal of its investment in the St. Louis County Gas company, preferably thru an exchange for the electrical property in St. Louis now owned by the Laclede Gas Light company and Laclede Power & Light company.

Reduction or modification of the form of investment in Washington Railway and Electric company so as to dispose of its controling interest.

Similar treatment of investments in Wisconsin Electric Power company, Wisconsin Gas & Electric company, and Wisconsin Michigan Power company to eliminate "effective" control.

Disposal of its investment in North American Light & Power company "when conditions permit without sacrifice of intrinsic values."

MARKET BREAKS MAY UPSET WARD STOCK FINANCING

Montgomery Ward & Co., large Chicago mail order and retail store enterprise, may have to alter its plans to raise about $31,000,000 of additional working capital thru the sale of common stock to stockholders at $40 a share, it was indicated yesterday.

When the plan was first announced April 11, the stock was selling on the New York Stock exchange at $53.125, and the subscription rights were estimated to be worth about $1.70 a share. In the market break Wednesday, however, Montgomery Ward stock dropped to a low of 38½. It rallied to close at 39⅞ yesterday, not enough, however, to lift the price above that of the offering.

Sewell L. Avery, president of the company, indicated yesterday that no action had been taken on the plans. The offering had been registered with the Securities and Exchange commission. The rights to purchase were to be offered to shareholders of record May 20 and were to expire July 10.

Swedish Match Shutdown Not to Affect This Country

New York, May 16 (AP).—The American match industry will not be affected by the decision of the Swedish match industry to shut down, it was said today. Stockholm advices reported that manufacture would be suspended on May 27 owing to closing of export channels. An executive of a large United States concern said that Swedish exports have been declining for a decade and that domestic production has been ample for domestic requirements.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, May 16 (AP).—Following other markets, bonds rallied broadly today to cancel a small part of the losses occasioned by the recent flood of selling. The recovery move gained force in the late trading as selling tapered sharply and traders decided the market was due for a rebound.

Some foreign dollar loans went down to new lows, but others held moderate gains at the close. Corporate issues generally were ahead fractions to 2 or more points. United States government obligations closed 16-32ds point higher to 12-32ds down.

Belgium bonds fell another 3 to 9 points, and those of Italy, Canada, and Australia were 1 to 3 lower. Improved were loans of Copenhagen, Denmark, Japan, Finland, and Buenos Aires. Transactions totaled $7,491,175 face value, against $12,359,150 Wednesday.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares declined 5 points and First National and Harris Trust were off 3 points each yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Continental Illinois eased half a point. American National, Chicago Title and City National were unchanged.

Commodities

Most commodity markets made slow recovery yesterday from the low levels to which they had descended so abruptly during the last few days. Rubber futures, however, broke sharply under larger offerings, final prices being nearly a cent lower.

Metals, silk, cotton, wool tops, and cottonseed oil advanced. Santos coffee, domestic sugar contracts, and cocoa were mixed at the close with the changes narrow.

The heavier offerings of rubber came from speculators following the recent run-up of prices to the highest levels of the year, the outlook for lighter consumption as more nations became involved in the war, a further increase in the United States supply, reported yesterday to be sufficient for five months, and from dealers seeking dollars to convert Dutch guilder contracts for rubber awaiting shipment into dollar contracts.

Trading in wool top futures was active and prices were 15 to 20 points higher at the close. Cottonseed oil futures gained 22 to 24 points.

Copper futures rose 12 to 20 points, zinc futures 2 to 5 points, and straits tin futures 50 to 95 points. Late trading in copper was at firmer prices with no metal reported available below 11.40 to 11½ cents a pound. Buying of copper for export continued light.

Cocoa was unchanged to 4 points lower, Santos coffee 3 points higher to 1 lower, Rio coffee futures 12 to 18 lower, domestic sugar futures a point higher to a point lower, and world sugar futures unchanged to 2 lower.

Raw silk futures closed 5 to 9 cents a pound higher while raw hides sank 0.05 to 0.15 cent a pound lower.

RESTORE PRIVATE INITIATIVE OR BE ENSLAVED--CABOT

Harvard Professor Warns of Freedom's Loss.

America must restore the conditions under which private initiative can function or sink into some form of totalitarian slavery, Prof. Philip Cabot of the Harvard school of business administration yesterday told the American Retail Federation forum at the Stevens hotel.

A free society and private initiative are in fact merely different aspects of the same thing, he said, but without the driving force of private initiative a free society cannot prosper.

"Our country in the last eight years has been going thru a social evolution at a very rapid pace—a pace so rapid it has prolonged the economic depression," Cabot declared.

Fixed Rules Necessary.

"That is why we have had 10 years of depression instead of 5," he continued, "for in a free society like ours, where recovery depends on the individual initiative of business men, such initiative is impossible unless what we may call the rules of the game as fixed and known.

"Business men will take great risks, but they must be able to plan at least for a short period ahead. Some degree of foresight is essential. But there can be no foresight regarding the unknown. During a period of social change so rapid that the rules of the game are changed several times a year, foresight is impossible and private initiative is hamstrung."

Calls Government a Servant.

"A free society," Cabot said, "is the master in which two servants, government and business, do the work. Sometimes business and government forget they are the servants and think they are the masters. In this country both have committed this sin, and in Europe the sin is now glorified as a virtue.

"But let no one deceive you. When either business or government usurps the sovereign powers of the people, it has violated the most sacred principle of a free society. Take the problem of unemployment. The solution of it has been taken over by government, altho, if history teaches anything, it teaches that no government acting independently has ever succeeded in this task.

"The only remedy is productive work, which government in a free society cannot provide."

Col. F. C. Harrington, commissioner of works projects, defended the WPA from charges that it has been inefficient and wasteful. He said the WPA is employing persons at an average monthly cost in federal funds of $62, which is divided roughly $54 as wages, $6 for materials, and $2 for administration.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL REPORTS PROFIT FOR 1ST QUARTER

The Illinois Central railroad yesterday reported first quarter net income of $203,275, compared with a net loss in the first quarter of 1939 of $532,904. The road had a net income of $109,781 in March against a net loss of $92,493 in the same month a year ago. Earnings do not include operations of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, a subsidiary.

KEEPING NEUTRAL IS COSTLY, SWISS ARE DISCOVERING

Trade Curbs and Defense Are Heavy Burdens.

Switzerland, lacking a seaport and feeling the pinch of British trade curbs, designed to keep the Swiss from selling goods or sending dividends to Germany, is paying a heavy price to remain neutral, according to latest financial and banking reviews.

Her exports have slumped, her industrial companies are subjected to severe British blockade rules, her imports of raw materials essential to her vital manufacturing industries have been curtailed or halted. Much of her manpower has been absorbed by the army, and protection of her borders is putting a heavy tax burden on the people.

Trade Hit from Outset.

Switzerland's export trade began tumbling immediately with the outbreak of the European war, the volume for September falling 54 per cent from the August level. No other country, according to a league of nations bulletin, was so drastically affected by the war.

Under the blockade rules, Great Britain forced companies in Switzerland and some other neutral nations to install representatives of a British accounting company in their offices to keep track of all sales of goods. This was designed to prevent movement of goods to Germany.

In addition, Swiss companies were forbidden to pay dividends to German holders of Swiss stocks, and the companies were instructed to buy back German owned shares. These rules cut off one important market for Swiss products.

Reopen Abandoned Mines.

Dispatches from Basel, Switzerland, said that in many cases Swiss companies have been as hard hit by the blockade as German companies.

In an effort to overcome the shortage of raw materials when imports were stopped, Switzerland is reopening coal and metal mines which had been abandoned as unprofitable. The Swiss need imported copper, nickel, and lead for their manufactures.

Switzerland has suffered also because many of her products, such as fine watches, music boxes, and laces, are classed as luxury items, purchases of which have been curtailed in many countries.

Army Takes Men and Money.

The current review of the Swiss Bank corporation, citing the heavy cost of maintaining the army during the world war, said the country again is having to shoulder a financial burden for the same purpose.

"Today the army occupies the frontiers," it said. "Mobilization has seriously thinned the ranks of the civil population. This drain on the productive forces of the nation entails a weakening of the economic machine and a decline in national revenue just at the moment when the cost of living is increasing."

COTTON

American cotton markets showed a much steadier undertone yesterday and prices held within a relatively narrow range. A break of 25 English points, the permissible limit in the Liverpool market, making the second straight decline of that amount, had some effect on sentiment early. Foreigners sold freely, and there was also pressure from hedgers, but liquidation was much less in evidence. Mill buying and short covering combined with new investment buying brought about a good rally from an early decline. Closing trades were .08 cent higher to .02 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed .04 to .11 cent higher with New York, 9.86 cents; New Orleans, 9.66 cents; Houston, 9.40 cents and Galveston at 9.39 cents a pound. Prices follow:

HITLER FORMING LAND BLOCKADES AGAINST BRITAIN

Successes Cut Lines of Many Supplies.

New York, May 16 (AP).—Germany's blitzkriegs into neutral nations have endangered a considerable part of the billion dollar a year food supply England imports from these countries—a trade which may now be disrupted or entirely destroyed.

Thus, in effect, Hitler is setting up a "land blockade" to offset the blockade by sea which has been shutting off materials for Germany.

The pinch that would result from a stoppage of English trade with war torn places like Scandinavia, Holland, and Belgium ranges from 3 per cent of her grain imports to 20 per cent of her dairy products and 60 to 90 per cent of her paper supplies, a study of England's normal import activities showed today.

Empire Provides Staples.

Roughy two-thirds of her normal food importations are virtually assured, however, if the hostilities do not go beyond their present bounds and commerce remains reasonably normal. Food constitutes half of Britain's imports, in value.

Britain's empire trade, painstakingly built up over centuries, gives almost ironclad protection to her supply of grain, cotton, wool, hides, and rubber—as long as they can be transported.

Half her dairy products are imported, and nearly half of these importations have come from Denmark, Holland, Poland, Finland, Latvia, and Lithuania.

Vegetable Supply Assured.

Britain's fruit and vegetable supply, altho almost entirely imported, is still reasonably assured, since it comes mainly from South Africa, Palestine, Spain, the West Indies, and the United States, along with a lot of her fish, sugar, and molasses.

The fate of the Dutch East and West Indies is crucial to England's normal oil supply. The Caribbean area accounts for 30 per cent.

Her nonferrous metal importations currently are jeopardized to the extent of approximately 12 per cent, and her machinery to the extent of 30 per cent.

Another field which has been restricted is chemicals, a third of Britain's imports having come, before the war, principally from Germany, Belgium, and Holland.

Government Draws Civil Decree in Potash Case

Washington, D. C., May 16 (AP).—The department of justice said today that it had submitted to the federal court in the southern New York district a proposed civil decree against the country's major potash producers and would drop criminal indictments returned a year ago. The companies will advise the department of price changes during the current war, the department said, and will furnish potash users some protection against such price jumps as occurred during the last war when potash went up to $300 and $400 a ton.

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE CORPORATION.

Personal Loans On Your Own Signature.
Here salaried men and women [single or married] can get $25 to $250 or more entirely on earning capacity and personal responsibility. We prefer to make these loans the way most people like—without security—without endorsers.
NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.
Simply do this:
1. Make application. [Can be in person or by phone.]
2. Come in, sign and get the cash.
Pick Your Own Payments.
Take a year, or more, to repay. You know best how much you can afford each month—you name the payment which best fits your income.
PRIVACY.
We keep the entire transaction strictly between us. Your employer, friends or relatives are not notified.
SIMPLE TO GET.
Our loans are made on the simple basis of your ability to make small, regular payments, and if you can, you should not hesitate to see us for a loan at once. Come in or telephone.

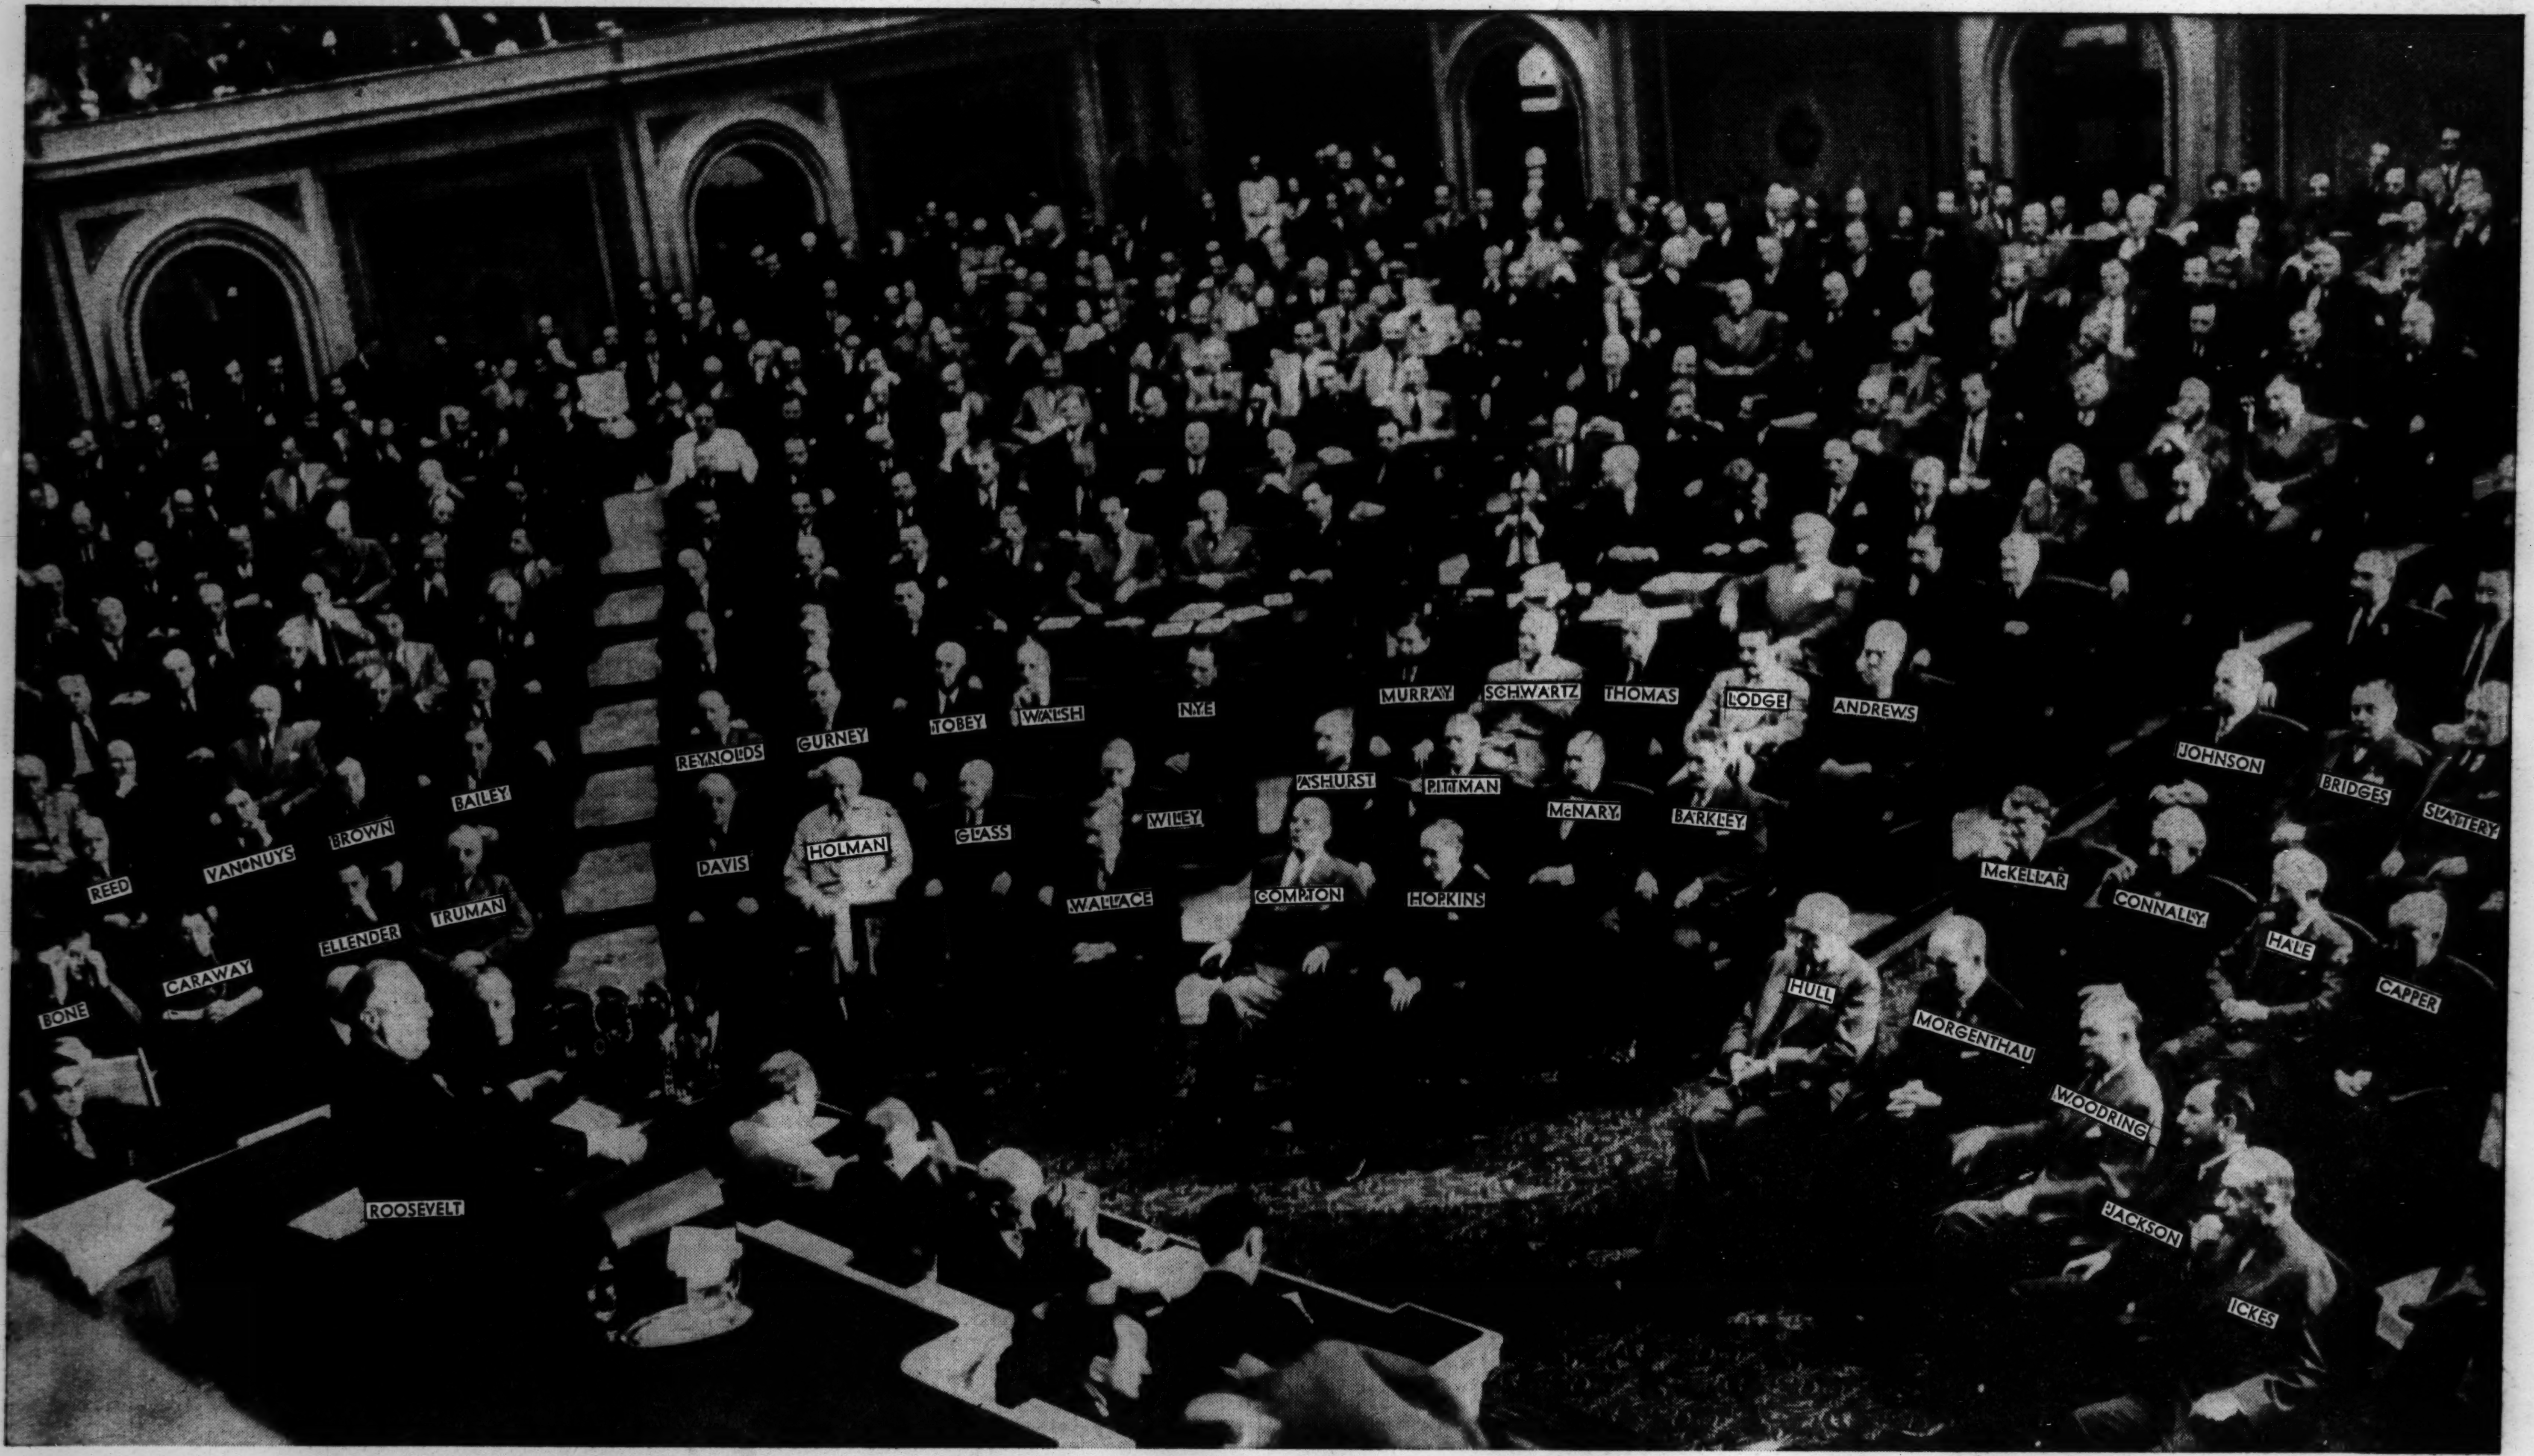
President Asks Congress for Defense Fund of More Than Billion Dollars—Germans Drive Deeper Into France



JOINT SESSION OF CONGRESS AS IT HEARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ASK FOR DEFENSE FUND OF MORE THAN BILLION DOLLARS

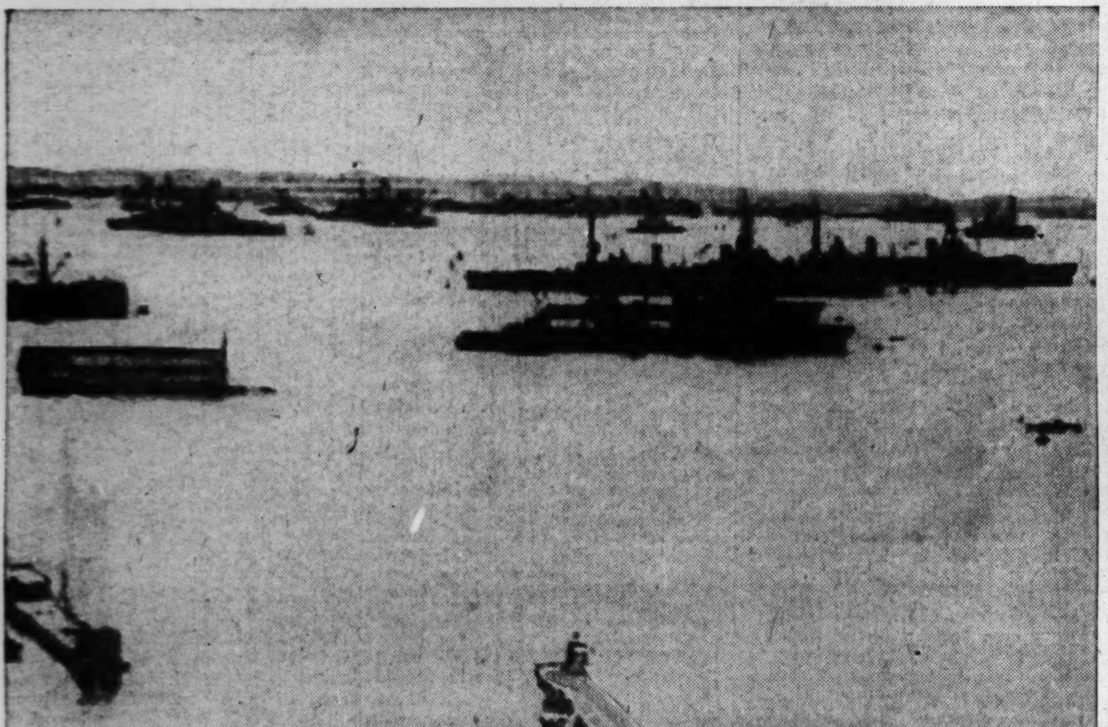
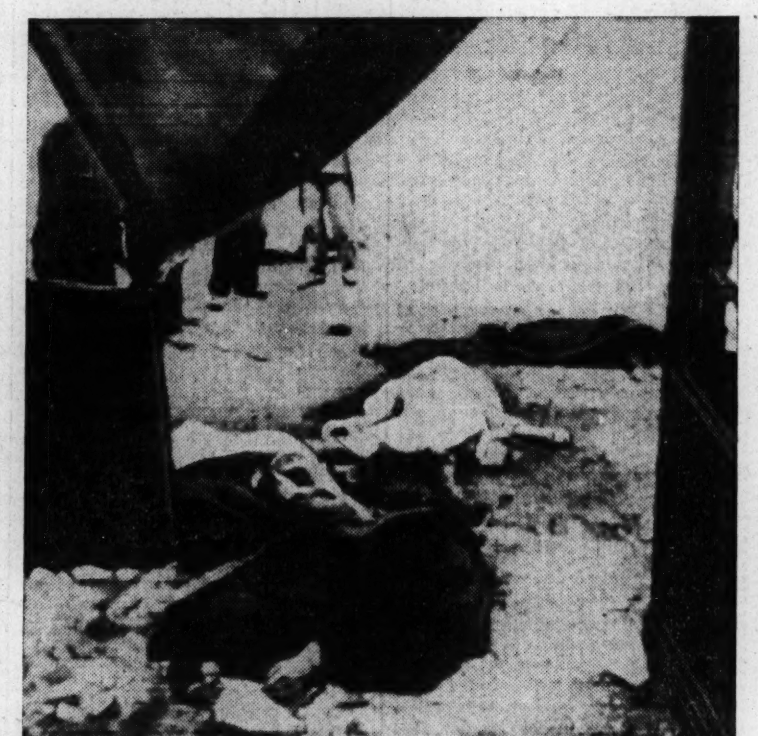
[Associated Press Wirephoto; Sent yesterday from Paris by radio.]

This picture is said by its French caption to show a Belgian mother and her baby in a carriage and her young daughter beside her seeking protection against a countryside wall while German planes drop bombs. The incident is said to have occurred during Belgian civilian exodus.



[Associated Press Wirephoto: Sent yesterday from London by cable.]

Portion of allied fleet massed at Alexandria, Egypt, before it put to sea Wednesday. The fleet was based in Alexandria because of uncertainties in Italian situation.



[Associated Press Wirephoto: From Paramount News: Sent yesterday from London by cable.]
